YWCA Campaigns For Funds

Something for everybody seems to be the goal of the Richmond Hill and District YWCA's program which includes classes in everything from oil painting to upholstery.

Classes are open to both men and women and above are seen (left) Mrs. Mary Cripps and (right) Peter Evans busy in the upholstery class while Instructor Mike Cummings, centre, offers advice.

In order to provide these classes at a price which will not be prohibitive to individuals, the "Y" is presently conducting its first financial campaign. If you have not been approached, you may send your donation directly to the "Y" at 25 Yonge Street North, Richmond Hill or call 884-4811 and it will be picked up.

Mrs. Harry Endean Was Active In YWCA Work Local, National Level

Mrs. Harry Endean of Bayview Avenue North, a resident of Richmond Hill for most of her married life, passed away in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, November 13, after a lengthy illness.

Born Edith Irene Littlefield in Peoria, Illinois, she came to Canada at the age of 12 and graduated with a BA from the University of Toronto. Although a Canadian citizen, she was an active member in the American Women's Club and became very active in the Metropolitan Toronto YWCA, serving as its president, and then as vice-president of the National YWCA.

She married Harry Endean 47 years ago this month and lived alternately in Richmond Hill and Toronto, continuously in this community since 1951.

In the early days of the YWCA in Richmond Hill, Mrs. Endean joined the advisory committee and from her wealth of experience and wisdom gave the group of young women a feeling of confidence and a sense of responsibility to the community. Particularly remembered will be the devotional material she prepared, full of quality, beauty and practicality.

Mrs. Endean was also very active in social work, having a particular interest in St. Christopher's House in the heart of Toronto. In the 1950's she was a member of the planning committee for an international conference on social work held in Toronto.

She is survived by her husband, Harry Edward Endean of Richmond Hill; a son, Frank H. and granddaughter Elizabeth of Toronto and a brother, C. Grant Littlefield, Montreal.

The funeral service was held at the Pipher Funeral Home November 16, followed by interment in Richmond Hill Cemetery. Pallbearers were Arthur S. Pattillo, George Walsh, Michael Grills, Dr. John Wynne, Robert Hollenback and Berton Kellock.

Kaleidoscope

By CATHY WILSON

This week many of you who read "The Liberal", are writing exams. You know, the same old routine: cram, cram, cram all the little facts in, making sure that none escape. Look at the exam questions and write, write, scribble... all the little facts come tumbling out, arranging themselves into a logical, reasonable pattern — you hope!

Now just a second, here. You students are beginning to sound a bit like machines. Yes, I've got it; one of those computers that live down at IBM: let's see, feed the information in here... slip in the question right here and... beep!... beep!... out comes the answer over there. My goodness that's neat. Very efficient, too (most of the time) and VERY modern. The computer is also very, very inhuman.

... What? Oh... no, I'm sorry I'm not going to beef about exams this week. I'll leave that argument to the rest of you this time. This week, I want to say or rather, write a few words about being human; being totally a part of the human race. (And with inhuman exams all around, the time seems very appropriate, don't you think?)

Of course, memory and thought are part of being human. Man has very often been referred to as a "rational animal" meaning that he alone of all other beings on the earth is capable of reasoning. Man possesses the very important faculty of being able to think of the rightness or wrongness of something, the reasons for and against something; make a judgement, and come up with a logical conclusion. These powers are the abilities of the intellect, a very integral part of the human being.

But an equally important part of the human being is emotion or deep inner feeling. Animals do possess emotions to some degree, but emotion is greatly intensified in man, simply because he does possess his intellect.

However, intellect does not control emotion. Love, hate, fear and varying degrees of these emotions are very often not reasonable. Reactions to people or things, based on these emotions, are not mulled over or contemplated for days, hours or even minutes. They are immediate and spontaneous at one particular moment.

In fact "e. e. cummings," a modern American poet, went as far as to say "that you should ever thing, may God forbid / and (in His mercy) your true lover spare: / for that way knowledge lies, the foetal grave called progress."

Cummings is saying "don't think about why an emotion is or isn't; accept it for what it is or you will destroy it."

This week is "Think Week" for you; the week in which you operate from the head and hope that your teachers have a heart. I hope that this week you will make the most of the opportunity to think and I wish you the best of luck. But next week and ever afterwards, remember: don't always be ruled by your head; instead, let your heart often take the lead.

Your friendly Elk presents the irresistible Suit Set by Park Row

Harmonizing jacket, vest and trousers $75

The Country Suit or Suit Set has won great popularity in the past season or so. Down at Head Office our specialist Elks have examined Suit Sets from all leading manufacturers. Their opinion is that your best buy is the offering from Park Row, illustrated above.

- Reasons: 1. 100% virgin wool
2. Slim, trim, contemporary tailoring
3. Superb craftsmanship
4. Great colours

It has also been observed that females are drawn to the Park Row Suit Set like kittens to catnip. Beyond suggesting that the attraction may lie in the rough brawny texture of the jacket, your friendly Elk does not care to comment on this strange attraction.

An Elk knows the value of discretion. Visit your friendly neighbourhood Elk. See the Suit Set by Park Row. It looks terrific. And it's a terrific buy.
