Conducts Tour Of Britain For 8th Time

By JO CRUISE

A. H. CREIGHTON of Creighton Travel Agency, John Street, returned recently from conducting a three week tour of Scotland and England. Mr. Creighton conducted a group of Ontario farmers on the tour. This was the 15th tour arranged by Mr. Creighton and the 8th he personally conducted.

A. H. CREIGHTON

The group travelled abroad by sea aboard the liner "Empress of England". They toured the west side of Scotland and journeyed to the sacred island of Iona, the bridgehead of Christian missions all over the world. It was at this early centre of Celtic Christianity that St. Columba first converted Scotland to Christianity in the year 563. Many ancient remains were seen by the group, among them Iona Cathedral that dates from the 12th or 13th century. The cemetery is reputed to be the burial place of Kings from several countries. Iona was the shrine for the Druids and other religions before Christian times.

The group of farmers and their wives travelled to Inverness, Aberdeen, Dundee, St. Andrews, Edinburgh and down through England to Whitby Bay, Birmingham, Stoneleigh Abbey, Leamington, Bath and London.

At Stoneleigh Abbey the farmers attended the Royal Show, noted for being the greatest farm show in the world where livestock, machinery, flowers and farming methods are on display. Here the Ontario farmers exchanged notes with British farmers. Britain is known as the cradle of the livestock industry where breeds were first established. It is the centre for the finest beef breeds and farmers upgrade their herds by buying stock.

The flowers at the show were housed in a huge tent 500 feet by 90 feet and the colors and variety shown were a staggering sight to see.

Everyone enjoyed the visit to London where they toured historical sites, saw Hyde Park, Petticoat Lane, Madame Tussauds, the British Museum and shopped in the lovely London shops.

The weather was delightful for the trip and cameras were kept busy recording the interesting sights. One couple, who had been on previous tours, has given 137 colored slide lectures to date at schools, service clubs, colleges and farming group organizations.

The tour is so well organized and enjoyed that two couples have been on three of the tours. Each year a different tour is planned. In 1966 the group visited Ireland and attended the Royal Dairy Show in London.

Among the group traveling with Mr. Creighton this year were Mr. and Mrs. E. Roy Keffer, Idleswift Drive.

Mrs. May Barbour Famous TV Performer Calls Doncaster Lady

"Hello, this is Art Linkletter." These were the words that greeted Mrs. May Barbour of Henderson Avenue, Doncaster, last Friday night when she answered her telephone. Her first reaction was, "You're putting me on," since the CNE headliner's voice on the telephone did not sound the same as it does on TV and radio. However, the caller soon satisfied Mrs. Barbour and her husband, John, who listened on the extension, that he was indeed Art Linkletter.

For at least 20 years, Mrs. Barbour has been a fan of the entertainer, and has seldom missed one of his broadcasts, either on radio or TV. Friday night at 7 she had turned on her TV set to watch "People Are Funny" and was understandably annoyed when she found the program had been pre-empted. It was only a few minutes later when her phone rang and the caller proved to be the star of that TV show. What finally convinced Mrs. Barbour of her caller's identity was when he asked, "Did you use to live in San Diego?" Mrs. Barbour had lived in that California city for seven years and both her sons were born there and Art Linkletter lived there from the time he was six until he began his radio career.

The phone call was prompted by son, David Barbour, who last week made his annual visit to the Ex to photograph members of the Canadettes with the stars of the grandstand performance. He told Mr. Linkletter that his mother was a devoted fan and had lived in San Diego when the performer was living there.

Mrs. Barbour still can't believe she actually talked to the performer she believes is the most sincere in present day entertainment, but nevertheless is living somewhere in the vicinity of "Cloud 9".

See Voyagers
During their recent vacation, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Carle and Allan and Joanne were camping at Schell's Camp on the French River when the Centennial Voyagers arrived. This was a rest camp for the canoeists who left Rocky Mountain House in Alberta in May and in 100 days are retracing the routes of the fur traders to Montreal, as a Centennial project.

There are 10 canoes participating, representing eight provinces and two territories. Each canoe is manned by six paddlers, with four spares accompanying them in trailers. Some families and auxiliary services are also along in trailers, so that the population of the camp increased by about 200 people. Most ethnic groups are represented by the paddler, including the Eskimos and Indians.

