

Metro Chairman Albert Campbell Joins Campaign For Commuter Train For York Region

 "A transit grid will ease the load on the highways, reduce the death toll and pollution and make cheaper land within commuting distance available for housing. People can be moved with greater comfort, at lower cost, than at present by expressways and highways."
 Mr. Medcof refers to Chairman Campbell's stand on commuter service, stating that Metro, faced with staggering expressway and subway costs, would consider underwriting subsidies that would be necessary to inaugurate service on the Richmond Hill and Uxbridge lines.

 No subsidy would be needed on the Guelph, Barrie and Peterboro lines, Mr. Medcof maintains. They could be operated immediately at a profit.
 Tracks and equipment are available. The railways are eager to be rid of passenger service, and with the 50 percent provincial subsidy now received for subway construction, the entire scheme could be handled at no cost to federal taxpayers, Mr. Medcof predicts.

 He urges that discrimination against Metro be ended, pointing out that Montreal gets about 122 commuter trains per day supplied by the national railways and the federal taxpayers as opposed to Metro's five.
 His letter concludes, "The rail lines are essential to the integrated overall transit grid. You can provide them at no cost to you by the stroke of a pen. For too long the directors of the CNR and CPR played politics to the detriment of the Toronto area transit users. It's time for you to act. Please do so."

 Mr. Campbell's plan is similar to Mr. Medcof's, but would add a sixth service using CPR lines from Metro west to Milton.
 In glancing at a map of Metro region one observes very quickly that there are several railroad lines radiating from the core city which could be utilized similar to the lakefront GO line, says Mr. Campbell.

 "A rail commuter service provided on some of these lines would serve the outer suburbs. . . as well as other fringe areas presently without satisfactory service."
 He also refers to the matter as "urgent".
 Mr. Roberts points out that, although a GO bus service is now operating north of Metro, there is still a great deal of dissatisfaction with commuter arrangements.

 "One problem in the past has been to provide convincing technical and market information. While citizens' groups have done a lot of useful research, much of this has been discounted by government as self-interested pleading. . . . Much of this research has been limited, too, by the reluctance of the railways to co-operate as fully as they could," Mr. Roberts declares.
 "The new study should provide incontrovertible information on the needs and feasibility of commuter transport. The study will be undertaken under the direction of the Urban Transportation group in Transport, but the co-operation and support of the provincial government and the railway has been promised."

 He urges that those who wish to support a commuter service write Ottawa so that their representations can be forwarded to the study group.

Anti-Rabies Shots For Ontario County Pets

All residents of Ontario County with dogs or cats have been urged to have their pets given anti-rabies vaccination at special clinics to be held in March.
 Letters asking parents to take this action because of the "prevalence of rabies in the area" were sent home with school children in the county February 26.
 The letter was signed by Dr. A. W. Harris, a veterinarian with the federal government's health of animals branch in Bowmanville.
 Dr. Harris said yesterday the number of rabies cases is up this winter from last, but the epidemic stage has not been reached.
 He said there were 12 cases in Ontario County in January, 11 of them among skunks, and the other in a cow.
 The clinics are being held to try and prevent the spread of the disease to domestic animals and the resultant risk to humans, he said.

didn't quite reflect the usual filial good will.
 Dad ended up losing several teeth and son ended up charged with resisting arrest.
 Both were slapped behind bars for fighting.
 Involved were Bryan Davis, 21, of 180 Bayview Avenue South, Apartment 103; and Morton Davis, 51 of 15 Elgin Mills Road West, according to Richmond Hill Detachment of York Regional Police.
 Constables were called at 10:35 pm to Montgomery's Tavern, 34 Yonge Street South, to quiet the pair.
 But the celebration later resumed a few steps north in the lot at 31 Yonge Street South.
 By this time sonny boy had the best of it and dad's teeth had the worst of it.
 Police had quite a struggle getting the two men into cells at the station only a few blocks away.
 This was only the most outstanding event among several last weekend, as several other men landed in the police cells on charges involving drinking and fighting according to Deputy Chief Joe Rainey.
