Apprentices To Be Given Credit For All School Grades Completed

Failure of trade unions and Department of Labor to recognize the technical and vocational training provided by schools has long been a sore point with educators.

Teachers have been frustrated in attempts to persuade students to stay on in school and to get a broader education before going into the working world. Since they knew they would get no tangible credit for the added years of school when they entered their chosen trade, many young people could see no point in "wasting another year."

This is now changed. A new apprenticeship credit system has been developed by the Department of Education in co-operation with the Department of Labor.

Education Minister Robert Welch has announced that technical and vocational students may now get a head start on their apprenticeship training with credits acquired in secondary school.

GET TIME CREDITS

The new program, says Welch, is designed to motivate students more effectively at critical points in their school careers by granting apprenticeship time credits for academic achievement beyond the grade required for entry into a trade.

Technical and vocational students will now be given a 50-hour credit toward their apprenticeship for every secondary school subject credit in technical or related subjects above the apprenticeship entry level.

They will also receive a 50-hour credit for each academic grade level achieved above the apprenticeship grade entry level. The credit hours will be deducted from their apprenticeship training time.

Cite Urgent Jail Need In York Police Chief To Bring In Report

York Region Police Chief Bruce Crawford is of the opinion that there is an urgent need for a jail in the region. But he will look into the matter further.

His comments came at a regular police commission meeting Monday.

They came in the wake of a request by York Regional Council to have the commissions come up with some form of recommendation on the jail idea.

York Regional Councillor for Richmond Hill, Donald Plaxton, recently broached the possibility of locating a regional jail and detoxification centre in the region.

Chief Crawford was requested to prepare a report on the need for a jail and bring it back to the commission. The chief wondered what kind of jail the region was referring to.

"Do they mean a county jail," he said, "or a jail principally for persons who have been remanded for sentencing?"

Councillor Ray Twinney of Newmarket, a member of the commission, commented that "there's no doubt we're in need of a jail in the Region of York. We now have two courts."

He also felt it depended on the region's success in convincing the province. It would be responsible for locating and financing such a jail.

"I think it's something we'll have to give some study in detail to and send the information back to the region," he said.

Commission Chairman Joseph William Lyon ventured the opinion that "the percentage of people being held in jail while their trials are impending has dramatically dropped."

He cited the newly-passed Bail Reform Act which he said was designed to "keep as many people out of jail as possible."

It was at a recent York Region Council meeting that Plaxton observed that almost every other large municipality has a courthouse or county jail except York.

Firefighters Thankful For Help With Old Bell

The historic bell mounted in front of the Richmond Hill Fire Hall on Wright Street now has an attractive roof over it and is lit at night.

The lighting installation was contributed by Tom Finlay of Finlay Electric, 44 Starlight Crescent.

Members of the fire department said the contribution of these two artisans toward completion of the project is much appreciated.

Strengthening Beams For Snow Puts Arena Board $807 In Hole

A deficit for the year 1970-71 of $807.29 was reported Wednesday night of last week at the annual meeting of the Richmond Hill Arena Board.

President Bill McVean told the board that "by and large our operations during the 1970-71 season paralleled that of last year."

Operating costs before depreciation were $3,800 higher than in 1969-70 totalling $115,353.34 (including $14,523 in depreciation). Total revenue amounted to $114,546.05.

McVean noted that included in the operating costs was the engineering study and cost of strengthening the beam structure of the old arena. These costs, coupled with increased costs of utilities (water and gas), were the main items contributing to the added expense, he said.

Cost of strengthening the old arena beams amounted to $6,000 and was described by McVean as one of those expensive but once in a lifetime necessities.

The old arena will now carry up to 50 pounds of snow load on its roof compared to about 10 pounds previously.

REVENUES HIGHER

Revenues exceeded last year by $2,300 with added ice rentals providing the lift. Total ice rental brought in $90,705.27.

McVean said depreciation charges were $4,200 greater than in 1969-70 because of a full year's depreciation on the new arena and finished banquet room.

Debt service interest was a $27,665 charge to operations.

The one new member added was Jack Blyth from the Oak Ridges area.

Former Area Minister Removed By Church

Rev. Calvin Chambers, former minister of Thornhill Presbyterian Church, and most recently minister of First Presbyterian Church, New Westminster, B.C., has been ordered removed from his position by a church judicial commission.

Chambers remains a minister in good standing with the Presbyterian Church in Canada and is eligible for posting to another presbytery.

The four-man commission which ordered his removal was formed to investigate complaints about the introduction of "charismatic renewal," which involves speaking in tongues and verbal outpourings that are supposed to be a form of communication with God.

The ruling of the commission was that Chambers' undue emphasis on this had created tension in the church and adversely affected his usefulness as a minister.

Apprentices To Be Given Credit For All School Grades Completed

Failure of trade unions and Department of Labor to recognize the technical and vocational training provided by schools has long been a sore point with educators.

Teachers have been frustrated in attempts to persuade students to stay on in school and to get a broader education before going into the working world. Since they knew they would get no tangible credit for the added years of school when they entered their chosen trade, many young people could see no point in "wasting another year."

This is now changed. A new apprenticeship credit system has been developed by the Department of Education in co-operation with the Department of Labor.

Education Minister Robert Welch has announced that technical and vocational students may now get a head start on their apprenticeship training with credits acquired in secondary school.

GET TIME CREDITS

The new program, says Welch, is designed to motivate students more effectively at critical points in their school careers by granting apprenticeship time credits for academic achievement beyond the grade required for entry into a trade.

Technical and vocational students will now be given a 50-hour credit toward their apprenticeship for every secondary school subject credit in technical or related subjects above the apprenticeship entry level.

They will also receive a 50-hour credit for each academic grade level achieved above the apprenticeship grade entry level. The credit hours will be deducted from their apprenticeship training time.

Cite Urgent Jail Need In York Police Chief To Bring In Report

York Region Police Chief Bruce Crawford is of the opinion that there is an urgent need for a jail in the region. But he will look into the matter further.

His comments came at a regular police commission meeting Monday.

They came in the wake of a request by York Regional Council to have the commissions come up with some form of recommendation on the jail idea.

York Regional Councillor for Richmond Hill, Donald Plaxton, recently broached the possibility of locating a regional jail and detoxification centre in the region.

Chief Crawford was requested to prepare a report on the need for a jail and bring it back to the commission. The chief wondered what kind of jail the region was referring to.

"Do they mean a county jail," he said, "or a jail principally for persons who have been remanded for sentencing?"

Councillor Ray Twinney of Newmarket, a member of the commission, commented that "there's no doubt we're in need of a jail in the Region of York. We now have two courts."

He also felt it depended on the region's
