

Gadsby Fires Fellow Councillors To Vocal Heights

Deputy-reeve S. J. Gadsby continues to inspire his fellow Markham Township Council members to great vocal heights.

Last week, it was Reeve Stewart Rumble, who blew his customary cool as he took on the deputy in a shouting bout over the manner in which the township awarded contracts for some of its outside work. Tuesday afternoon, it was Councillor Anthony Roman, who traded vocal volleys with Mr. Gadsby over a change in mind by the latter about carrying out a recommendation of the general committee.

Mr. Gadsby was a member of the committee which, among other things, brought in a recommendation calling for the deputy clerk, Al Shenfield, to be appointed personnel officer for the township.

However, after the report had been presented to council, Mr. Gadsby asked that the recommendation be deferred.

"Why do you want it deferred?" asked Mr. Roman. "You brought in the recommendation."

Mr. Gadsby said he didn't feel the township was ready for this sort of thing yet; it had been carrying on in too much of a "slip-shod" fashion.

Reeve Rumble took objection to the last statement, arguing with the deputy that the township had been "well and favorably known" for many years.

"I just feel there are things they can be helped with," said Mr. Gadsby.

Said Mr. Roman: "You should have enough guts to stand behind your resolution."

"It's not guts, but brains we need here," returned the deputy.

"You haven't been showing any," replied Mr. Roman.

Mr. Gadsby's motion to refer the matter back to committee was carried.

Mr. Roman then questioned the deputy on another recommendation of the committee's that all township-owned vehicles, with the exception of the engineer's car and the waterworks vehicle, when used for emergency purposes, be returned to the township garage at the end of each day.

"What's the reason for this?" asked Mr. Roman.

"I don't see any need for cars to be taken home by employees . . . I don't see why they should use our vehicles," said Mr. Gadsby.

"What cars are being taken home?" Reeve Rumble asked Engineer Dusan Miklas.

Mr. Miklas said the waterworks, the engineer, his assistant, the chief inspector, the chief mechanic and the road superintendent were using the cars.

Said Councillor Charles Hoover: "If too many cars are used, I can imagine the criticism."

"I can't say I've heard of any," said the reeve.

Although council agreed to the recommendation at the time, it was later deferred when the report came up for adoption and Reeve Rumble and Councillor Roman argued that the road superintendent and his assistant should be included in the motion.

Council also referred back to committee another recommendation of the report, that the township treasurer be appointed purchasing officer.

"What's the reason for this?" asked Mr. Rumble.

"Well, it's a system," said Mr. Gadsby.

"There must be some advantage to it," said the reeve.

Mr. Gadsby said there hadn't been any one person responsible for it before.

When asked by Reeve Rumble how paper, for example was purchased, Clerk

DEPUTY-REEVE GADSBY . . . Brains Needed

H. C. T. Crisp said that he bought it, but the works department purchased its supplies separately. He said they required things "in a hurry" and to go through formal channels would bring them to a halt.

This would simplify the keeping of sick leave records, the report said.

It also recommended that department heads not be required to use the register, but that they provide weekly attendance slips.

Other recommendations of the report, which were approved:

That council pay the $365.10 bill for damage to the township OWRC truck, which was in an accident last winter.

Estimates obtained on the truck were: Town Auto Body, Richmond Hill, $485-65; Sherwood Auto Body, Markham Village, $458.86; Unionville Motors, Unionville, $53.10.

The final bill from Unionville Motors, where the truck was taken to be repaired, was for an additional $10.

A special Centennial grant of $1,500 he paid to the township library board for its opening day celebrations. The township engineer be instructed to construct a driveway into the Centennial Library at an estimated cost of $5,000, to be paid out of the administrative lot fee fund.

Happy Holiday

Lewis Francis, 19, accompanied the Mike Madsen family on their recent trip to Europe, the first such sojourn for him.

Lewis visited France, Holland — where he took a motor launch through the canals — and Denmark, where he arrived in Copenhagen just in time to celebrate their 800th anniversary.

He then went to Odense to meet the Madsen relatives, and from there went to England by himself to visit his grandfather and other relatives in Sussex and surrounding area.

He was joined first by Ken Madsen and then later in London by Mr. and Mrs. Madsen and Ann-Marie.

The party then returned home together, happy with their holiday and just as happy to be back home again.
