They do pretty good in league action which sees teams competing from Kitchener, Oak Ridges, Oshawa (supposed to have a real powerful team), Mississauga and Chingaucousy.

And it's not a humpty-dumpty type of hockey by any means. Some of the teams are stocked with former junior and senior league players. As I said at the beginning: They play it for real. So the next time you see a policeman with a black eye it probably means he's a hockey player in the Southern Ontario Police loop.

I'm only half serious with the above statement but they certainly do like to get in there and mix win for Rams, with Kenneth 4.71 average.

RAMS LOSE

Well, now we can all relax. The Richmond Hill Junior "B" Rams are back with the rest of us humans. They've lost a game. The game being last Friday's 4-1 match to Markham.

It's turning out to be quite a rat race in the Metro Junior "B" loop. Markham, flush from a triumph over the Rams, go out and lose 4-3 to Aurora. It's all so unpredictable. Carry on.

Odd items here: Glad to see Ada Mackenzie of Richmond Hill, a veteran of Canadian women's golf competition is Sean back on the scene after being taken ill while in Winnipeg. Miss Mackenzie, 80, was one of Canada's top all-time female golfers. She won the Canadian Open and Closed titles several times and has captured the Canadian senior women's title eight times.

SATHER, THERE!

Finally:

Some guys just seem to have a way of making money. Oh well, there has to be us other guys to represent the other side. Keep the status quo. The guy I'm talking about is Glen Sather, a utility man and penalty-killer for Rangers. Glen's got to be the most successful utility player in the game. Dig this.

He is the sole owner of three summer hockey schools, including a huge one in Banff, Alberta, that attracts 750 youngsters. He owns apartments, Simpson's-Sears mail-order outlet, a car-leasing operation, and half a gas station. Half a gas station? Guess you can't win them all.

High School By BOB CARTON

Hockey Is Our Heritage Question: What physical endeavor is usually considered to be Canada's national sport? Answer: Hockey, what else.

Yes, even though you may get a rather strong argument from lacrosse fans as well as historians, it is generally conceded that hockey is indeed our national sport or pastime.

Question: What major sport is missing from the extra-mural athletic list when it comes to schools competing against each other. Answer: I will give you one guess. Right again,

This is one area in which the many schools in Counters for Rotary were this particular region seem to have fallen down.

It could quite easily be overlooked if they happened to omit some rather insignificant sport from their athletic program. But, when they leave out a sport which is identified with Canada throughout the world, and which is indeed a part of our heritage, I feel that no real pardonable excuse can be given.

I must say now though, that Bayview Secondary has taken steps in the right direction toward establishing a form of hockey development within the school. Last winter they organized a house hockey league, in which teams representing each individual house played once every six days at the local arena.

Now, while this setup did not have Bayview's local goals. Kevin Mabley playbest players competing against the best from the ed a strong game in goal. other schools, at least it had the boys out playing

This I feel is vitally important if Canada is to remain the supreme country as far as the turning out of players is concerned in future years.

OTHER REASONS

Although I consider that to be the main reason for high school hockey, there are definitely others. Firstly, I believe that there is a desire to have such a league formed. Most schools, if not all, could quite easily find enough interested players to Secondly, hockey would more than likely be considered a major sport in the school curriculum. Therefore it would be an effective way to create spirit within the school and it's students.
