Centre Not Place For Loitering

ons for the use of drugs — curiosity, search for a spiritual experience, or a "messed up" life.

"They have reached the point where they know there is a problem, but they don't know what it is. They freak out maybe four times a month. Then they see themselves as they may be ten years from now as parents and they do not want to repeat the errors of their parents," Miss Fawns explained.

Where there is a legitimate need they stay at YAC overnight, and the next day the worker sits down with parents and child.

"We are not letting them run away to us."

Much of their work depends on referrals to psychiatrists and other professionals, "but it is very important that we take their hand and stay with them."

There is always a staff member present at 182 Markham Road to greet new arrivals, and to talk with residents and non-resident clients. There are cards and games for them, and local groups sometimes provide entertainment, but much of the time in the homey living room is spent in serious talk.

"We are doing more group work than one-to-one case-work," Miss Fawns said. There are about 80 on the continuing caseload at the moment — many of them living at home, and some in foster homes or boarding houses of sympathetic members of the community.

Cost of providing similar services in conventional agencies would probably be three times as great," she said.

At the Social Planning Council meeting, Miss Fawns was accompanied by Jim Deadman and another staff member, John Rance. All three spoke of the urgent need for a residence for homeless youth in the community.

Even though they may have a home and family, Mr. Deadman explained, it is useless to give them refuge and counselling for three or four days, then put them back into the situation that put them on drugs in the first place.

Although the present limit of from six to eight is the maximum the centre feels it can cope with adequately in the crisis intervention situation, they feel that they could easily fill "three-quarter house" residences with 50 or more young people from Richmond Hill and district who need continuing assistance from YAC counsellors or other youth oriented agencies in the community.

York County Board of Education Attendance Officer David Porter told the social planning meeting that the board also is in desperate need for some sort of residence for young people who cannot live at home, but want to continue their education.

Mr. Deadman agreed. Many of these young people do not turn up at the Youth Aid Centre, even though they have no home and no money. They sleep in all-night restaurants and in old cars.

"I could go to 'The Donut' right now and pick up half a dozen of them."

Asked if private foster homes could fill the need, the YAC workers agreed that they could, but the foster parents would have to be very understanding people.

Mr. Porter spoke of an epileptic youth who had lived at YAC for some time because no one else was prepared to try to cope with him.

"Crisis intervention is not just drugs. If a child is kicked out of his home, that is a crisis, and family disputes are very common," reiterated Mr. Deadman, a slight youth with an earnest expression and moderately short hair.

The youth workers all agreed that three residences for 15 people each would be better than one for 50.

"These kids do not need an institutional or YMCA type setting, they need to be in a home-like atmosphere," Miss Fawns explained.

Social Planning Council President Ian McLean asked if statistical information was available to show the number of cases handled, the cost per case, etc. Such information, he said, was very important if the centre is to justify its existence as a publically financed service in the community.

Mr. Rance replied that he was working with Dr. John Wayne in preparing a breakdown of days of care and cost per case. There have also been assessments prepared by YAC staff, and by Addiction Research personnel.

York Region's Health and Welfare Commissioner is also arranging for a disinterested person to do a complete assessment of the centre, said Miss Fawns. She agreed with Mr. MacLean that the people who pay the bills have a right to know exactly how effectively the money is being used.

There are many invitations, she said, to speak to parent groups, and in this way the door of communication is kept open to the public. And the night staff is often kept busy answering the telephone, listening to people "who just want to talk".

Often the sympathetic listener is all that is needed to help the individual to solve his own problems.

"Christian Renewal"

Services During Lent At St. Mary Immaculate

St. Mary Immaculate, Richmond Hill, is planning a three day "Christian Renewal" for men and a similar 3-day program for women during this Lenten season.

The men's meeting will be held March 21, 22 and 24 and the women's March 28, 29 and 31.

The Sunday, March 21, meeting for men will begin at 7:30 pm and will have as its theme "Why I Am The Way I Am." Mass will be followed by a get-acquainted coffee-klatch.

