Paranoid Schizophrenic Is Freed

A paranoid schizophrenic who viciously attacked two York Regional Police officers in Richmond Hill earlier this year was convicted in Provincial Court here Thursday of last week. But he was given a chance to go free.

The offenses were committed when the accused man failed to take his pills as ordered by Lakeshore Hospital, a Don Jail psychiatrist told the court.

Charges of liquor possession, creating a disturbance, possession of a dangerous weapon and carrying a concealed weapon were withdrawn by Crown Attorney Frank Moscoff after the middle-aged former World War II British forces officer pleaded guilty through his Attorney Alfred Stong of the Richmond Hill law firm of Lawlor, Leclair, Stong and Nevins.

COLD WAR DEATH

The accused lost a brother under strange circumstances in Vienna at the end of World War II when the cold war with Russia was at its coldest. The doctor said the man's mental illness involved irrational suspensions and grandiose delusions due both to environmental and inherited factors. Like a diabetic charge, he can go free and have no criminal record.

A large fracas Tuesday night of last week at Harvey's Drive-In Restaurant, 9471 Yonge Street South, had its end in court for one of the youths involved. Some of the others were before the court but were re-manded for trial later.

$30. OR 10 DAYS

Leonard Allen, 21, of 60 Birch Avenue, Richvale, admitted committing a common assault on a waiter Michael Pitsidianakis. He was fined $30 or 10 days in jail, with two weeks to pay.

Crown Attorney Moscoff said the incident was one that travelled from Montgomery's Tavern and the Richmond Motor Inn on Yonge Street South to the restaurant and involved a number of youth. Allen was arrested after a complaint from the restaurant that it had been commandeered by a boisterous crowd of young people.

PUNCHED WAITER

Moscoff said Allen was being arrested and was on his way to a police cruiser when he passed a restaurant employee and punched him with a fist on the right cheek, knocking him backward.

Court NEWS

who is fine as long as he takes his insulin, the accused paranoid schizophrenic was fine as long as he took his medication regularly, the psychiatrist said.

The accused man when ill saw himself as a sort of secret special agent of the Queen, Prime Minister and federal police. To him all long-haired young men were Communists and youth meeting places were Communist activity centres, the court was told.

The doctor said it was typical of the illness suffered by the accused that he should see himself as someone most unusual and special, while harboring great suspicion. This could be to the extent he would become detached from reality and could be dangerous.

CONDITIONAL DISCHARGE

Judge Charles gave the accused a two-year conditional discharge, telling him the main condition of the probation was that he attend regularly at Lakeshore Hospital and take his medication as required by his doctor.

The Don Jail psychiatrist said he gave the accused medication by injection during the months since the man was arrested, and had recommended to the hospital that this method be followed to assure the man continued with the proper medication.

If the accused man takes his medication regularly and keeps his illness under control during his two years of conditional discharge, he can go free and have no criminal record.

Allen denied it was a punch, but he admitted pushing the waiter for complaining about what Allen had been doing. This admission was enough for Judge Charles.

Michael Laberge, 18, formerly of Dufferin Street, Vaughan Town and presently serving 15 months in reformatory, admitted stealing a 1970 Mustang car at 12:30 am July 14 from a Highway 7 West car dealer. He was in company with a previously convicted youth Kenneth Fisher, when the car was taken to the Oshawa area and wrecked.

Laberge admitted a previous car theft conviction at Oshawa in April. He was remanded in custody to September 28 for sentence and preparation of a pre-sentence report.

LEFT KEYS IN CAR

He stole a Mercedes car at 3:05 am September 13 belonging to Carl Sottr. It was parked in an underground garage with the keys in the ignition. The accused and a passenger were in the car when it was stopped on Highway 7. Anderson and his companion ran and jumped a fence into the CN yards south of Maple in Vaughan. But they were caught, the court was told.