Each canoe is named for one of the explorers of Canada and flies the flag of the province it represents. Ontario's canoe is named for William McGillivray. At ceremonials it flies a red flag bearing the initials NW in gold, which had accompanied him on one of his trips, a gift to the crew from a descendant of the explorer.

Also in camp at the same time were 24 Jesuit priests, in four canoes, who are retracing the route of the founders of Fort St. Marie from Coldwater to Quebec City. The Jesuits' canoes were named for the martyrs, Brebeuf, Lallemant, Lalonde and Joques.

On the day after arrival (the rest day) the voyagers put on a display showing the manoeuvrability of their craft and a mile and a half sprint race, won by the Manitoba canoe, who picked up the $200 prize donated by the Sudbury Chamber of Commerce and given for picture taking.

The voyagers are scheduled to arrive at Expo on Labor Day to claim $1,000 for every man who finishes. There will also be prizes for the canoe finishing in first, second and third place.

The Carles sat on a high bluff with an elderly Indian couple to watch the display and found themselves extremely lucky since the man, an accomplished guide, was able to point out to them many features of handling a canoe which were not obvious to the casual onlooker.

Neighborhood Notes

LANGSTAFF NEWS

CORRESPONDENT: MRS. GEOFFREY COOK
84 Garden Avenue, Phone 889-4553

Bus Routes
Public school pupils in the Garden Avenue and Boyle Subdivision areas will be going to school by bus this year. Children on Garden Avenue will be picked up by the 12C route bus which will drive west on that road to Fairview, north to Roosevelt Drive, east to Yonge Street, then south to Langstaff and Thornhill Schools.

Children living east of Fairview Avenue will be picked up at the Emerald Isle Motel at 8:30. Children living west of Fairview Avenue will be picked up at the park on Fairview (sometimes called Pearson Park) a few minutes later. The Boyle subdivision children will gather at the triangle of land at the intersection of Boyle Drive and Fairview Avenue and will be picked up at 8:45 on the 12D route bus.

Vaughan Township Public School Board is asking parents to have their children at the pickup points a little early for the first couple of weeks until the schedule has settled down into a regular routine. The children will be returned home about 4:15 for the 12C route and 4:30 for the 12D route.

This bus will pick up the Thornhill grades 7 and 8 children at the school at 8 am for transportation to Roselawn School and the Langstaff grades 7 and 8 at their school at 8:15 for a ride to the same school. These children will be returned first in the afternoon.

Kindergarten children from Garden Avenue and Boyle subdivision will be picked up at the school by Mrs. J. Howarth and will then be transported to the kindergarten class at Thornhill Public School. The 12D bus will leave the grades one to six children from the Boyle subdivision at the Langstaff Public School and pick up the kindergartners from the Langstaff School area to be taken to Thornhill. These children will be picked up at noon and returned to their own bus stops.

The school board has considered the possibility of picking up children in the high school parking lot, but felt that another bus would create a further traffic hazard in that area. At present there is not sufficient space to turn a bus at the end of the street, so the park was chosen as the safest place.

Langdon Bus Lines have carried the children of Vaughan School Area for several years and have never had a serious accident. Their drivers are well trained and must pass a physical examination and an eye test at the time of receiving their licence and every year at the request of the board.

Swim Meet
At the swim meet at the Thornhill Pool August 19, Chris Churney of Highway 7 East won the Lions' Trophy. The 14-year-old, grade 10 student at Thornhill also won three firsts and one third in various events.

Peter Zepp has returned from his vacation in Germany and reports having a wonderful holiday. The Zepp family spent a few days at Expo and visiting the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Coyne, Limcombe Drive, and their children, Michael, Debbie, Terry, Moira, Eric and Lisa with Mr. Coyne's niece, Darlene Coyne of Edmonton, drove down to Quebec recently where they camped at Oka and spent several days visiting Expo. The Coynes were fortunate to view four pavilions during their visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Holmes, entertained at their home, John Street following the wedding rehearsal August 25 of the Forster-Holmes wedding.

Mrs. H. R. Cruise (Thornhill correspondent) and her younger daughter Cindy of 27 John Street returned last week from a two week vacation in Ottawa and Montreal. While in Ottawa they stayed with Mrs. Cruise's sister, Mrs. E. M. Drake and her husband and visited her niece Mrs. J. D. Connell and her husband and infant son David.

