MINOR HOCKEY RESULTS

OMHA
The Maple OMHA teams are sponsored by Cadillac Lumber in the novice group, Humber Valet Cleaners in the Peeewees, York Fire and Casualty Insurance in the bantams and Clements Rad & Spring in the midget.

These teams have completed their regular season schedule in the North York District of the OMHA and are to be commended for their standings in the league and their deportment on the ice.

Maple has again been subject to a reclassification by the OMHA to Class "C" in spite of a firmly recorded decision at the start of the season that it was a class "D" area.

The other teams in the class "C" playdowns, which must be completed by February 8, are Bolton, Bradford, Oak Ridges, King City, East Gwillimbury and Grandview. The latter has a midget team only.

Maple residents are invited to get out and support these Maple teams. Their brand of minor hockey is as good as there is anywhere in Canada.

Edith Bittner, Church Street had the misfortune to break her leg a few weeks ago, and we wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Neufeld, Keele Street North accompanied by their daughter Jill and her friend Lorraine Stevens spent an enjoyable two weeks in sunny Florida. They motored down to Hollywood, Florida where the temperature was a warm 75 degrees.

Both girls are nurses on the staff of the East General Hospital.

Cancer Society
Mrs. G. M. Hamilton, president of the Maple branch of the cancer society, hosted the monthly meeting, January 18. Mrs. M. Clendenan, chairman of the education committee, reported that a number of industries had been visited and pamphlets left with them. She was assisted by Mrs. J. Irvine, co-chairman of the committee.

Miss P. MacLachlan, chairman of publicity, reported that she had attended the campaign conference at the Westbury Hotel, Toronto January 13 where many ideas were presented as to how to further the message of the CCS by using very able speakers and showing one of several films. "It takes Mice and Men" for example, shows that the campaign dollars are being well spent in the constant search for a cure for cancer.

The service to patients committee report was unchanged from the last meeting. Campaign Chairman Mrs. R. James reported that the money on hand was donations to the in-memoriam fund totalling $202.35.

Fifty letters had been sent to the industries in the district reminding them of the coming campaign. There was general discussion about the campaign which will begin April 1.

UCW
The UCW of Maple United held their general meeting, January 23 in the Christian education wing of the church.

The meeting was led by President Mrs. J. Darlington. In charge of the program were Mrs. H. Lighthouse, Mrs. G. Darker and Mrs. J. Pile. Mrs. Darker read from the scriptures at the worship service. Mrs. Lighthouse then introduced the guest speaker, Graham Lamont, who showed colored slides of his Mediterranean cruise of last summer. He spoke of the countries visited, and comical incidents that occurred during the tour. The pictures were of Spain, Portugal, Gibraltar and Belgium. Mr. Lamont was a chaperone to 30 students during the five week cruise which also visited England and Scotland.

Lamont for this second visit to the UCW. Many cards and letters of thanks were received from recipients of Christmas gifts from the UCW.

Many interesting projects are planned for the coming year and committees for them were approved. The meeting closed with the benediction and lunch.

Home and School
Wednesday, February 7 is the date of the next Maple Home and School Association meeting. The meeting is to be an art workshop, under the supervision of Mrs. Lorraine Mandelbaum, art supervisor for Vaughan schools.

Parents are invited to attend the meeting, prepared to try for themselves all the different art materials that their children use daily in the schools.

Joseph Gibson Junior School is the location of the workshop and the meeting begins at 8:15 pm.

Lions Dance
Maple Lions invite everyone to bring their own "Valentine" to the dance to be held in the community hall, February 16. Bill Watson provides excellent music for dancing as he acts as disc jockey and a good time is promised to all.

The Lions members and their wives enjoyed a social night, last Friday when they bowled and had a buffet at the community centre. Bessie Constable won the hidden score for the ladies and Ray James for the men.

Sacred Music Concert
Maple residents are invited to attend the morning service of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, at the community hall, February 11 when the famous Welsh tenor, Russell Jenkins, will give a concert of sacred music. The evening service at 7 pm will also feature a service of special music.

Neighborhood Notes
While talking to Councillor Dave Fraser, the subject of our park (I use the term loosely) arose. Apparently, it lies there undeveloped because there has been no demand and where there is no demand for something, there usually is no need. How nice that we live in such an affluent society that our children do not require a setting where they can romp and play to their hearts content, enjoy the companionship of many other children and learn to socialize and be creative in their play! I suggest that they do!

Children do not require sophisticated or expensive equipment to develop or enjoy themselves. For a start, a plain old-fashioned baseball diamond, a large sandbox, and a few of those large concrete sewer tiles painted bright colors would delight them. Also, a couple of park benches where we mothers could sit and "catch up on the latest" would more than delight us.

Councillor Fraser reports that the township does cut the grass, as for the rest, we would have to do that ourselves. Perhaps a project for Concord teenagers or Scouts and Cubs?

I am sure that most parents would be happy to assist in any way possible. If anyone feels that this is a worthwhile idea, and that it would add to our community, please call me and with the help of Councillor Fraser, we may have an honest-to-goodness park after all. Stranger things have happened!

Guide and Brownie News
For the past three years, Concord Brownies have been supporting a child in Greece through the Save the Children

Fund. Her name is Amalia Zamana and they correspond regularly by letter, through an interpreter. To raise money for this very worthwhile project, the Brownies are conducting a sale of decorated jars containing bath salts or candy. They are available in two sizes, 35 cents or 60 cents.

