Neighborhood Notes

President Mrs. Gordon Read of the UCW wishes to thank all members for their combined effort in making the annual turkey supper such a success.

A special thank you to all the young girls who helped serve comes from the dining room hostess, Mrs. Elinor Veitch.

Mrs. Thelma Sommerville entertained UCW members at her home November 5 and presented a surprise Holiday Girl Make-up demonstration which the guests enjoyed.

Carrville United Church's annual bazaar and poinsettia tea will be held November 30 at the church from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m.

A group of 31 mothers and Girl Guides from the 3rd Riverside Pack had a treat Saturday when they saw the ice capades at Maple Leaf Gardens followed by a snack after the show.

A reminder of the Guide and Brownie mothers' auxiliary meeting, November 18 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George Veitch, Weldrick Road.

The board of stewards of Carrville United met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bushell on Tuesday.

A warm welcome home to Len Kirk who is expected home this week after a long stay in York Central Hospital.

Mrs. Minetta Ness is now progressing nicely after her illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bushell of Birch Avenue celebrated with Mrs. Bushell's aunt on the occasion of her 85th birthday, with her sister Mrs. J. H. Farr, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Goodhead and Michael, at the Aberfoyle Mill Steak House near Guelph.

This converted mill has many exhibits of pioneer Canadians which the guests found very interesting.

Remembrance Day was observed by a moment of silence Sunday at Carrville United while the congregation thought about relatives and friends who made the supreme sacrifice to make the world a safer place in which to live.

Rev. I. A. Higgins' sermon illustrated how the Berlin wall, the iron curtain and the bamboo curtain are boundaries man uses to impose his will on others.

The message further showed us our duty as Christians to keep our minds alert and free to understand and accept different customs, religions and colors of our fellowmen who come to this wonderful country to visit or to begin life again.

Further points in the talk made everyone aware of the United Church's effort to keep the Christian church alive behind the iron curtain. So, don't send your children to Sunday school next Sunday — take them! Remember, the family that prays together, stays together.

On planning—the "foremost" point — "We must retain the character of the township while planning for sound residential, commercial, and industrial development."

Mkham Twp. Candidates Under Fire

By DYLAN CROSS

A ratepayers group from Wards 1 and II in Markham Township took an appraising look last week at nine council candidates to decide which of them they would support in the December 2 elections.

The ratepayers, about 100 in number, resolved to give strong support to Stewart Rumble for reeve and to Tony Roman for deputy-reeve. In Ward II their support will go to newcomer James Jongeneel.

Mr. Rumble is present reeve and Mr. Roman is Ward II councillor. Neither Ward I candidates on view — incumbent Allan Sumner and newcomer Charles Stewart — impressed the group as worthy of support.

The ratepayers were mostly from the Bayview Glen area and mostly members of a 200-strong "committee" formed after a public meeting August 22 dealing with the North-Bayview secondary plan.

They arranged a meet-the-candidates session at Bayview Glen Public School November 6. All declared candidates for reeve, deputy-reeve, and Wards I and II council seats turned up, with the exception of Robert Sherwood, who is contesting Ward I.

Ratepayers from Ward I will get together soon to decide whether they want to support any of the declared candidates or whether to promote someone else for the seat, says Larry Nichols, of Laureleaf Road, chairman of the North-Bayview ratepayers' committee.

Mr. Sumner has represented Ward I for several years. "Undoubtedly, the consensus of the meeting indicated that it was time for a change," he says.

Under scrutiny at the meeting were: Stewart Rumble and Robert Sloan, who want the reevehip; S. J. Gadsby and Tony Roman who will battle for the deputy-reevehip; Allan Sumner and Charles Stewart, who contest Ward I; and James Jongeneel, John Young and Norman Tyndall, who contest Ward II.

They faced a fairly aggressive audience with evident nervousness. The ratepayers were, for the most part, people who are discontent with some of the provisions of the Bayview-North plan, or past planning policies in the township, and they were determined to probe for the candidate's views on that plan in particular and planning in general.

In the five minute address allowed each candidate, the politicians showed themselves conscious of the mood of the ratepayers by making comments on planning that could only have pleased the audience.

This might have accounted for the stirring round of applause that all candidates were given.

The meeting was chaired by Albert Mallon of Limcombe Drive. It was opened by Larry Nichols, who told the candidates there was concern about "the philosophy of planning in the township."

A brief outline follows of the main points made by candidates, in the order in which they spoke: Robert Sloan, candidate for reeve: He felt the basic need was for leadership in the township and enunciated six points in his platform.

On planning—the "foremost" point — "We must retain the character of the township while planning for sound residential, commercial, and industrial development."

On business — "Markham has an annual budget of more than $4 million, but the township is run like a five and dime store."

On recreation — "There must be a more realistic approach to the recreation problems of young people."

On an industrial commission — "A full-time industrial commission is needed to plan and promote industrial growth."

On the commercial development that has been approved will boost assessment but at a high cost of well-being of the present residents."

Referred to the Goldenberg report on the future of Metro Government as stating that since the planning of Markham Township has been carried out in an orderly manner there was no need for Metro to take over.

James Jongeneel, Ward II candidate: Posed the question, "Why pick me?" and replied, "Mainly because the township cannot afford somebody who has to learn on the job... you need somebody who knows something about town planning."

Norman Tyndall, Ward II candidate: Said he was keenly interested in the development of youth. "The parks program is a big thing to me."

John Young, Ward II candidate: Described council meetings as being "a cock-fight," and said "we've got to stop the constant argument and work together cohesively."

