Neighborhood Notes

Another October, and this year a brilliant one, by all portents. Flower beds are bright and vines are scarlet; and now maples and sumac are hinting at a top performance.

This Thanksgiving weekend at Cedar Grove sounds interesting. The Apple Butter Festival will be in full swing.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hood have a guest this week — Mr. Hood's sister, Mrs. Irene Atkinson is here from Nipigon for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred von Kaitz and their family moved to Downsview last week end, and the Kurt Doring family are now at Sunderland on a farm.

On Friday morning, the Buttonville Branch of YCHA will meet at the home of Mrs. A. Glennie. Coffee is at 10 am.

Mrs. Lucy Topman is at home in Stouffville again after staying with Mr. and Mrs. Ken Stots for several weeks.

The call of the woods got to Dick Jones again last week and he took off for a moose hunting expedition north of the Lakehead.

Markham Fair weather was a disappointment last weekend, but Saturday's crowds were above expectation.

The flower show was the poorer for lack of entries by Mrs. George Barker, who has been ill recently. However Mrs. Charles Turner had some interesting exhibits in flowers, and in the home baking class she excelled, and received the prize for the best jam in the show. Her mother, Mrs. Thorneycroft, was also a prizewinner in these classes.

Recently, when the Richvale Branch of YCHA sponsored a luncheon, Mrs. Joe Sevenhuesen and Mrs. Bert Guardhouse assisted. Among the guests were Mrs. A. W. Miller, Mrs. Leslie Zimmerman, Mrs. S. Scarlett, Mrs. Andrew Glennie, Mrs. E. M. Bratton, Mrs. Reg Allen and Mrs. Robin Bush, the Buttonville branch chairman.

October 15 Rev. Christopher Dugan and his father, James Dugan will hold an "At Home" at the new Brown's Corners Church Manse.

On October 18 Buttonville WI members will hold their monthly meeting, and the guest speaker will be Rev. Christopher Dugan. Everyone is welcome.

Community activities are perking up — October 13, the autumn series of euchres sponsored by the Buttonville W.I. will begin at the Buttonville Hall, 8:30 pm and on October 23 that gourmet's delight, the Brown's Corners Church Smorgasbord, will be held at the church.

Every year this event wins new friends who ask to be reminded of the date, so circle October 25.

Wedding anniversary greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Don Pickering, married 31 years, October 10.

Dr. and Mrs. Jim Miller of Vancouver spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Mumberson. They left on Sunday afternoon to fly to Cape-town, South Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Empringham attended the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wright, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Codlin, Bolton, Saturday evening. Earl was best man 25 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brumwell have returned after spending last week at Expo.

Our little hamlet lost one of its devoted neighbors last week in the passing of Louis Nichols, in his 85th year. Mr. Nichols had been a patient at the Villa Nursing Home, Thornhill, for the past two years. Sympathy is extended to his family, Cecil, of Victoria Square, Vera, Toronto, and Reva (Mrs. Douglas Gee), Victoria Square, also 14 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren, his brother Ross of Victoria Square and sister, Mrs. Ella Ratcliffe of Stouffville.

The funeral service was held Sunday afternoon from the Piper Funeral Home, Richmond Hill, with Rev. M. R. Jenkinson in charge. The Henderson sisters from Gormley sang musical selections. Interment followed in Victoria Square United Church Cemetery, with the pallbearers being his grandsons, Frank, Donald and Allan Nichols, Ronald, Bryan and Norman Gee.

Calvin Presbyterian Church, brother-in-law, K. A. Ramsay, Delisle Street, Toronto, was the bride wore a gown of self-embossed white brocade with a train of two panels flowing from mid-back bodice caught together with directory bows and split at the bottom and with tiny crossover sleeves. Her headdress was a silk illusion veil, heavily hand-beaded in silver and pearls to form a crown effect and her bouquet was of swainsonia and stephanotis with pink sweetheart roses.

Peggy Kinsella was her sister's maid of honor and Jane Tobias was bridesmaid. They wore full length silk shantung gowns in green, shot with blue, fashioned with slightly rolled collar ending in a V-shape at the back and with tiny sleeves. A tailored bow at the back of the head with matching veil formed their headdresses, and they carried cascades of carnations, roses and assorted blooms in pink, American beauty and purple tones.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Douglas Herron.

Agreement Reached Kleinburg Estates Sewage Facilities

What Vaughan Township official must hope fervently was a definite "finis" put September 18 to a problem which has plagued them for over four years.

Three readings were given to a bylaw authorizing the township to enter into an agreement for the construction of sewers and sewage treatment facilities to serve the Kleinburg Estates Subdivision.

Complete development of the subdivision was halted some three years ago when the York County Health Unit refused permits for the installation of septic tanks as a large proportion of those already installed were not functioning properly.

Since that time, builders, developers, ratepayers, township officials and health authorities have been embroiled in an often bitter exchange of arguments both oral and written in an attempt to find a solution to the problem.

The final solution was made possible by a concession from the township. Instead of insisting on a performance bond from the contractor, or an equally difficult-to-get letter of credit, the township has agreed to take title to 87 vacant lots in the subdivision as a guarantee that the work will be carried out. For each $10,000 that it pays to the contractors employed to construct the sewage system, Robinhood Builders Limited will be entitled to a reconveyance at its own expense of one of the lots.

The township will, however, retain title to at least 10 lots to the end of the specified maintenance period.

Are you insured with only half an agent?

If you are not insured by an Independent Agent, chances are you are receiving only half the benefits you might expect when placing insurance on your dwelling, car or business.

An independent insurance agent represents several companies. His job doesn't end with selling you insurance. That's the big difference in insurance — the continuing, personal attention of an independent agent. He keeps the insurance on your car and home up-to-date. If you have a loss, the same independent agent is there again to see you get paid promptly and fairly.

To get all the facts about complete insurance protection, look for the man who displays this Big "I" symbol. It tells you he's a member of the Ontario Insurance Agents' Association. It also means that he'll give you service beyond the call of duty.
