world, from 10 am to 11:30 at night, daily). "But this was the first time they'd ever had a Queen, and next year it may be different", Debbie said very pleasantly.

As Queen, Debbie won a whole glamorous wardrobe including: a pearl mink tam (last week she bought a matching muskrat coat with some of her thousand dollar cash winnings); a co-ordinated set of Hunter's green wool-knit outfits including midi and maxi skirts, slacks, two different styled sweaters and a blazer. But these items were put on show in the Women's Building . . . along with her gold Bulova Watch; her fuschia red 'satin lining to match' leather and chrome luggage; her gold charm bracelet . . . with its heart pendant and CNE Crest. And a lovely matching set of pendant, necklace, bracelet, ring, earrings and broach of carved ivory roses, with gold leaves and inset stones of green jade.

However . . . Debbie was far-sighted enough to keep out the $260 "David Rea" navy blue and white satin crepe evening gown (size 10) and she wore this lovely outfit to the Labor Day Parade and the CNE finals.

During the other 20 days, Debbie wore clothes she had made herself (she is an accomplished dressmaker) and others bought from our local Reitman's and Kraemar dress stores at Richmond Heights Centre.

At the preliminaries, which included a luncheon, Debbie wore a navy and white sleeveless, low back, hot-pants flared dress.

On this occasion all 53 contestants acted as hostesses at a table where executives were seated. At Debbie's table, Bill Kostoff of Purex (and from Richmond Hill) was a guest.

But for the finals . . . when she was crowned Queen . . . Debbie wore the white gown seen in her picture. It is full length and made from crimpoline
. . . of which material her mother, Carolyn, says, "Crimpoline is one of the most fantastic materials they have ever come up with."

We noticed in a picture of the Queen and her Princesses, that Debbie was the only one who wore long white evening gloves. She looked . . . and is . . . every inch a Queen.

Delivering a constant flow of power, dependably and safely—that's your Hydro's round-the-clock responsibility.
And because electricity provides so many services so dependably, most homeowners can take it for granted.

And yet, in many homes over ten years old, the quality of service is severely restricted—simply because the wiring is outdated and inadequate.

Rewiring can make a world of difference. In convenience, by providing ample outlets and switches where you want them. In performance, by bringing full power to your appliances so that they can operate at peak efficiency. In safety, by eliminating the hazards of an overburdened wiring system. Good reasons for giving top priority to your home wiring when you consider making improvements.

To find out what rewiring can do for your home, call a qualified Electrical Modernization contractor.
And ask him about the Hydro Finance Plan—an easy way to fit the work into your budget.
