REPORT

OAK RIDGES DETACHMENT

A Concord resident suffered two broken legs and a crushed chest when the vehicle he was driving was involved in a collision on May 15 on Highway 7, near Jane Street.

William Joseph McConnell, 42, was taken to Toronto General Hospital, where he was reported to be in serious condition.

According to the OPP, Norman Fallingham, of Varney, Ontario, had just completed a left turn in his tractor trailer from a side street when he was struck from behind by a car driven by Mr. McConnell. Damage to the two vehicles amounted to $850.

In another accident May 17, 10-year-old Lynn Wilson, Thornhill, suffered injuries to her legs when she was struck by a car on Highway 11 near the Farmers' Market in Thornhill. Driver of the car was James Victor Demitroff, of RR 2, Utopia.

Three people, including a Richmond Hill resident, were injured in an accident May 20 on Highway 11 at the Bond Lake curve.

Police said the accident occurred when a southbound car driven by Scott Ferguson, 24 Elizabeth Street, struck a northbound car in the north lane, driven by Albert Uez, 41, of Toronto, causing an estimated $4,500 damage.

Mr. Ferguson suffered a broken collarbone, while Mr. Uez suffered facial injuries, as did a passenger, Joseph Jurkovic, 26, of Toronto. All three were treated at York Central Hospital.

STOUFFVILLE: Lily Coy is making a satisfactory recovery in Sick Children's Hospital, from a fractured skull suffered in a fall of six feet onto a cement floor. She was rushed to the hospital by local Constable David Hadden in 20 minutes.

St. Matthew's Boys At Expo

The boys were chosen from a group of 40 on the basis of their contribution to the group and general abilities. While in Montreal they were guests of St. Mark's Tuxis-Rangers.

Stiff Opposition South Thornhill Bylaw

"I hope I'm right," Mr. Roberts replied.

Mr. Warnica, who covered much of the same ground as Mrs. Smith, said that Metro's average was given as 4 children per suite, but as their buildings included many bachelor apartments, the average couldn't be compared with Thornhill's.

He said the 1,300 to 1,600 children who would come from the new apartments would be almost as many as the 1,900 in all of the TSA No. 1.

Mr. Warnica, who said he wasn't representing any group, but was just a "lowly citizen," asked that the board reject the application in the same way it did East York-Leaside one last year on the basis that it was "ill-conceived."

Mr. Loughran, a separate school trustee for eight years, including two as chairman, said he was opposed to further residential building in the area of any kind.

He said the board reduced its mill rate last year, because of a sizeable surplus, the only board in Markham and Vaughan Townships that was able to do so. However, rising educational costs would bring about an increase.

The Thornhill district was "naturally a magnet" for Roman Catholics to settle there, because of the two Catholic high schools in the Steeles Avenue area, and it was "indefensible" that because of their existence, the South Thornhill area should be burdened with this extra residential development.

The board was against the building of apartments, but felt their proximity to the schools would enclose one on both sides, while the other one at Dudley Avenue, was unable to have any further additions because of the size of the property. Mr. Loughran said there must also be a halt to further residential development until proper recreational facilities, which the township was lagging in, could be provided.

Dr. Fotheringham criticized the extra trafficking the apartments would bring, and also the road widening that would result. Sewers, replacing septic tanks would add more than $300 to tax bills, and fire and police protection also would have to be increased.

Replying to some of the charges, Markham Planning Director Ian Keith said checks had been made with the Township of Scarborough and North York and the City of Toronto, and the average of 0.2 children per suite arrived at, was consistent with most areas.

So far as recreational facilities were concerned, the township had already acquired 25 acres of parkland from suite fees and planned to acquire another 30.

Fire coverage was provided through a joint agreement with Vaughan Township. The township had control over apartment building and especially guarded against three and four-bedroom apartments. He said also seven stories had been set as the height of the buildings.

Mr. Keith said it would take about five years to develop the area. He also told Mr. Gain, who had complained about a flooding problem in his area, that the engineer had prepared a plan for storm drainage there which would overcome any future flooding.

Earlier in the meeting, Mr. Keith said a population of 14,000 was proposed for the South Thornhill area, with a density of 17 people per acre.

John MacKay, the first to describe himself as a "lowly citizen," said he opposed the rezoning of his area from R-2 to R-3, which would allow a bigger density in the single family residential zone, because there was plenty of R-3 zoning available for those who wanted it.

It was wrong to "destroy the whole aspect of the area by crowding it up," he said.

Mr. Garipey, speaking for his client, Mrs. Pillar, said she did not object to zoning in other parts of the township, but only wished to have her own property rezoned from R-2 to R-3, so it could be divided into three lots.

Mr. Mingay, in asking that the bylaw be approved, said he didn't think anyone could "neglect the fact" that there were people, who for various reasons must locate in apartments and they had a right to be accommodated.

There was a "natural reasonableness inherent" in the development of land, Mr. Mingay said.

Mr. Soloway said the official plan of the township had been approved by the Minister of Municipal Affairs four months ago, and the bylaw merely implemented the plan, and so should also be approved.

The main objections to the apartments had been predicted tax increase; there hadn't been the "usual arguments" about overhanging.

Also, the municipality wanted the apartments for the assessment they brought.

Mr. Hicks said the township had been very careful in its planning and preparation, and the testimony opposing the apartments, he felt, had been "based on considerations they couldn't substantiate."

Mr. Taub said he felt the board should approve the bylaw.

Mr. Blake said the board would endeavor to give a decision at as "early a date as possible."

New Salesman

President Ted Wynnyk, of W & P Motors Ltd., of Richmond Hill, is pleased to announce the appointment of N. W. Brunskill to his sales staff. Mr. Brunskill brings to his new duties over 20 years' experience in the automotive field.

For the past seven years he has been active in Volkswagen sales, both in Metro and in Maple.