The Brownies will be going from door to door with these two useful items so watch for them and help a worthy cause.

First Concord Guides are planning a sleighride for February 1. They will meet at 7 pm at the Church of Christ and go from there to Hampson's Farm, Leslie and Finch Avenue.

Scouts and Cubs
A Sixers' Space Adventure was held January 21 at Woodbridge Arena with 41 Cubs and leaders attending. Concord Cubs present were Kevin Todd, Sandy Fraser, Phillip Webb, Robbie Syme and Senior Sixer Paul Conroy. The boys were driven to the arena by Dave Todd and Jack Hinchley. They spent from 2 until 7:30 pm enjoying space games and space sculpture in the snow.

Congratulations to Bruce McConnell who was invested into the 1st Concord Troop recently. A meeting of the Scouters' Club took place in Maple last Sunday to discuss new and improved methods of Scouting which will be used in the coming year.

It looks as though the Winter Camp will be a huge success, as over 200 boys have registered for the week. Attending the camp will be six American Scouts from Philadelphia with some of their leaders and they will be hosted by the Concord Scouts who last year travelled to their city.

School News
The junior finals for the Vaughan Public Speaking Contest was held at Charles Howitt School last week. All speakers were most eloquent with the two winners being Roxanne Tsafaroff, grade 6 at Thornhill School and Marie-Ellen Souche, grade 5 at Langstaff School. They will go on to meet the Seniors January 30 at George Bailey School. Everyone is invited to attend.

Congratulations to Mrs. Phyllis Elphan who was married recently. Mrs. Elphan, the former Miss Phyllis Gall, is a grade one teacher at Concord School.

All that activity around our school lately is for very good reasons as there are extensive renovations taking place. New fire-proofing doors and equipment have been added and the all-purpose room which will be used for physical education and lunches is almost completed. The old lunch room, with a few minor additions will be transformed into a resource centre which will contain a picture library, a reference library, a television, a film-strip previewer, a film-strip library and a central library. This centre will be available to the students for their project work.

Church News
The Young People's Friday night group spent an enjoyable evening skating and tobogganing at Glen Shields Golf Course last week. Pastor A. E. Atkinson wishes to convey their thanks to the manager for his permission to use the facilities.

Saturday saw 50 members of the Bible School, with some parents, tobogganing under ideal conditions on the H. Obee farm, just north of the Honey Pot.

Thanks go to Mr. Obee who gladly gave his consent for the use of his farm.

Everyone returned to the church where refreshments were served. Except for a few scrapes and a few aching muscles there were no ill effects and everyone had lots of fun.

On Sunday afternoon the first 1968 business meeting of the congregation took place and the results were very encouraging and indicate a steady growth. Mr. Atkinson reports that new plans were laid for the coming year, with a proposed budget expenditure of over $6,000.

Bowling News
Doris Higginson was the "Big Gun" last week and ran away with the following titles, high single with handicap 282, high single flat 265, high triple flat 640, high triple with handicap 691. The one hold-out was Joan Webster who had high average of 198.

Vaughan Outdoor School Is First In York County

York County's first outdoor learning centre, one of the few in the province outside of Metro, will be officially opened next Monday by Vaughan Township Public School Board at the old Burlington School north of Nashville.

Kindergarten and primary grade children will spend half days at the centre, while it is expected that all children in grade 4 to 8 will have spent a day there before the end of June.

Natural science instruction will be just one phase of the centre's function; it will be used to give concrete instruction in all subject areas.

Mackenzie Senior School Principal Malcolm McRoberts who is in charge of the project, advises that the century old building has been fitted with a good furnace and a variety of modern scientific equipment. "Kids have to work with the acre in math," he pointed out, "but most of them have never seen one. Here they can measure it off, work out the diameter and heights of trees, learn to estimate the amount of wood in a woodlot and many other mathematical problems.

Although the school does not officially open until next week, Mr. McRoberts has already had a class there — studying English! The class had been studying the novel "Two for the North" and in a day spent at Burlington they practiced Arctic survival, following animal tracks to locate possible food, learned to find water and direction and other skills noted in the novel.

Full time teacher at the school will be William Oliver who was formerly a science teacher at George Bailey School in Maple.

Staff members who set up the school have had a great deal of co-operation from Metro Conservation Authority. The authority owns land adjacent to the school which it has given permission to use and its staff members also helped in the planning of the centre.

Check That Guy! — Vaughan Day Play

The action is fast and furious here as a Fred's Shell Service player on the right is checked out of the play by two members of the St. Edward's Jets in the annual Vaughan Hockey Day festivities at the Doublerink Arena.

Officials termed the day one of the most successful to date both from an attendance viewpoint and the quality of the hockey games. Oh yes, a broomball game between the women of Thornhill and Maple ended in a 0-0 draw.

The great shoe robbery.

It happens only once a month.

You'd pay $5.99 any other time. But we're holding a robbery which comes only once a month. You say tell me more. We say that this month we're introducing two different styles.

In grain leather. Black, sandy beige, bone or black patent. Either in the sling on the left or the T-strap on the right. You say, why don't we have this kind of steal more often. We say, we're sorry.
