Don Head Posture Queens Hold Heads High

BY PAM OHNO
Friday, October 29 Don Head Secondary School held a Miss Posture Queen Contest. The young ladies participating were: Donna DeWille, Marilyn Bulmer, Gail Moynes, Pam Ohno, Debbie Potter, Cathy Sellick, Darlene Stickland, Brenda Wetmore, Roberta Wirtanen, Darlene Blakelock, Angela Jacques, Debbie Ohno, Maria Pedro, Pam Price, Frieda Skilick, Gina Tortolano and Kathy Wilson.

These young ladies had to walk, stand and sit properly. Many people donated the prizes for this contest including: Patricia Stevens Self Improvement & Modelling Agency, Cheeseborough-Ponds (Canada) Ltd., Markham; Visage Cosmetics, Toronto; Bruno's Hair-dressing; Apollo 11; Rice's Girl Cosmetics, Toronto. Vouchers were donated by Don Head's Food Shop and Dry Cleaning Shop. Five points go to the winner towards her athletic letter and consolation prizes of two points plus Cover Girl lipstick, foundation lotion and compact were awarded to all the 17 contestants.

Waved Shotgun At TV Announcer Local Youth Gets 90 Days In Jail

A young Richmond Hill man in provincial court here on Tuesday of last week found out it costs you 90 days in jail if you use shotgun fire to punctuate a letter of complaint to the local cable television editor. He also had his shotgun confiscated by Provincial Judge Robert Graham.

John Burgin, 21, of 451 Elmwood Avenue, Apartment 302 on August 7, went to the television station at 244 Newkirk Road armed with a shotgun. He made announcer Koop Heibron of 211 Axminster Drive, Richmond Hill, broadcast a correction.

Someone had telephoned the station to report the shotgun-wielding youth was winner of a swimming award. Burgin can't swim but the false news of the swimming award had been broadcast anyway.

Constable Leroy Chance of Richmond Hill Division, York Region, Police, was called to the station and arrived in time to hear Burgin's shotgun fire. Burgin tried to drive away, but the constable blocked him off with the police car.

Failing To Yield Half Roadway His Charge

Fred Campbell, 45, of 115 Chassie Court, Richmond Hill was charged October 24 with failing to yield half the roadway to an oncoming vehicle. The charge followed a 12:36 pm accident on Rumble Avenue at Chassie Court that day.

The alleged offense was termed a "road hog" charge in a report last week in this newspaper, but this isn't the actual wording of the Highway Traffic Act section that applies.

Vaughan's Fire Chief Regional Co-ordinator

Vaughan Town Fire Chief James Davidson was appointed Regional Fire Co-ordinator for York Thursday afternoon of last week.

The appointment came at the regular meeting of York Regional Council in Newmarket.

Chief Davidson will be responsible for establishing an emergency fire service plan and program for the region. He will make recommendations to the Region Council which will be responsible for implementing the plan and program.

He will receive an honorarium of $1,500 per annum and report to the regional council's engineering committee.

Davidson was fire co-ordinator for the former York County Council for 15 years, prior to January 1, 1970 when the new regional municipality was formed.

He has been head of the Vaughan Fire Department for the past 16 years and has a total of 36 years as a fireman at Vaughan and in Mimico.

He is married and lives at 76 Arnold Avenue in Thornhill. His wife's name is Hazel.

Chief Davidson was also secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Association of Fire Chiefs from 1965 to 1970.

Need For Regional Jail In York Broached By Councillor Plaxton

York Regional Councillor for Richmond Hill, Donald Plaxton feels there is a need for a centrally located regional jail and detoxification centre in the region.

Councillor Plaxton observed Thursday afternoon of last week that almost every other large municipality has a courthouse or county jail except York.

"We have an expanding population and I think we should consider the necessity for such a jail here. The increasing volume of criminal cases being processed in the region indicates to me that there is a definite need for such a facility," he said.

Prisoners in York serving sentences for six months or less are presently taken to the Don Jail in Metro which Plaxton described as a place where the general atmosphere and conditions are pretty shocking for anyone to have to spend time in.

"I think this would be the opportune time for us to make some kind of appraisal of the need for a courthouse. It would also provide jobs for people in the area during its construction."

Plaxton acknowledged that the idea of a jail in the area may not be a very appealing thought but if there is social need for such a place we have to consider it.

Councillor Ray Twinney of Newmarket suggested special grants may be available from the province to go toward construction.

Protest Nineteen-Storey Buildings

Board Chairman MacKay protested the layout of the plan which is bordered on the south by the CNR Bypass and on the east by the CNR Bala line. The park and school site are shown on the plan beside the railway tracks, the houses and apartments close to John Street.

The people apparently did not know about the last public meeting at which the plan was discussed, MacKay continued. "The people are not in favor of it. That has come out loud and clear here tonight."

