If you're an experienced seamstress or currently taking a sewing course the Fashion Review being held this Saturday by Mayfair Manufacturing from 2-4 pm at Walter Scott Public School is a must!

The models are all customers who will be wearing their own outfits from spring and summer fabric donated by Mayfair Manufacturing and judging from a preview of the show, the varied and attractive fashions modelled, will encourage even those with little or no sewing ability to have a bash at this practical hobby.

Co-ordinating the fashion review will be Mrs. Kay MacGregor and Mrs. Lorraine Cardwaine and the commentary will be done by Linda McCarthy of McCall's Pattern Company.

The patterns were donated by McCall's and local merchants are assisting with the other facets of the show — hairstyling, accessories, flowers, public announcement system and music.

LIVE LOVE — FOR ALL

The second semester church school with the theme, "Live Love", is now in progress at Richmond Hill United Church. A very special thanks is extended to the many leaders and helpers who are making the second program a real live experience. As a result of their good work, at least 10 new children arrived last Sunday, bringing the total primary and junior attendance up to about 90. Also, the average attendance is holding up to 95 percent.

The Live Love people are extending a very special welcome to parents to visit them on Sunday, March 22 between 9:30 and 10:45 am.

Harry G. Lumsden of Aurora, research scientist and unit supervisor of the Department of Lands and Forests, Maple, was the guest speaker at meeting of the Richmond Hill Horticultural Society, held recently in the Lions Hall.

President Gladys McLatchy welcomed members and friends and called the meeting to order. Arrangements were made for a bus trip this week to the annual Spring Flower and Garden Show at the O'Keefe Centre.

Doug Boyd introduced Mr. Lumsden, who captivated his audience with an illustrated talk on the many varieties of wild water fowl, which abound in the Canadian north country, particularly in the muskogs of Hudson's Bay. Many facets of the life span of these birds were shown, including a study on the nesting of the Canada Goose and the herding of 4,000 at a time for observation and banding. The young goslings lose their primary feathers and are flightless. Many breeds fly as far south as Sacramento Valley and others winter in the Caspian Sea.

The chief danger to this Canadian heritage are the wolves, who den-up near the nesting grounds, and the pesticides DDT and Dieldrin, especially the gulls and loons as the eggshells are affected by the lack of calcium and the young die in the shell or shortly after hatching.

Mr. Lumsden fears that the loon population will collapse, as have other species before them and is disturbed that humans will also be affected, as they are at the top of the "food chain".

Mrs. Joan Rhind of Richmond Hill will be guest speaker at the World Day of Prayer service in Christ Anglican Church, Stouffville, March 6 at 7:30 pm. Participating denominations are Presbyterian, United, Roman Catholic and Anglican.

St. Gabriel's Girls' Auxiliary entertained on February 23 at the Villa Hospital with a program consisting of singing, poetry and piano solos intermingled with a brief look at the past and present and a fashion show of authentic costumes from many lands.

In the year 1870 it was the fashion for a young couple to take a stroll on a Sunday afternoon and Kathryn Smith and Jackie Waugh revived this custom, with Kathryn in a long white satin gown, carrying a white parasol and Jackie in a black suit. Kathryn later appeared in the current 1970 fashion — a mini-skirt and mod jewelry.

To introduce the various countries, Linda Hare sang and played "Fabulous Places" from Dr. Doolittle.

The first stop was to Wales where Alice Thomas described her native costume and recited a poem called "Easter Bunnymund". The next country, Jamaica, an island in the sun, was represented by Valerie Firman who then joined Linda and Beth for the next number in the program — an Easter bunny hand puppet show.

The audience was then transported to China and Japan with Caterina Gold modelling a Chinese costume and Beth Towner speaking on Expo '70.

Palestine was the next country visited with Judith Thomas representing a young girl from Nazareth. She sang "All in the April Evening".

Then on to Mexico, represented by Jackie Waugh, and Chile in South America, where the audience met Linda Hare who played "The Impossible Dream" from the Man of La Mancha.

