Markham Taxpayers Jam Protest Meeting Sept. 15

By HAROLD BLAINE
Having just received their new, and frequently increased 1971 market value tax assessment notices in the mail, 300 Markham Township taxpayers turned out September 15 for the second public protest meeting of the Markham Township Taxpayers' Association held at Thornhill Secondary School. Deputy-revee Anthony Roman, candidate for Markham mayor, was there to tell the taxpayers what township council had done at a special meeting the night before.

"The council decision wasn't unanimous, but we decided to adopt the procedure under Bill 143," he said.

(Bill 143 was one of two bills recently passed by the Legislature to give municipal councils power to cushion over several years the effect of large tax increases suffered by property owners under the new market value assessment system.)

"We're not responsible for the mess. We've done everything in our power to rectify the situation," said Mr. Roman, emphasizing again that assessment was now in the hands of the provincial authorities. He also said the market value assessment system was opposed by Markham Township when it was adopted by majority vote of York County Council.

"We were faced with a very serious dilemma. However, we found that the overall situation generally in Markham was very healthy. About 90% of the taxpayers remained in a favorable situation."

"But there was a group of people, about 10% of Markham's 11,000 taxpayers, who were hard hit."

"I don't know where the line of justice can be drawn, but we are doing what we can to help out."

"The treasurer and clerk have been instructed to prepare the proper tax relief formula and bylaw under Bill 143 for council adoption."

"All taxpayers should pay close attention to their 1971 assessment notices and not miss their opportunity to appeal them if this action is warranted," Deputy-revee Roman warned.

Councillor Jim Jongeneel, candidate for regional representative in the Town of Markham, also attended the meeting. Councillor Bill Masters, probable candidate for a Markham Ward 1 council seat, was also present.

Councillors Jongeneel and Masters backed up Deputy-revee Roman's explanation that the township council had only limited power to deal with the tax situation. They also helped to answer the questions put by citizens.

Mr. Jongeneel warned that the job of getting relief for the hard hit 10% in Markham Township was only half done, and that the association should not relax its vigilance.

He said that to give relief to the hard hit 10% wouldn't mean a very heavy burden on the other 90%. One estimate was that relief for the 10% would cost the rest of the township taxpayers an average of about eight dollars each, he said.

Donald Deacon, MLA York Centre, and Barney Danson, MP York North, were platform guests at the meeting.

Taxpayers' Association President Jack Stone of 77 Grandview Avenue, South Thornhill, was chairman of the meeting. He denied a recent news story in "The Willowdale Enterprise" which quoted him as saying 50% of the people in Thornhill were grounds that market value property valuation is inequitable.

Secondly, they voted in favor of asking each and every Markham Township property owner to appeal his 1971 assessment individually on the same grounds.

Thirdly, on a motion introduced by Robert Adams, candidate for the Ward 1 Markham Town Council seat, the meeting voted to ask Queen's Park to pay a greater share of York County Board of Education costs by means of increased provincial grants.

"I didn't say it at all. I haven't made any kind of survey to determine how many Thornhill taxpayers would favor joining North York", President Stone said.

York Region Assessment Commissioner Ken Andrews was present during the last part of the meeting and was available to answer citizens' questions.

One citizen indicated what seemed to be the general feeling of the meeting when he told the council members that "the way you people are operating, and the way Mr. Benson (federal finance minister) is operating in Ottawa, we might as well quit work."

This same citizen later said, "How can you expect people to pay taxes next year when assessment appeals from last year haven't been heard yet? It doesn't make sense."

Councillor Masters agreed that the situation was extremely irritating. He said he was tangled up in it just like the rest of the people present.

Candidate Masters said he appealed his assessment last year to the Court of Revision in Markham, and wasn't satisfied with the results. His subsequent appeal to the county court still hadn't been heard, he said.

Satisfied that the Markham Township Council was on its way toward doing everything it could to provide tax relief in 1970, the executive of the taxpayers' association recommended that all 1970 taxes now be paid.

At the first meeting last June, taxpayers voted to withhold payment of all taxes above the 1969 level.

By a show of hands indicating a large majority of support, the taxpayers present passed three resolutions.

First, they asked the township council to appeal the whole 1971 assessment roll on the

Thornhill Bank Finds Counterfeit $10 Bill, Burglars Get Cheques

A bogus $10 bill turned up September 18 at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, 7027 Yonge Street, Thornhill, at about 9 o'clock. The Markham Township Police Department says:

"This is the fifth time this year that counterfeit money has turned up in the township. This particular bogus bill could be identified by the lack of a plate number on the front. The pupils in the eyes of the Queen's portrait were not realistic, and the bill itself was off-color, police said."

On September 19 a 1965-model red motorcycle was taken from a residence on Thornridge Drive, Thornhill.

The machine was later recovered at Carville Road and Yonge Street in Richvale, Vaughan Township Police report.

Also September 19 there was a break-in at a Garden Avenue home in Langstaff and two cheques were stolen from a purse, along with a tape recorder.

The same day, while the owners were away on holiday, a Jane Street home was entered by burglars. Police found the drawers and desks in the house ransacked, and won't know what has been stolen until the owners return.

Again September 19 there was a break-in at the Richvale Coffee Shoppe, 9114 Yonge Street, but the burglars apparently found nothing to steal, police said.

Empty beer bottles were thrown through a fire door on the west side of the Charles Howitt Public School, Pearson Avenue, September 20. The school was entered and four classrooms were ransacked. Pencils and ink were scattered around the floors. Fish and water were dumped from a tank.

Also September 20 two windows were broken at the Richvale Public Library.

Thornhill Bank Finds Counterfeit $10 Bill, Burglars Get Cheques

A bogus $10 bill turned up September 18 at the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, 7027 Yonge Street, Thornhill, at about 9 o'clock. The Markham Township Police Department says:

"This is the fifth time this year that counterfeit money has turned up in the township. This particular bogus bill could be identified by the lack of a plate number on the front. The pupils in the eyes of the Queen's portrait were not realistic, and the bill itself was off-color, police said."

On September 19 a 1965-model red motorcycle was taken from a residence on Thornridge Drive, Thornhill.

The machine was later recovered at Carville Road and Yonge Street in Richvale, Vaughan Township Police report.
