Park
Under the supervision of Fred Iris was water taped at the park has been enclosed in a small shed. Last year two children got a soaking when they fell into the muddy hole surrounding it, so we're glad that problem has been eliminated. Sunday, lights for the skating rink were installed.

Young men who want to play hockey and have days or evenings free during the week after Christmas are asked to volunteer their help in putting up the boards. Just call Mr. Iris at 889-2091 and he will arrange a work gang.

Emmanuel Church
Recently, an unusual and colorful nativity set was given to Rev. William Rhodes and Mrs. Rhodes of Emmanuel Church by Rev. Fred Jackson and Mrs. Jackson. Mr. Jackson was at one time incumbent of Emmanuel and is now retired and an assistant curate at St. Mary's Anglican Church in Richmond Hill.

The creche includes Mary and Joseph, the Baby Jesus in a cradle, three kings and two shepherds, all made of twisted wire covered with yarn and dressed in exotic bits of cloth. The woolly sheep and donkey are particularly realistic. One of six such sets in the Toronto area, it was created by Christian Arabs in the World YWCA Centre at Agadat, Jaber Refugee Camp, Jericho, Jordan. The parish extends its thanks to the Jacksons for this meaningful addition to the Christmas scene and to the rector for sharing it with them.

The Christmas Play begins at 8 pm tonight (Thursday) and it is hoped that many people from the community will come to the church to share in this Christmas experience. Jean de Brebeuf's "Huron Carol" is the basis for the new play written by Mrs. Rhodes. Refreshments will be served by the parish guild in the rectory following the performance.

Art With Steel On Enford Road

A wrought iron sculpture, "Meeting of the Moons" that stands in the corner of Heinz Lederich's office at Jupiter Fabricating and Welding Co., 319 Enford Road, Richmond Hill indicates the nature and diversity of the work done by this custom steel fabricating plant in Richmond Hill.

Mr. Lederich, who came from Dusseldorf, Germany, 15 years ago and now resides in Oak Ridges, is well acquainted with ornamental iron work. He has pictures of a glass and steel table and a decorative strong box which, like the sculpture, Mr. Lederich designed and built as a hobby. But the artistic abilities of the owner of Jupiter Fabricating are helpful in the plant too.

Mr. Lederich's plant is presently completing a $2,900 sculpture commissioned for the High Park Sculpture Symposium in Toronto. This massive seven ton work, by Australian artist Len Lyle, appears like a flying saucer surrounded by a 95 foot aluminum pole and topped with an illuminated globe. Mr. Lederich reports that the sculpture should be installed within three weeks.

Most of the work done by the firm is the production of large hopper bins and heating conductors which have been sent as far west as Saskatchewan. But December 15, Mr. Lederich will send a major piece of steel fabrication to Nova Scotia.

This work is a three ton cement casting form. Cement is allowed to harden in the steel form and then removed in one piece. This process is repeated 150 times and the resulting sculptured panels will then form the facade of a research laboratory in Halifax.

Mr. Lederich's enthusiasm for this work indicates his concern for the aesthetics of fine art and architecture.

MARKHAM VILLAGE: Markham's Centennial Committee wound up Centennial year with a gala Centennial Ball at the Inn-on-the-Park December 8. It was a grand finale to a year in which the committee staged the memorable costume pageant, the Sunday Concert by Guy Lombardo, and the very successful July 1 weekend celebration.

Neighborhood Notes
Greetings for the happiest day of the year. May this Centennial Christmas be special for all of you.

It was a family Christmas Party for Associated Tube Company employees, December 12, at the Toronto Firefighters' Club, as Brown's Corners UCW members catered a hot turkey dinner. Some of the husbands got into the act too and proved their dishwashing ability.

Friends were sorry to learn, December 16, of the death of Mrs. Kenneth Stots' mother, Mrs. Lucy Topham of Stoffville. Mrs. Topham had been in failing health for some time, but she remained bright and active to the last. The community extends sincere sympathy to the Stots' family in their loss.

Mrs. Russell Boyington has been under her doctor's care for double pneumonia this past week—a sad plight for one who sets such store by the Christmas season. We wish her a rapid recovery.

Church News
A beautiful White Gift Service was held at Brown's Corners United last Sunday morning. Lighted Christmas Trees and wreaths brightened the chancel and formed a setting for the creche where children placed their gifts. Garnet Stewart and Bruce Armstrong were in charge of the service, while Carolyn Copp told the children's story, and the CGIT and junior choirs sang the anthem "Long Ago", with music by Mrs. Clayton Jones. Mrs. Don Rees-ore was at the organ and Mrs.

George Hooper was soloist when the senior choir sang "Birthday of a King".

Brian Stiver lit the Advent Candles and David Bishop portrayed "Pedro" as Rev. Christopher Dugan told the story of "The Gift of Love".

Christmas Sunday, there will be special music and carol singing at the 11 am service.

Monday night, December 11, about 25 intrepid men and women braved the elements and invaded the Wimpey Subdivision, west of Bayview Avenue near Thornlea, on a goodwill visit from Brown's Corners Church. From all reports it was a happy thought of the minister which prompted the visit as those who went were pleased to meet their new neighbors. Norm Reid supplied a bus for the expedition and after calls were made, the group went back to the church for coffee.

The Messengers entertained in the Christian education room, specially decorated for the occasion, and proved themselves excellent hosts. First there had been a presentation of a short sketch, "The Elves and the Shoemaker" and refreshments followed.

The cast included John Mitchell, Nancy Armstrong, Laurie Stewart, Suzanna Parton, Betty Bishop, Glenn Lott, Andy Mitchell, Brian Carr, Lynn Carr, and stage assistants Alanna Martin and Debbie Mitchell.
