Neighborhood Notes
 Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hoover of Arva, Ontario, called on Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stickley last week. Mrs. Hoover, the former Marie Coher of Gormley, then left by plane to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Pte. and Mrs. Keith Davis of Soest, Germany, and to welcome her first grandchild, a son born to the Davises July 8.

A number of boys from Heise Hill are spending this week at Camp Kaquah on the Magnetawan.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lehman of Carlisle, Penna., spent the week visiting relatives here.

Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Heise, Evan and Beverly of Kinderley, Sask., and Daniel and Curtis Heise, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heise of Ontario, California, have been recent visitors with Mrs. William Heise, Luella and Marjorie.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brilinger entertained all members of their family at a farewell dinner Sunday. Daughter, Velma leaves Friday on a freighter from New York for her third term of missionary work in Rhodesia, after spending a 16 month furlough with her family.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Matsunaga spent a week's holiday with their son David in LaTague, Quebec.

The young people held a pantry shower Thursday night of last week in the Fellowship Hall for Miss Miriam Sider, an August bride-to-be.

Miss Sara Gibson is taking a summer course at York University for her intermediate certificate in guidance. Sara has taught in Ottawa for two years.

Mr. Joseph Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones of Aurora had supper Thursday with their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Coupland of Toronto.

Mrs. Charles Milsted and Charlene had dinner Saturday with the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Christilaw in Scarborough. The Christilaws (of Blind River) are spending the summer in the city with their daughter Heather, who lives in the kidney machine at Wellesley Hospital. Heather is back in a wheelchair again because of a hip condition.

Bryan and Patsy Hunking, children of Rev. and Mrs. Willis Hunking of Bovin, Nigeria, Africa, arrived at Malton Monday night after visiting friends in France enroute. Bryan and Patsy are living with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs.

Kaleidoscope

By CATHY WILSON

I spent the other night looking through five years of yearbooks, some of the relics of a chapter in my life that is fast coming to a close. There are others . . . old report cards, honours pins, a couple of trophies, a prefect sweater, not to mention several years of notes, neatly preserved in file folders (and destined for the fire, I fear).

And there are kaleidoscope memories, a collage of events both meaningful and unimportant: the skinny, scared grade 9 student struggling with a lock turned backwards while the wise, experienced "flunkies", the grade 9 repeaters, looked on, wiping their eyes in mirth.

The grade 10 Latin drill is another clear picture, everyone repeating over and over again the four principal parts of verbs. And in grade 11 there was the struggle over the perplexing problems of geometry and physics, and for some of us, the first prom date. Grade 12, as I remember, was the busiest of all five years of high school. The workload was constantly heavy, and the attraction to extra-curricular activities was positively magnetic.

Grade 13 was light compared to just about any other year, at least if you took only four subjects. But it was a very different and very good year. Most of us got to know each other as complete persons, listening to and helping with each other's problems, trying to sort out our lives, to give them purpose and direction. In deciding on plans for the coming year, we took the first big step towards being responsible for our own individual lives.

And at Bayview Secondary, we became particularly aware of the twists of life and fate, of the difficulties and sorrows we shall have to face and overcome, when one of our classmates, well-loved by everyone, was killed.

One week ago, the grade 13 marks were announced, and hundreds of students in Ontario are graduating from their secondary level education. It is a very happy occasion, but somehow sad, too. Much sadder even than graduation from public school. Because public school seems a mere stepping stone to the thrilling world of high school, but high school is a stepping stone to the beyond and the unknown. We must leave the place where we grew into people, into individuals conscious of the million different facets of life.

And this is a true loss of innocence, for we are leaving a state of awareness that does not demand decision, for a world that will press in around us, forcing upon us and demanding from us the decisions which will determine the course of our lives.

As I write this, two things come to my mind, as a matter of fact, both poems. They, perhaps, will give some insight into the thoughts and feelings of grade 13 students on the event of their graduation.