Commentator was Leader Mrs. Madeline Hare, who wore the native costume of the Canadian Indian in the west.

Mrs. Victoria Cox then showed slides of her trip to England, Scotland and Wales, which were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

The evening closed with the serving of refreshments and each patient was given an Easter basket of candies by Elaine Gold and the G. girls.

Yellow Rose Ball Draws Large Crowd To Support Two Charities

The Heintzman Home in Thornhill Green was the setting of the annual Yellow Rose Ball of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, Delta Lambda Chapter, Richmond Hill. The ball was held February 21.

The gracious old home (now the North Thornhill Community Centre) was a perfect setting for the capacity crowd of elegantly gowned ladies and their escorts, and for 200 fresh yellow roses donated by Bob Donald's Esso Station, Yonge Street, and arranged in baskets throughout the rooms.

Hatch's Catering of Richmond Hill served an outstanding hot roast beef dinner and dancing for the remainder of the evening was to the music of the Ambassadors Orchestra.

Each lady received a yellow rose and a lovely heart-shaped bottle of Evyan perfume. The men, at the end of the evening, were treated to free cigars. Spot dance and door prizes were provided through the courtesy of many local and city businessmen.

To the 15 girls who comprise the Delta Lambda Chapter, the Yellow Rose Ball is a much anticipated event each year and Simon hit upon the vital clue when their uncle installs a television set and Simon recognizes car interference on the screen at a time when there is no logical reason for it.

The children catch the two poachers but the ring leader doesn't give up easily and leads a tremendous chase along the river bank and through the woods. When he is eventually caught, in a dramatic climax, his identity amazes the audience as much as it does the children, their uncle and Peter Kelley.

The serial "The Young Jaegers" (part 6) will also be shown. In addition there will be one reel of "The Dog And The Diamonds". The time is 2 pm Fibrosis Foundation, Toronto Chapter and Mr. Breakwell is school.

For the second consecutive year, proceeds from the ball are going to ARC Industries, Richmond Hill and cystic fibrosis research. Attending the dinner dance were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Breakwell. Mr. Martin is manager of the Toronto-Dominion bank at Thornhill and treasurer of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, Toronto Chapter and Mr. Breakwell is school.

Wide Variety Of Acts, Performers At Carnival

Green monkeys, dancing bears, clowns, trapeze artists and all the wonderful people of the circus will be featured in the first part of the Richmond Hill Skating Club Carnival slated for March 7 and 8. The carnival in the new arena will start at 8 pm on Saturday and at 2 pm on Sunday.

The second half of the program will take as its theme, "Merry England Of The Past And Of The Mod Generation". Every one of the 310 children who receive skating instruction from the three club professionals will be participating. The junior skaters will appear in at least one number and senior skaters in from one to four. Groups, pairs and solos will be included.

This year seven members competed in the central section championship tests, with one pair going on to compete in the Canadian Championships at Edmonton. Both pairs and the three girls will present the skating routines they used in the central competition.

The professionals, who choreographed the show, are Brenda Frisland, Aileen Hadley and Rick Stephens. Mr. Stephens was last year's Canadian Champion in pairs and this is his first year of teaching. Guest skaters will be Robert Rubens who is this year's junior men's champion of Canada. Mr. Rubens is 17 years old. Also featured in a guest spot will be Arlene Hall, 15, junior ladies' Canadian champion for 1970.

As in the past all costumes have been made by volunteer mothers of the skaters, the props have been constructed by the fathers, lighting for the performances has been devised and will be operated by fathers, and mothers will be busy behind the scenes applying makeup. All-in-all this is a real family effort and if past shows, presented by the 13-year-old club, are any indication the audience at the 1970 carnival is in for a real treat.

Although there is much more seating available in the new arena than in the old one, spectators would still be well advised to be in their seats well in advance of the opening hour. A few seats are available in the heated portion of the arena and, although they do not offer the best view of the show, are ideal for those with arthritis or other ailments which do not take kindly to the chill of the main seating areas.