In Ottawa they attended a performance of the famed RCMP Musical Ride and band concert that was most impressive. At the performance Mrs. Cruise and Cindy were pleasantly surprised to have Ann and Roy Stewart and family, former Arnold Avenue residents, sitting right in front of them. Several thousand people were at the performance which made it even more surprising.

Ann later spent a day with Cindy swimming in the Drakes' pool and Cindy had a return visit with the Stewart family at their new home at Dow's Lake. The two girls attended the Ottawa CNE together and had a wonderful visit.

Mrs. Cruise and Cindy drove down to Montreal one day where they spent six hours at Expo and visited with Mrs. Cruise's father, Arthur Hodgkinson, in Montreal.

Expo was thoroughly enjoyed even though time did not permit waiting in lines to view the magnificent more popular pavilions. The Thornhill visitors covered the site by minirail, autobuses and Expo trains and were thrilled to see what the world is raving about.

They had lunch in the German outdoor restaurant that overlooks a pretty lagoon, managed to get in to see the excellent Man and the Polar Region film and Cindy enjoyed La Route where she had two rides on the log, rode a camel in the Safari section and purchased a few souvenirs. The architecture of the pavilions, landscaping of the spacious grounds and cleanliness of the entire area were what impressed Mrs. Cruise the most.

"The Craddock Kids"
The five singing Craddock children, known internationally as "The Craddock Kids" for their recording of CA-NA-DA, appeared at the grandstand show nightly for the first week of the Ottawa CNE with Pat Boone and comedians Allen and Rossi.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Craddock and their six children formerly lived at 7729 Yonge Street, Thornhill. Four of the children made an appearance at a local blood donor clinic held in April 1966. Since that time the Craddocks have moved to Toronto and the singing act has added a younger member of the family to the group. The group includes Kenny, Tommy, Bonny, Timmy and Philip. They made a guest appearance on the Perry Como show in the spring and have since been kept very busy.

Mr. Craddock called your correspondent in Ottawa and invited her to attend the show at the exhibition and to visit with the children afterwards, however time did not permit as the call came just as she was leaving for Thornhill.

The children have a record of their CA-AN-DA arrangement and it is selling very well across the country. They have also been kept busy filling guest appearances all summer.

George Mowat, Arnold Avenue, recently spent a few days in Montreal where he enjoyed a visit to Expo. Mr. Mowat was impressed with the new look of the city where many changes have taken place.

Friends were sorry to hear of the recent car accident of Jamie Brotherhood, former Brook Street resident, and wish him a speedy recovery.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Minnie Ellen Findlay who died August 15. Mrs. Findlay was the wife of the late Saunders S. Findlay and mother of Nelson, Eva (Mrs. W. Harvey) Mary (Mrs. H. Redman) and grandmother of Alan, Greg, Ellen, Carol, Nancy and Daniel.

Blood banks rely solely on volunteers, your donation could save one of your loved ones.

ONTARIO HOUSING CORPORATION
Township Of Vaughan Township Of Markham

PROPOSED SENIOR CITIZEN RENTAL HOUSING PROJECT

Attention:
If you are fifty-eight years of age or over (Single or Couple)
If your present accommodation is inadequate
THIS IS OF INTEREST TO YOU!

The Ontario Housing Corporation is considering the development of Senior Citizens' apartment units in the municipalities of the Townships of Markham and Vaughan between Steeles Avenue and Richmond Hill and between Don Mills Road and Dufferin Street. In the first instance we must establish whether there is a definite demand for such accommodation and this can only be achieved if interested senior citizens (over the age of 58) complete and return survey questionnaires.

The rents would be geared to income, tenants paying a percentage of their gross income in rent regardless of whether or not the unit is a one bedroom apartment or a bachelor apartment.

Questionnaires are being sent to all owners and tenants in the area covering Steeles Avenue to Richmond Hill from Don Mills Road to Dufferin Street. Interested Senior Citizens are requested to complete and return this card immediately. Anyone who has not received a questionnaire may obtain one from the Markham or Vaughan Township Offices.

REMEMBER:
Only by filling out a questionnaire can you help to determine whether a project should be developed.
