

Stagnant Ditch Continues To Be Basis Of Complaint In Mkm Twp

Markham Township Council of all the trouble before. last week had a return visit from Max Epstein, 59 Laureleaf Road, Thornhill, who wanted council to know that the stench from a ditch he complained about earlier still hadn't disappeared.

Following the original complaint several weeks ago, council had Maple Leaf Drum conditioning Plant, John Street, from which the source of the discharge into the ditch had been traced, take steps to stop the flow of effluent.

This had since been done, Reeve Rumble said. He said, also that Mr. Epstein had complained it had been the cause stalled there, but it would still be discharged farther down the line. The thing to do was to clear it up at the source.

Mr. Miklas said Costain had told him that it saw no reason why it should do anything about it, as it had never received any complaints about it before.

Deputy-reeve S. J. Gadsby said council should get after the Ontario Water Resources Commission to make them clean it up. The township hasn't the right to go on private property, but the OWRC can enforce cleanup measures where such conditions exist.

A motion by Mr. Gadsby that council write the OWRC and the county health unit to take immediate action to clean up the source of the pollution, was carried 3-1, with only Councilor Anthony Roman voting against.

Mr. W. Bushy, deputy of Laureleaf Road, wondered why council didn't put in a culvert. He said that one could be obtained for $2,000.

Said Reeve Rumble: "You're asking us to spend public money to clean it up for you. We want to clean up the source for everybody."

Councillor Sumner said that if Mr. Bushy could get a 36-inch culvert — the size necessary for the ditch — for $2,000, he would empower him to do it.

An earlier estimate by council for the culvert was $15,000.

Summer Scene

By CATHY WILSON

Spending time in a hospital is never very pleasant and it's particularly unpleasant to have to spend part, or (unthinkable!) all of your summer holidays in the hospital. However, for the past few summers, young nurse's aides such as Robin Sawchyn and Susan Lalonde have been making life a little more bearable for both the staff and the patients at York Central Hospital.

A relative newcomer, who has lived in the Hill for just two years, seventeen-year-old Robin Sawchyn is a pretty, thoughtful brunette. She was born in Le Pas, Manitoba, graduated from public school in the small community of Hornepayne in Northern Ontario; and in two weeks she will begin courses in grade 13 at Bayview Secondary School.

Robin says that she has often thought of doing some phase of hospital work and she decided that actually working in a hospital for the summer would enable her to choose which phase. It's only when the alarm rings shortly after six o'clock in the morning that she has any doubts.

"I really do love the work", she said later. "Short of giving medications, I can do almost anything to look after the personal needs of the patients... making beds, washing hands and faces, filling water jugs and putting rooms in order.

"Physically, it's very demanding work, but it's enjoyable and very worthwhile too, because I learn so much, especially on the surgical ward where I am."

After working hard all day, Robin prefers the quieter exertions of art and music. She loves to sketch trees and landscapes and is also very adept with oil paints. Playing the piano and reading books also take up the few spare hours she has this summer. But she never regrets having her job as a nurse's aide.

"I hope to become a registered nurse", she said. "And this job is a chance I have felt very fortunate to have, because it has helped me to decide whether I really want to do hospital work... and the opportunity to decide one's future is invaluable."

Petite and vivacious, Sue Lalonde was born in Midland in 1949. She graduated from St. Mary's School in Midland and has just completed grade 13 at Bayview Secondary.

Although not planning on the nursing profession, Sue had been a very active member of the Red Cross Club at school for three years, and became interested in hospital work.

"I've really learned a lot about people being a nurse's aide. I've found out what sickness can do to people, and how it affects them from day to day", she reflected.

"I like meeting people and sometimes, although I'm glad to see them healthy again, I hate to see them leave because they've been such good patients."

For two years Sue participated in the practice-teaching program organized by the public and high schools guidance departments, and this experience helped her to decide on a teaching career. She will be entering Toronto Teachers' College in the fall and would like to teach grade 5 or 6. Someday, if she can acquire the training, Sue would like to teach blind or deaf children.

"But", she said, "if anything ever happened that I couldn't go into teaching, I would certainly consider nursing... it's very rewarding work."

REPORT

OAK RIDGES DETACHMENT

Last week saw the Oak Ridges OPP investigate 33 accidents which caused one death and injuries to 16 people. One person was charged with "driving while under suspension", one stolen truck was recovered, stolen property valued at $900 was recovered and a child at Bell's Lake was revived by King Township Police, assisted by the OPP.

August 18, in a two car crash at 7.15 am at the intersection of Highway 7 and Second Street in Unionville, a car driven by Murray Ryan, age 30, of 134 Wesley Street, Newmarket, made a left turn off Highway 7 and was struck by a car driven by Robert Bruce Graham, age 19, of Brooklin RR 1. The latter suffered chest injuries and was taken to Scarborough General Hospital. Damage to both cars was estimated at $1,900. Provincial Constable Peter Higham was the investigating officer.

On the same day, another accident occurred on Highway 7 just west of the Kennedy Road. A car driven by Clarence Powell, age 43, of Unionville RR 1, was making a left turn in front of stopped traffic when a motorcycle driven by David Stinson, age 22, of 2570 Midland Avenue, Agincourt, passed to the right of the stopped traffic and collided with the car. The motorcyclist suffered a broken right wrist and his passenger, Richard Madison, age 20 of 1976 Brimley Road, Agincourt, suffered leg injuries. Both were taken to Scarborough General Hospital. Damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $250 by the investigating officer, Provincial Constable Gary Madore.

Friday at 4 pm an accident involving three cars occurred on Highway 11 in Thornhill. A car driven by Jack Pearce, age 31, of 3464 Yonge Street, Toronto, was struck from the rear and driven forward into a car driven by Claude Gaetzelhuck, age 39, of 10 Tupper Street, Alliston. The third vehicle was driven by Joseph Horne, age 73 of 427 Palmer Avenue. His passenger, Bessie Wilson, age 88, of Maple, was injured when thrown out of the car. She was taken to York Central Hospital by Vance's Ambulance of Markham. Damage to the three vehicles was estimated at $600 by investigating officer, Constable Leonard Goodkey.

The OPP warns drivers that most accidents are caused by bad driving habits or inexperience of the driver in heavy traffic.
