

label fable

Many people pass up big savings by passing up our 'house brands'. 'House brands' are those products that we put our own labels on. And that's where the fable arises—because of their very low prices some people have the mistaken impression that somehow 'house brands' are second-class merchandise. Simply not so. Dominion 'house brands' are manufactured to the same stringent standards as nationally advertised brands. Dominion wouldn't have it any other way.

House brand prices are appreciably lower because of Dominion's tremendous volume purchasing power and fastest, most modern distribution facilities. And because our products carry our own labels you get the best of both worlds—the highest quality merchandise by top producers, plus highest possible savings which Dominion passes on to you.

There's never been a more opportune time to meet our house brands than right now, during Dominion's final week of a joyous "January Jubilation". Like having a 'special' on the 'specials'. And you'll discover many other exceptional values all through the store. In every department. Further proof of Dominion's 50 year promise to you of more quality, more service, more value. Prove the fable false while you prove our promise true. At your neighbourhood Dominion Store now.

Rezoning Of Strip On Highway 7 At Unionville Is Favored 11 to 9

There was a slight 11 to nine majority in favor of changing the zoning of a strip of land along Highway 7 near Unionville last week. This was at a Markham Township Planning Board public hearing in the council chambers.

The strip of land lies to the north of Highway 7 between Concession 5 and the White Rose property near Sciberras Road. This land is now zoned RR1 (low density residential) and the planners were finding out what the owners would feel about making the zoning HC2 (commercial).

The planning board made no decision after the hearing. Those opposing the change generally agreed there should be a study and plan of the whole area before zoning of the strip was changed.

Those in favor felt the land uses, whether legal or not, were generally commercial in character and that the future of the area was commercial. The commercial uses existing there, as far as the township knew, were legal by virtue of the fact that they were there before the land was zoned. Planning Director Kunio Hidaka told the meeting.

Board Chairman Napier Simpson Jr. told the meeting the hearing was called because there were at least two applications for rezoning and the board felt the whole area should be considered, not just single properties.

Bernard Cooper, representative of nearby landowners, North Hill Developments and Shepherd Developments, said much of the land in question fits naturally into the Unionville watershed. He said strip zoning was not a good idea. Needed was a study of the whole area to determine the best uses and road pattern.

Owners of smaller residential lots near the western end of the strip in particular didn't want to have undesirable commercial uses nearby. There was fear for the ground water supply as well. One owner was assured by the chairman that higher taxes need not be feared unless the use of the property changed.

The right-of-way for the proposed Highway 404 lies at the west end of the strip and surveying was going on there. Only commercial or high density residential zoning was suitable for such a location, one owner said.

Another owner argued that there was an extreme shortage of commercial land for development, and commercial rezoning of more land was needed.

Neighborhood Notes

There's an owl perched on a nearby tree watching over the countryside this morning. Snow has made a fairyland, but road crews are not so happy with the freezing rain.

Happily, traffic was at a minimum over the weekend and police report few incidents — only cars in the ditch. It's hard to believe that Monday is ground hog day.

Bob and Janet Cunningham's new son Robert David George arrived home with his mother on Tuesday last week. He will be known as David, and his two big sisters Kathy and Donna have declared him "beautiful".

He is a first grandson for Mr. and Mrs. George Oakes and Mrs. Harold Cunningham.

George Oakes is presently at the Princess Margaret Hospital for treatment but is making good progress, and expects to be home in a week or two.

Russell Boyington was taken suddenly ill Thursday last week and was in the intensive care unit at York Central Hospital.

Dr. George Kelly is staying with his sister while Mr. Boyington is in hospital. For the past few weeks, since Mrs. Kelly left for Florida in early January, Dr. Kelly has been at Newmarket with his son Dr. George, Jr., and family, and attending to business at the Stouffville Sales Barn where he is the veterinarian on staff. Mrs. Kelly will be home shortly.

On Saturday evening Buttonville WI members catered when the York County Junior Farmers held their annual dinner meeting and election of officers. David Darlington of Kleinburg was named president, and Albert Leek of Headford is vice-president.

It was good to see Mrs. Elmore Hill out again after a long siege of illness.

Sunday was James Dugan's birthday and at Brown's Corners Church the junior choir sang one of his favourite anthems "No Man Is An Island", and flowers on the communion table were placed there in his honor by his son, the Rev. Chris.

Among other community members who have celebrated birthdays in the past week or two were Miss Mary Rodick, Miss Rhea Scott, Mrs. Audrey Stephenson and Mrs. H. R. Paterson.

Church News

On Sunday, "This Business Of Loving" was the subject of Rev. Chris Dugan's sermon, and the message in a moment — "We like others — because; We love others — despite."

Next Sunday is Sacrament of Holy Communion and reception of new members. On February 4, the young adult group will hold its second meeting under the leadership of Mr. Dugan. An election of officers will be held, a constitution set up, and there will be an open discussion on a topic selected. All young adults and high school students are cordially invited.

Travelogue on New Zealand

Mrs. Murray Macklin and Mrs. Garnet Weidmark of Agincourt were guests of Buttonville WI when members held their monthly meeting at Buttonville Hall, January 21.

Mrs. Macklin and Mrs. Weidmark visited New Zealand last winter as part of a tour of Pacific countries, and their pictures and description were most interesting.

Mrs. Lloyd Baker chaired the meeting, and hostesses were Miss Della Stephenson and Mrs. James Rodick. Mrs. Garnet Francey who planned to attend the meeting for the first time since her illness last summer was unable to be present. The group has missed her.