At the March 29 meeting at 8 pm the women will consider "How Can I Get More Out Of Life?" It will include Mass followed by a social hour.

The March 30 women's meeting also starts at 8 pm with the topic for study being "How Can I Be Happier?" Mass will be included followed by "Questions I Always Wanted To Ask A Priest," coffee and a chat.

The congregation invites non-Catholic friends to share these meetings with them.

RH Free Methodists Hold Renewal Services

Richmond Hill Free Methodist Church is holding its Spring Spiritual Renewal Services this weekend, March 19 to 21. Guest speaker will be Rev. Joe Patterson, pastor of Huntsville Free Methodist Church.

Special music will be provided by "The Singing Snider Family" from Westport. This remarkable family group, made up of Mr. and Mrs. Snider, twin teenage sons and a teenage daughter, have sung all across Ontario and the United States, thrilling people with their inspiring gospel music wherever they have sung.

Sunday, March 21, at 2:30 pm, they will provide a special program of sacred music. This service is open to everyone, with no charge for admission.

Saturday evening is youth night and Mr. Patterson will speak on youth needs. The Snider Family will be singing several numbers especially for young people. The people of the community are invited to share in these services.

Vaughan Interim Tax Levy Due April 15, June 1

The Town of Vaughan will issue an interim tax bill for 10 mills this year; it was decided at council's May 1 meeting.

The 10 mill levy will be due in two instalments on April 15 and June 1.

It was reported that last year when Vaughan levied 7.5 mills in an interim tax bill, due June 1, approximately $1.6 million was collected more than six months before the final levy was mailed. This resulted in a saving of approximately $60,000 in temporary financing.

The new town must meet payments to the York County Board of Education and the Regional Municipality of York on a regular basis, and without an income from taxes would have to borrow the money temporarily, resulting in large interest payments, it was explained.

There's a new world of value at your Pontiac dealer's.

Variable ratio power steering.
While driving on the highway, you've got plenty of road feel. But when parking, the variable feature greatly reduces the steering wheel turns required for tight-space maneuvering. Standard on some Pontiacs, available on all others.

New emission rocker panels.
Reduce salt and water build up, helping to eliminate unsightly rust and corrosion. A feature on full-size Pontiacs that'll pay off at trade-in time.

Side-guard beams.
Increased side impact protection in every door. Originated by General Motors and standard on all 1971 Pontiacs.

Inside hood release.
Stops uninvited hood lifters. Release handle is located under the dash. Standard on all big Pontiacs. Available on trim-size models.

Roomier, quieter interiors.
There's all more room inside, because all full-size Pontiacs ride on longer wheelbases for 1971. New double roof construction is acoustically-designed to absorb sound.

Complete GM safety package.
All 1971 Pontiacs are equipped with GM's complete package of accident-prevention, occupant-protection and anti-theft features.

New seat construction.
The front seats in all full-size Pontiacs feature new molded foam construction for more comfort and durability.

New materials.
Up front all Pontiacs feature rust-resistant fibreglass-reinforced panels. And on all big Pontiacs there's a dent-proof Endurex grille divider.

New emission controls.
Pontiac is doing its part to help clear the air by designing engines that run cleaner and more efficiently. And there's an Evaporative Emissions System on all Pontiacs to absorb fuel vapors.

Power disc brakes.
Power front disc brakes help assure fast, fade-resistant stops under the toughest driving conditions. Standard on all big Pontiacs; optional on trim-size Pontiacs.

Bias-belted tires.
Help improve handling and traction. Bias-belt design also helps increase tire life by resisting flexing, thus cutting heat build up. Standard on all Pontiacs.

Draft-free ventilation.
The vent windows are gone, in favour of Pontiac's powered flow-through ventilation system. It gives you a constant flow of fresh air, and does it quietly. A full-size Pontiac feature.

Power disc brakes.
Power front disc brakes help assure fast, fade-resistant stops under the toughest driving conditions. Standard on all big Pontiacs; optional on trim-size Pontiacs.