The first one was sent to me (anonymously) from someone at Richmond Hill High School, and it is "Deedicated To The Class of '68". It reads as follows:

"Raise high this glass, for now we pass from these old walls. The big world calls us forth. June '68 'tis now the date to leave RHHS. The joys, the tears of 13 years and all their sum will soon become, intangibly, just memory. But does one go? Perhaps not so. . . As we depart, we are apart and yet, a part of what we leave. Who goes? What stays? Shall we see clearly in after days? The milestones pass; raise high the glass. Let's toast the past, and then, with eager tread, turn to the unknown road that lies ahead."

The second poem is not quite as specific to the occasion, but the hesitancy of the person to step forth into the world is still obvious. This was written a little more than a year ago by Bill Monahan, a grade 13 student at Bayview, and it was published in the '67 Yearbook. Since then, "Elegy To An Old Man", has become a favorite of mine. Here is part of it:

"Once, when I was at that age . . . you—
 Know the age I mean . . . I was Conscious of how
 The world was wrong
 And it was only a matter of time until
 People found out about it . . . an old man
 Walked into my life."

I didn't learn his name . . . unless it was Sun or Wind or Night . . . for he was As natural as / Each of these three
 And at least as quiet, for serenity,
 Not senility, was his password . . . and he Spoke / To me of life.

The old man told me to be careless . . . what was that for him to say . . . a sometime fool, / He said, can / Learn the truth
 In half a day that takes a wise man a
 Lifetime of care and patience . . . it's no way
 To spend a life.

He said, look into rubbish . . . and to Find a thing of beauty . . . all the Wise men are / Discarding beauty
 And coveting their garbage, so that the World can see their wisdom . . . and Pretend it's life."

From one student to all the grads in York Central, I wish to extend my congratulations and wishes for continuing good fortune in the future.
 (Cathy Wilson is a secondary school student residing in Richmond Hill)

Police Accident Report:

Drives South In Northbound Lane

Markham Township Police have charged Ted Karasiewicz of 103 Delaware Avenue, Toronto, with driving in the wrong lane following an accident July 14 on Concession 6 just north of 18th Avenue.

Mr. Karasiewicz was driving south on Concession 6, and pulled out into the northbound lane to pass a group of cars. He was unable to get back into his lane, and collided with a northbound car driven by Walter Denton of Unionville. Minor injuries resulted from the collision, and damages of $1,000 to each car.

Markham Police are still investigating a July 14 accident on Concession 5 at the Gormley Townline. Thomas Neill, 136 Marchington Crescent, Scarborough, was driving west on Concession 5 and signalled to turn left. Lloyd Walter, 342 Northcliffe Blvd., Toronto, was eastbound and signalled to turn right. As both cars started to make the turn, they collided, causing $550 damages and minor injuries to two passengers.

There were no charges laid by Richmond Hill Police after an accident in the Richmond Heights Centre July 12. Marlyne Swedberg, 19 of Abbotsford, British Columbia was driving south and Thomas Copping, 103 Cherrywood Drive, Newmarket was driving his taxi east in the exit lane and struck the back of her car. There was $300 damage done to Miss Swedberg's car and $50 to the cab.

A Lake Wilcox Public School student was taken to York Central Hospital July 10 when his bicycle was struck by a car.

Gerhard Lederich, 12, was thrown from his bicycle as he rode past a gas station lot on Yonge Street North near Levedale Road. Winnie Cubitt, 86 Coleridge Avenue, Toronto, was turning into the service station to put her sunglasses on when her car struck the bicycle.

The boy received abrasions to the face, arms and left wrist, and damages totalled $55.

Bruno Gorassini of Kettleby has been charged by Vaughan Township Police with failing to stop at a stop sign, following an accident July 14. Mr. Gorassini was driving north on Weston Road when his car struck one travelling west on Maple Sideroad, driven by William Dempster of Concession 7, Vaughan Township. Damages amounted to $85. Vaughan Constable William Dunn investigated the accident.

Still under investigation is a July 13 accident which took place on Maple Sideroad. Michael Wynston, 30 Kingsland Court in Willowdale was driving east on Maple Sideroad. As he stopped for a traffic signal, his car was struck in the rear by one driven by Robert Ault, 17, of 288 Taylor Mills Road, South in Richmond Hill. Damages came to $100.