Charles Stewart, Ward I candidate: Expressed himself concerned about the further expansion of Metro Toronto and said he was strongly opposed to "piecemeal" annexation moves by the city.

Allan Sumner, Ward I candidate: In answer to Robert Sloan's criticism of the fire service, said that a report from the fire marshal indicated that it would cost $250,000 a year to operate a separate fire service for Markham Township.

During the ensuing question time some of the candidates tarnished the image they had created in their short addresses.

Most notable victims of pointed questioning were former Councillor Robert Sloan and Councillor Allan Sumner, both persons with a reputation for outspokenness.

Mr. Sumner was taken to task for remarks published in "The Liberal" regarding ratepayer reaction to North-Bayview plan at the public meeting August 22.

The councillor told "The Liberal" that he thought the plan "had been blown up out of all proportion by ratepayers who have misunderstood the purpose," and said too that "not one practical letter had been received on the plan from the whole area."

An angry ratepayer demanded an explanation for the remarks. Mr. Sumner defended himself by pointing out that the plan was still only a proposal, and by saying that at the public meeting he felt there was "a lot of unjust criticism," with open charges made against the integrity of some members of the planning board.

Some hostile questions were directed at Mr. Sloan regarding subdivision agreements negotiated by Markham Township Council while he was a member of council. (He was elected a Ward I councillor in 1963, then lost out to Mr. Rumble in a bid for the deputy-reevehip in 1964).

Mr. Sloan sparked the questions by remarking that on the 1963 council there was customarily a 3-2 vote in favor of development matters, with Mr. Rumble (then a councillor) generally in the minority, and he and the late Cleary Palmer and Charles Hooper generally in the majority.

Mr. Sloan's remarks were met with a 3-2 vote in favor of development matters, with Mr. Rumble (then a councillor) generally in the minority, and he and the late Cleary Palmer and Charles Hooper generally in the majority.

County Education

Continue Senior Public Schools, TSA 1 Markham Urges In Brief

In a second brief to the Interim Schools Organization Committee (ISOC), TSA 1 Markham urges that the county education board continue the senior public school organization and use its influence to have grants to senior public schools equalized with those given to junior high schools.

This is one of several recommendations made in the brief, which is entitled "Programme." The board's first brief was on the subject of "School Accommodation."

Several briefs are being presented to ISOC by TSA 1 in response to the committee's request for boards in the county to make known their recommendations on education in their areas.

TSA 1 favors senior public schools over junior highs for "sociological" reasons. It has been shown evident in practice, the brief states, that "the energy and interest of the pre-teens and early teen years can be better directed into more suitable channels if the age-span is limited to that of grade seven and eight."

At the same time the board recognizes that the present grant structure is more favorable to junior high schools. An Oral French program started in TSA 1 seven years ago should be continued, and there should be further study towards its improvement, the township board feels.

The French program was begun in grade 7 and 8 and gradually extended down to grade 5. It is the opinion of school staff, the brief notes, that at the grade 7 and 8 level the subject be phased, because many pupils show after two years either a decided facility or lack of facility for a second language with the result that some do not continue with a second language at secondary school.

A phased French program in grades 7 and 8 would meet the particular needs of both these groups, it is believed. NEW IDEAS The board is in favor of "academic initiative" being permitted principals and states: "This board supports the idea that principals should be encouraged to attempt new ideas and methods within their authority and to recommend other ideas for approval of the administration or school board."

To enable "far-thinking principals to have proper outlets for their enthusiasm" it recommends a "mechanism" be set up "for discussion, advice and decision-making at the right level."

Also recommended is the establishment of regional resource centres and of "regional areas for staff meetings." The brief remarks that the practice of holding regular principals' meetings in the TSA1 area has provided a means of improving communication, exchanging ideas and has helped in solving problems.

As such the meetings have benefitted area students. Its experience in operating a small education centre and its success in sharing with TSA 2 Markham a library resources centre and the services of a library supervisor, led the board to recommend regional resource centres that are readily accessible to several areas. Other recommendations in the brief are that supervisors and subject co-ordinators be continued to be used and that the relationship between these positions be studied constantly:

• that pupil and teacher services provided through the York South Regional Education Committee be continued, but that no extension be made to existing services without the addition of adequate staff;

• That the county board allow any experiments on the integration of a "family life program" into schools to be continued until they can be evaluated. The brief refers to a pilot project on the question the township board has underway in the Thornhill area.

TSA 1 Board members are: John MacKay, chairman; Mrs. Louise Aimore, Peter Rossi, Brian Leonard and Terence Lynd. Messrs. MacKay and Rossi, and Mrs. Aimore are contenders for seats on the new county board due to be elected December 2.

JAMES PHILIP JONGENEEL

Runs Ward 2 Markham

A resident of 11 Millmar Court in the Milliken area of Markham Township since 1963, James Philip Jongeneel (Jim) has announced that he will be seeking election as Councillor in Ward 2, Markham Township in the coming election. Mr. Jongeneel is married and has one daughter, a year and a half old. He holds a bachelor of commerce degree and since 1951 has held positions in marketing and sales, and appraisal work. Since 1965 he has been an investment counsellor and director with John C. L. Allen Limited, members of the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Mr. Jongeneel describes the marked difference of the voter in municipal elections. "There is no place for apathy in a municipal or any other election in a democracy and I shall strive to generate more voter participation," he states.

"It is my belief that my background in industry and real estate will enable me to draw upon experience to benefit the residents in the planning and development of the township. My experience in the financial community will also be a contributing factor in managing the township's business affairs," he told "The Liberal"
