In The Spotlight

Sometimes Mrs. Walker supply teaches in North York High Schools, and this, she feels, is a good change of pace, and keeps her ideas fresh. She is very impressed with the art curriculum which now 1956 to 1964. He left York includes many craft projects. "I am staggered by the talent of these children" she said, and added rather wistfully. It was after major- October was elected to the Oning in art at the University of Saskatchewan, and a tario Legislature to represent summer at the School of Fine Arts in Banff, that she developed this great feeling for nature that she expresses so well in her art. "Another of my 'Things', is that I hate to waste anything, and don't believe in buying a lot of expensive materials. Friends knowing of this are always giving me odds and ends.

"For example, I have had great fun with an old wallpaper sample book, by using pages of it as background for my silk-screen prints. This one of into 90 boards of education and a calladium was hung at a centennial exhibition, next to an A. Y. Jackson, and it amused me to think of my old wallpaper hanging in such a revered position!" she said and pointed out that it had been returned with the glass broken. No doubt it won't the plan - a month after last go to waste!

Mrs. Walker's three children are not avid artists but will occasionally join in a "fun project", and "You must allow people to make there are always plenty of those going on in the the decisions."
