

York Regional Council Approves Day Care Centre For Newmarket

York Regional Council wasted little time getting into the act Thursday afternoon of last week when it approved construction of a 4,000-square-foot day care centre in the Newmarket area. The "act" being the recent announcement by the province that it is allocating a sum of $10 million for building new day care centres. This is a part of a total program to provide winter jobs and to stimulate the economy.

At the same time, council invited the heads of its other area municipalities to assess the needs for day care centres and to make subsequent submissions to the regional corporation.

Newmarket is getting the first bite because it has been working toward such a centre for a number of months.

Another reason is that work was about to commence on renovations of a building for such a purpose in the Newmarket area.

INCREASED SUBSIDY

A communication was read from Social and Family Services Minister Thomlinson Wells saying the province will increase its capital subsidy on new day nursery construction from 50 to 80 percent of the total cost. This will mean 80 percent of the cost of land, of constructing the building, and of equipping and furnishing each nursery.

Wells added a further incentive by announcing that in order to encourage and create jobs for this winter, we are prepared to pay 100 percent rather than 80 percent for all construction completed before May 1, 1972.

Wells also said similar incentives will apply to day nursery construction by local associations for the mentally retarded and multiple-handicapped.

LOCAL INVOLVEMENT

His letter said the province is firmly committing its dollars not only to create jobs but also to make day care a priority. But of course, at the heart of every such social service is local involvement at the community level. There must be municipal participation in order that this new phase of day care can become a reality.

"We would like to see many municipalities across the province begin planning today a day nursery construction program for their community", said Wells.

Approval of requests for day care centres from York municipalities will be assessed in order of priority.

Man Dead At Wheel Police Autopsy Shows

An autopsy has revealed that 87-year-old Fletcher Fulthorp of 17 Rockport Crescent, Richmond Hill, was dead behind the wheel of his car October 7 when it collided with an oncoming vehicle.

The accident occurred on Woodbine Avenue (formerly Don Mills Road) about 7:05 pm, about 1/4-mile south of Bethesda Sideroad.

Also killed was 28-year-old Sylvia Kleinstuber, of Aurora. She was the driver of the other car. Injured was Fulthorp's wife Mrs. Mary Fulthorp, 78.

York Regional Police said Fulthorp died of a heart attack prior to the accident. He then swerved onto the wrong side of the road and hit the northbound Kleinstuber car.

Mrs. Fulthorp was seriously injured but has been released from York County Hospital in Newmarket.

Damage to the Fulthorp car was estimated at $1,500 and to the Kleinstuber car, $1,000.

One victim had to be freed from a wrecked vehicle by Aurora Firefighters. They used metal cutting torches and other tools.

Coroner was Dr. Blair Mitchell of 154 Main Street West, Stouffville.

Investigating officer was Constable Calvin May of York Regional Police. There will be no inquest.
