'Get That Snowmobile' Cries May Soon Ring Out In Markham

By FRED SIMPSON

Cries of "get that snowmobile varmint" or "cut 'em off at the next snow drift" may soon be ringing out over the frozen wastes of Markham Town.

At least that's the "key-stone kop" impression received Tuesday afternoon of last week when Markham Town Council made motions toward drafting a bylaw to regulate operation of motorized snow vehicles in built-up areas of the municipality.

A particular opponent of the draft proposal as presented by Councillor Art Bonner was Councillor Norm Tyndall who envisioned costs as high as "$100,000 to enforce such a bylaw."

This caused Mayor Anthony Roman's eyes to pop and he asked Tyndall where he got his figures.

Tyndall reasoned that it was one thing to pass a bylaw but another to enforce it.

"How are we going to enforce it?" he asked. "The only way to do it would be to buy at least two snowmobiles, two trailers for them, and at least six men to operate the vehicles. It could cost this municipality a fortune."

Councillor Bonner agreed that "the question of how we would enforce such a bylaw is a good question. If we left it in the hands of our bylaw officers it would mean they would be working nights because that's when the problems occur."

He said there seemed to be some doubt as to whether the regional police would be the ones to enforce such a bylaw "because it's not been definitely defined as to what the situation is now regarding their handling of bylaw offenses. Some they do, some they don't."

He noted that it would even be a possibility that a municipality "might have to employ a police force of its own to do the job, I don't know."

Bonner added that a bylaw was necessary to act as a deterrent for "most of the people who right now have no guidelines. Of course, you'll always have the lunatic fringe who pay no attention to any laws."

Councillor Tyndall felt most of the suggested regulations in the draft bylaw were now amply covered by laws already in effect.

The proposed draft regulations requires snowmobiles to travel on the right hand side of any road as close to the edge of the pavement as possible. It forbids them to go on private property without permission of the owners. It restricts them to just crossing sidewalks and not driving on them.

They would also be restricted to the hours between 8 am and 11 pm during the week and from 8 am to 1 am Fridays and Saturdays. The 1 am deadline would also be in effect on holiday weekends. Snowmobiles would also be forced to proceed in single file. They would be allowed on municipal property unless otherwise forbidden.

Councillor Tyndall argued that a greater portion of restrictions proposed were already taken care of under provincial statutes already applying to the operation of motorized vehicles and specifically snowmobiles.

Councillor Bob Adams was leery about another aspect of the regulatory bylaw which would allow a snowmobile operator to return from an unrestricted outside area to a built-up area in his vehicle at any hour of the day.

"What's the difference between a snowmobile making a noise at 4 am coming home than one doing the same thing at the same hour in a built-up area where he lives?" he asked.

Adams posed a supposition that a band of snowmobilers could hold a party in "Mayor Roman's barn until 5 am and then head out home in a built-up area and this would be legal."

Mayor Roman accepted the humor of the remark and supposed that if the party took place at Adams' place "in a built-up area they wouldn't be able to drive their snowmobiles home."

Councillor Tyndall got into the act again by putting in a word for the policeman "who might have to work a late shift. He might want to use his snowmobile when he gets home but he wouldn't be able to because of the 1 am deadline. It wouldn't be fair."

Mayor Roman attempted to rationalize the situation by stating there was some kind of regulatory bylaw required "which will, hopefully, please most of the residents on both sides of the question."

He said such a bylaw gives the "municipality the right to enforce the regulation of snowmobiles. You can't do it without a bylaw," he said.

A representative of the Markham Snowmobilers Association was on hand to assure council his members were just as unhappy about the "lunatic fringe" of snowmobile operation "which makes it bad for all of us."

He promised to assist council where possible and indicated the bylaw as drafted by council was a satisfactory one.

It was finally decided to have another go at the snowmobile topic January 25.