Council has a responsibility to the future, he continued. Young people are saying the older generation is interested only in making money. Young people want the kind of world where there are open spaces, a place to move and breath in. They are anxious to preserve the ecology.

"What we do now will determine what kind of world we have in the future," he said.

TOO LATE NOW
Mayor Roman said it is too late to change the plan now. "Time marches on and we cannot unwind it." It might be possible, he continued, to arrange to follow the basic plan which had the high density by the tracks and the low density at the north end. "It is still in a state of flux."

The school board, he said, wanted a school site by the tracks. They had chosen the site.

"No we didn't," objected MacKay, a Markham trustee on the York County Board of Education and board chairman in 1969 and 1970. At a recent meeting of the board he protested the site location and urged the board not to accept it.

In reply to a question from a ratepayer, Planning Director Kunio Hidaka told the meeting that the southwest corner of the proposed John Street and Bayview Avenue development is zoned for single family dwellings. The developer wants it changed to high density. Low density allows a maximum of 18 housing units to an acre, he explained. High density is 60 or more units per acre.

The North Bayview Secondary Plan has been approved with the exception of a property on the west side of Bayview Avenue north of Laurel Road which belongs to Gulf Oil Company. There will be a Municipal Board hearing on the property on December 8, he said, and council will oppose construction of a Gulf Service Station on the property.

MacKay said Markham Council representatives to oppose high-rise zoning in North York and Steeles and Bayview Avenues, adding "I hope you will oppose it here, too."

ONLY HE KNEW
The only person in the audience who seemed to know what had gone on was Edmund Peachey, 234 Steeles Avenue

RINTOUL - MUELLER
Wed At Waterloo

St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church, Waterloo, Ontario, was the scene of a pretty wedding September 4 at 4 pm between David Alan Rintoul and Claudia Mueller. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rintoul of Richmond Hill, formerly of North Hatley, Quebec, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Mathias Mueller of Waterloo.

The church was beautifully decorated with baskets of white and pink flowers and the guests were marked by white satin bows. Father Layden performed the double ring ceremony and the organist was Bob Rheinhardt.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and alencon lace fashioned on Empire lines, the skirt and long train having lace appliques. Her chapel-length veil was held by a tiara and she carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

The groom's sister, Heather Rintoul was maid-of-honor. Joyce Hackhart was bridesmaid and Beatrice Aber was the little flower girl. All three were gowned similarly in lilac chiffon with matching tiny velvet bows in their hair. They carried baskets of shasta daisies and carnations in shades of yellow.

Ringsbearer Henry Aber carried the rings on a heart-shaped white satin cushion. Best man was Harry Bender and the usher was the groom's brother John Rintoul.

The brides mother wore an ensemble of printed chiffon in tones of green and yellow with matching green satin coat and accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses. The groom's mother chose an ensemble of pink chiffon with matching lace coat and accessories and corsage of white roses.

The reception was held at the Holiday Inn at Kitchener, with a dance following dinner. For travelling the bride wore a dress of brown crepe with embroidered trim, matching accessories and corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

Mr. and Mrs. David Rintoul are now living in Agincourt.

To Survey Hill Market Before Plazas

retail area. The second aspect would be concerned with the planning aspect of developing major corridors in shops of group uses rather than distributing them along highways.

"The effect of a major shift in the centre of population to the south must also be considered," Mr. Rimon said. "I believe that the town should determine first what we need and where."

Councillor Lois Hancey, chairman of council's planning committee, said the staff of the planning department is not sufficiently versed in this type of survey and the work load is too heavy to permit them to undertake it. She said proposed plaza developments would require an official plan amendment as well as a change in zoning.

"Our planning director would be called upon to justify the official plan amendment and he told the committee that he was not in a position to do so," she said.

AGREES ON NEED
Councillor Andy Chateaufort agreed a study is needed. "But I regret the fact that the study wasn't undertaken earlier in the year," he said.

The concern of one interested party, according to Regional Councillor Donald Plaxton, is that the survey will be time consuming and make it impossible for him to line up lessees for the stores until the survey is finished. "However, I believe that two shopping plazas adjoining each other can't survive and it will boil down to which is the better of the two. We are going to be forced into a tough decision about which one we approve," said Plaxton.

Mrs. Hancey said some retail development is being approved, "but this is on land zoned commercial which does not need Official Plan or zoning amendments." She said no formal application from either of the two developers was received until a week ago.

"Planning committee is interested to some extent as to how much commercial development is allowed. But our greatest concern is the planning aspect, and we cannot reach a decision without further information. The planning committee also has to know how the area north of the Elgin is to be serviced and we want that study to proceed," said Mrs. Hancey.

"So for anything not zoned for commercial use we will not take action until the survey is completed," said Regional Councillor Plaxton.

Mayor William Lazenby greeted council's decision with pleasure. Two weeks earlier he suggested council had an obligation to control commercial development. He said he thought his plea had fallen on deaf ears.
