King School Issue Explodes With Pierpoint's Resignation proved by a majority of the had been made because it Mrs. Patterson said she had

The resignation of King Township Public School Board Chairman Geoffrey Pierpoint coupled with a threat of legal action against township council highlighted an explosive special board meeting last week.

Sparking the explosion was the controversial $490, 000 addition to King Senior Public School as proposed by the trustees and flatly rejected by township council. The latest and most dramatic round saw Mr. Pierpoint offer his resignation along with that of Trustee Dolina Paterson. Both were refused on separate votes by a majority of the board. Another development saw Vice-Chairman Wilbert Jennings announce his retirement from the board at the conclusion of his 1967 term

because council has been

"opposing our work at every turn and as a result I feel we as a board are serving no purpose in the township at The tension-ridden meeting also saw an obviously angry and disgusted Mr. Pierpoint accuse three township council members -Gordon Rowe, Cyril Flinders and Ernest Crossland - of being "pretentious, presumptuous politicians of the worst sort." His accusations followed receipt of an October 23 resolution passed by the five members of council which stated the township would be prepared to issue $300,000 in debentures for additions to several township schools providing no major expansion took place at the King Senior Public School at the present time. Two members of council - Reeve Gordon Cook and Deputy-reeve Ken Mactaggart - reconsidered the resolution and decided it "was passed without suffificient thought being given."

They then produced another resolution October 27 to replace the first one which they stated exceeded council's authority by telling the board where it should build instead of just saying "yes" or "no" to the $490,-000 proposal.

This resolution was defeated 3-2 on a recorded vote with only Mr. Cook and Mr. Mactaggart favoring it.

Councillor Flinders then moved another resolution which simply rejected the $490,000 request. It was seconded by Mr. Crossland. Another recorded vote saw the resolution carried with Councillors Flinders, Crossland, and Rowe supporting it and Reeve Cook and Deputy-reeve Mactaggart op-

But it was the initial resolution — telling the board where it should build its additions - that roused the ire of the trustees and particularly Mrs. Patterson and Mr. Pierpoint.

Mr. Pierpoint stated that "council has quite clearly stepped beyond its authority in passing this resolution of October 23, Section 63 of the council to say merely "yes" or "no" to a debenture request by the board.

"For council to dictate where and how the money shall be spent and, therefore, what type of educational program shall be provided, is also grossly unethical and is totally unacceptable."

mended Reeve Cook and tee untenable,'

Deputy-reeve Mactaggart for attempting to amend the October 23 resolution pointing out the "conditions set out in it are not under this council's jurisdiction.

"Councillors Crossland, Rowe and Flinders are to be condemned for defeating Reeve's Cook's resolution and thereby failing to rescind the October 23 resolution. By their actions, these three councillors have shown themselves to be pretentious presumptuous politicians of the worst sort."

Mr. Pierpoint then recommended the board to notify council that the Crossland-Rowe resolution of October 23 "is totally unacceptable; and that this board demand it be rescinded at the next council meeting and that we concurrently seek advice from our solicitor regarding possible legal action."

* * * * It was on the October 23 resolution that Mr. Pierpoint based his resignation stating he could not tolerate council's "usurping the role of this public school board . . . and as long as this council's decision of October 23 remains as an official act it is quite clearly impossible for me to carry out the duties of a school trustee." Mr. Pierpoint said his resignation was not Intended Public School Act permits as a club over council's head but was instead a matter of personal ethics and nothing else.

Extending her resignation for similar reasons, was Mrs. Patterson who stated the October 23 resolution of Mr. Crossland and Mr. Rowe has "usurped the role of the board and has, therefore, Chairman Pierpoint com- made my position as a trusendeavored to carry out the duties entailed to her and to create "a climate conducive to a high standard of education in King Township.

"My personal code of ethics and sense of integrity makes it necessary for me to resign as a trustee until such time as an official action of the present council or any future council makes the position of trustee tenable by restoring the role of school board to where it properly belongs; to The Public School Board of the Township Area of King."

It was Mr. Jennings who urged both Mr. Pierpoint and Mrs. Patterson to postpone their resignations until at least the end of the term on December 31, 1967. The school board and council are both up for re-election in December. A new two year administration will table office January 1.

Mr. Jennings noted his decision not to seek re-election but "in spite of this I think we as a board should carry out our responsibilities to the end of our present term "It would be an injustice township started with the formation of this area board some three years ago." Speaking of Mr. Pierpoint, he stated that "the time and effort this man has given to school board business during these years no one else could have afforded to give." The members then decided to refuse the resignations of both trustees basing its action on a School Administration Act which rules that any resignation must be apboard.

Opposing Mrs. Patterson's resignation were Trustees Mary Hayward, Wilbert Jennings, and Jack Van Luyk. Favoring it with "mixed emotions" was Mr. Pierpoint. Mrs. Patterson did not vote.

Opposing Mr. Pierpoint's resignation were the same members. Favoring it was Mrs. Patterson. Mr. Pierpoint did not vote but said that "obviously I have no choice but to remain."

Neither Mr. Pierpoint or

Mrs. Patterson would comment on whether they would be available for re-election in 1968. Board members treated each of the council resolutions separately voting to accept the one which rejected the $490,000 proposal and to give it further study. But it refused to accept the October 23 resolution and voted unanimously to order council to rescind it and in the meantime to seek legal advice as to what action should be taken if council refuses to do so.

Trustee Van Luyk maintained his view that two separate senior schools (at King City and Kettleby) would be more favorable and that under the board's plan transportation would be a major handicap both in costs and in travelling time lost for the pupils.

atives but had made up its mind on the King addition and refused to change it. Mr. Pierpoint disagreed stating other alternatives had been considered but the King Senior School decision was the most acceptable.
