York Crops Are All Looking Good Rain Helped Wheat, Spring Grain

By AL WALL
Agricultural Representative
York County

Crops in York are looking good now. Wheat is coming on in good shape. Rain came just at the right time to develop both wheat and spring grain, even if it did spoil a lot of hay. Corn has done well too. Most of it got planted early enough, and we have had enough moisture and heat since to bring it right along. Weed killers have been effective. A new one, Lasso, for annual grasses, was widely used in York this year and it's doing a good job.

There are good demonstrations on different weed sprays for corn at John Nicoll's in King, Grant Burroughes at Kleinburg, and Harvey Brown's at Markham. Corn men are welcome to drop in and see these trials.

We have a few different corn problems this year. Fertilizer burn has shown up more than usual. Dry conditions after planting likely caused some of it. Germination was affected on some fields, while on others root development was limited, with the crop being stunted.

There was some nematode damage on corn this year too. It's the same one that works on oats and barley and is something that corn growers can do without nicely.

Experience has been good this year with limited tillage in corn. Fields that were just disc once are looking just as good as those with regular plowing and cultivation.

The most interesting work on tillage is at Bruce Shillinglaw's at Mount Albert. He has corn planted direct on barley stubble and on corn stubble that shows no signs of suffering from lack of a normal seed bed.

Bruce used a planter with a few modifications for no-till planting. The main one is that the coulters are corrugated to SCARBORO: The Scarboro Public Utilities Commission has one customer completely befuddled.

Along with his May bill he got a notice advising him that a new computer system was going to speed up the time between future reading and billing dates. On that bill, the reading date was April 27, the billing date May 8—11 days later.

To his surprise, he found that his next bill gave a reading date of June 8 and a billing date of July 20. He's still trying to figure out how a time lag of six weeks is an improvement.

WILLOWDALE — Foster child of 18 Willowdale families, Haydee Robles and her family in Chimbote, Peru, are safe and well, it has been learned. However the family is homeless and has lost everything it possessed. Reports from the Foster Parent's Plan office in Chimbote state that six other foster children in the recent earthquake, 54 members of foster plan families were killed and 35 injured. Haydee is 11 years old and lived with her mother, four sisters and a brother, in a one-room shack of split bamboo with an earthen floor.

PICKERING — Metro Planning Board is recommending the creation of a borough of Pickering, rather than the further expansion eastward of Scarborough.

The borough proposal, to take in 40 per cent of Pickering Township, hinges on the assumption that the province would also want to split the township as part of an Oshawa Regional Development Scheme.
