Whitchurch - Stouffville Tax Hike But "Little Change" From 1971

The town of Whitchurch-Stouffville will levy $1,879,052 for taxes this year, up slightly from last and representing a minor tax increase to ratepayers.

The budget was passed by council at the final meeting in June and shows a rise in each of the three areas of the municipality: Stouffville, Whitchurch and Markham.

Education costs were down somewhat, however, with $463,973 being levied for secondary school purposes; $519,475 for elementary schools, $27,002 of which is marked for an area in Markham; and $30,554 for separate schools.

The local municipal levy is $410,000, with another $337,210 for regional purposes.

A breakdown of the budget is as follows: general government, $137,000; fire protection, lights, etc., $99,000; public works, $136,400; garbage disposal, $13,000; parks and recreation, $34,300; library, $15,000; museum, $4,500; planning department, $24,500; other financial expenses, $42,000.

Area charges: garbage collection, Musselman's Lake, $4,800; Federation of Agriculture, $15,040; sewer maintenance, Stouffville, $38,000; debenture, $60,000.

Residential assessment on a $20,000 house in Whitchurch shows taxes up by $21.36 over 1971. The same house in the Markham area will go up $10.84, while Stouffville residents will have an extra dollar to pay.

Using the same $20,000 assessment for commercial and professional purposes, shows an increase of $25.10 in Whitchurch, $10.12 in Markham, and fifty-four cents in Stouffville.

Mayor Ken Laushway commended council for the budget, which he noted was "very little different from last year."

Dynes Win 8 - 2 Domik On Mound

Bob Domik was in good form Tuesday evening as he struck out 14 North York CCM batters, walked three and was the winner of an 8-2 decision for Dynes Jewellers. Losing pitcher was Dave Cranston, who was replaced in the seventh by Kenneth Simpson.

The CCM players threw a scare into the Dynesmen as their first four batters connected for three singles and a sacrifice to push two runs across the plate and give their team a 2-0 lead. But that was their scoring punch for the game.

Dynes trailed 2-0 until the bottom of the fourth when they got four runs back. Kinnerley led off with a single, Downing walked, Kennedy was hit by a pitched ball, Chapman drove in Kinnerley and Downing with a single, followed by Shelston who singled to score Kennedy and Chapman.

The world champions got another in the fifth when Smith led off with a single and Downing drove him in with a double.

The seventh brought another three runs for Dynes as Smith and Downing walked and Smith scored on a fielder's choice on O'Neill. A sacrifice fly by Kennedy scored Downing and a single by Shelston drove in O'Neill.

Shelston and Smith each had two hits.

Trucks Nuisance On Leslie Street

Twenty-eight residents of Leslie Street (north of the Stouffville Road), Richmond Hill, have asked Regional Engineer Denne Bosworth for assistance in improving their plight. A copy of their letter was considered by Richmond Hill Council July 10 and was referred to the bylaws committee, chaired by Ward 5 Councillor Stewart Bell, for possible solution.

The petitioners complained of the tremendous noise and destructive effects of a continuous stream of heavy construction trucks. The letter stated that at times it is almost impossible to carry on a conversation in the garden because of the constant truck noise.

They also complained of the danger from speeding trucks, particularly to the children, and noted that a couple of beautiful dogs have already been killed—"it could very well be a child next time," they say.

DUST POLLUTION
Dust polluting the air, covering trees, gardens, houses (inside and out) and filling the lungs of man and beast and endangering their health was also drawn to the engineer's attention. The letter reports that the periodic application of oil or some other substance might suffice under normal traffic, but due to the enormous size and weight of the trucks, appears to be of no avail.

The letter suggests that the company using the road for the trucks might be asked to find an alternative route on a road designed for heavy vehicles, enforcement of a maximum 30 mph speed limit to cut down the risk of serious accidents, and a far more rigorous road maintenance program. This, it was felt, might make the situation a semi-tolerable one.

COMPLAINTS JUSTIFIED
Mayor William Lazenby said he inspected the road and found the conditions justified the complaints. "The roadway itself has deteriorated to the point the people living in the area aren't going to be able to use it soon. The trucks (which he identified as from the Miller Paving yard on the CFRB Sideroad) have an alternative."

"They can turn north. This is a similar situation to the one we had on Markham Road. After our meeting with the aggregate companies, there was a decrease in heavy traffic on that road, many of the vehicles turning south on Bathurst Street. They are still turning south on Bathurst," said the mayor.

STOUFFVILLE: Miss Edna Pridham was killed recently in Nigeria where she has been serving as a missionary since 1945. She was well known in the Stouffville-Gormley area. Details of the accident are not known.
