In The Spotlight

A place to house the growing music library which started some years ago with great assistance and encouragement from Les Stanley of the Allegro Music Shop, hold drama workshops, dance, and learn how to paint.

Last Wednesday they entertained the patients at the Villa Hospital in Vaughan who greatly appreciated the recorder, choral, Irish dancing, and Swiss bell-ringing groups.

Now that they are fully organized, Ruth Garson considers herself merely an advisor — the president is Mrs. M. Hare, and secretary, Mrs. M. Goode.

The Recreational Guild of Culture is not only for children, and families are encouraged to join — of course any family is welcome, but a family with barn or some other available accommodation would be an answer to their prayers.

If you could give a little space to this very creative group, please phone Ruth Garson at 884-3802.

Rambling Around

For three years. John left to be a golf pro at Ingersoll Golf and Country Club.

It was about 1964 when the neighboring block of stores owned by Ross Blackburn showed signs of being vacated that Frank suggested to the British American Oil Company that in view of the expansion of the district it might be wise to seek an option on the property.

The company took an option in 1967 and began to build this spring.

Business was booming for several reasons. There was the population increase combined with the increase in car registrations. Two local BA stations had been demolished, one at Langstaff, Highway 7 East and Yonge and the other at Yonge and Steeles. The local station caught much of this business.

Frank considers his biggest headache to be the scarcity of reliable help and his greatest satisfaction is when he makes a proper diagnosis of a sick car.

There are lots of interruptions in Frank's daily work. Like handing out the key of the comfort station and answering questions.

At that moment, someone came in and asked for directions. "You know," said Frank, "we're a regular information bureau. If we were paid for giving information we'd make more money at it than selling gas. People ask for directions to streets, highways, addresses of people and to places like Shouldice Surgery."

The most useful tool around the garage is the coat hanger. This is the miracle worker that opens locked cars and temporarily holds up mufflers and tail pipes.

During his 15 year stint, Frank watched the local children grow up, said goodbye to old customers and welcomed new ones. Some of his original customers still come. Among them are Ed Windsor of Thornebank Avenue, Ed Bean of John Street and Ralph MacEachern of Boyle Drive.

Congratulations on the new look Frank Engel! May you remain to watch many more children grow up.

Bagley - Rose

Lincoln Road United Church, Windsor was the scene of a lovely summer wedding on June 22, at five o'clock when Diane Grace Rose of Downsview, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rose, 1644 Grove Avenue, Windsor, became the bride of John Robert Bagley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bagley, May Avenue, Richmond Hill. Reverend Henderson officiated.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white peau de soie floor-length gown, fashioned with a satin train and large bow. Her shoulder length veil falling from her headpiece was made of French tulle. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and fully-bloomed red roses.

Friend of the bride, Mrs. Jean Fournier of Windsor was the matron of honor and was gowned in turquoise chiffon with a matching train. Miss Lynn Best, another friend of the bride and Lynn Bagley, sister of the groom served as bridesmaid and junior bridesmaid, respectively. They were gowned in mauve chiffon over taffeta and all carried bouquets in complementing colors.

A reception was held at the Canton Restaurant where the mother of the bride received the 80 guests, wearing gold colored lace gown with matching jacket and green accessories. Her corsage was of carnations.

Mrs. Bagley, mother of the groom, wore a flowered brocade ensemble of beige, pink and blue with matching hat and pink accessories. Pink carnations made a lovely corsage completing her costume.

David Bagley was best man for his brother and ushers were Wayne and Keith Rose, brothers of the bride.

Following the dancing, with music supplied by a band, the happy couple left on a wedding trip to Lake Simcoe where they stayed at a lodge, Mrs. Bagley wearing a pink dress and matching accessories for their journey.

On their return they will reside at Rexdale.