IDENTIFIED BATTERY

But he was convicted on the evidence of Nesbitt, his foreman carpenter Thomas Mill, and YRP Constable Brian McDonald. Mill was able to identify the battery by some nail marks in the terminals and the constable caught Shepherd with the battery installed in his car, according to court testimony.

Timothy McIsaac, 29, of 2174 Major Mackenzie Drive, Vaughan, was convicted of failing a breathalyzer test. His test reading was 1:40 and he was fined $120 or 14 days, with a month to pay. An impaired driving charge was then withdrawn by the Crown Attorney.

McIsaac was stopped May 31 in Richmond Hill after his car was seen going through a red light on Yonge Street and weaving from side to side, the court was told.

Fined $200 or 30 days for impaired care and control of a motor vehicle was Gordon Ritchie, 63, of 12 Gallacher Avenue, Oak Ridges.

The court was told he was found at 6:20 pm August 15 with his car in the ditch on the south side of Gallacher Avenue with the engine running and being helped out of the car by three other people. He was drunk and had a breathalyzer test reading of 2:50, the court was told.

David Farndon, 18, of Box 86, Yonge Street, Oak Ridges, was fined $180 or 21 days in jail on an impaired care and control charge. He pleaded innocent but was convicted.

A breathalyzer test charge and a February 7 failure to attend court charge were withdrawn after the impairment conviction.

SLUMPED OVER WHEEL

YRP Constable Berend Visser testified he was on patrol at 2:30 am February 6 in Richmond Hill when he found an Oldsmobile car on Norfolk Avenue near Markham Road. The doors were open and someone was pouring gasoline into the car. Farndon was slumped over the wheel.

YRP breathalyzer test expert Constable Paul Craine told the court of the physical tests given to Farndon which led him to conclude Farndon was impaired. He said the breathalyzer readings were 1.70 and 1.80, the equivalent of 4 1/2 twelve-ounce bottles of beer or seven ounces of spirits for someone the size of Farndon.

George Shepherd, 18, of RR 1, Hanover denied stealing a truck battery July 10-11 from Thomas Nesbitt of 5 Woodbridge Avenue, Vaughan.

IDENTIFIED BATTERY

But he was convicted on the evidence of Nesbitt, his foreman carpenter Thomas Mill, and YRP Constable Brian McDonald. Mill was able to identify the battery by some nail marks in the terminals and the constable caught Shepherd with the battery installed in his car, according to court testimony.

WHY NOT OPEN THE DOOR to a WORLD OF MUSIC at COSMO School of Music

Largest Enrolment of Students North of Metro . . .

Our primary purpose in teaching music is to offer an experience which will enrich children's lives in many ways, and increase their understanding and enjoyment of music.

We realize that very few of our students are going to develop into professional musicians, or even continue, in high school and college, to prepare for any kind of career in music.

It is furthermore our belief that music participation and development of skill with an instrument leads to many side benefits not immediately apparent; quicker perception, improved co-ordination, greater over-all alertness, self confidence, and desirable emotional expression and outlet.

In The Spotlight

ent the Ontario Department of Industry and Tourism is displaying six of her one-of-a-kind pieces in their new building at King and York Streets, Toronto.

An active member and sometime stage manager of the CC, Paul Sutton showed me the donation, "The Masks" he has created for the new theatre. Paul does pictures using leather and suede. "The Masks" is white leather on purple suede . . . very outstanding.

We had a delightful listen-in to Andrew Allen's chat with Margot Crack, when Mr. Allen told us, "Of all the stories I've had written about me, only three were accurate . . . and they were written by women." Mr. Allen, who starred in "Once In A Life Time" at Hart House Theatre in 1936 . . . was one of the originators of the Shaw Festival Theatre, at Niagara on the Lake. He is now filming "Godspell" in Israel . . . according to our scouts.

We also talked to Kay Turner, the singing hostess on The Pig and Whistle Show, and her charming daughter Sue. Also present a former actress of the CC and Director Cicely Thomson who is now with the Department of Education's "Theodora", a service organization for youth. Dean Hughes, whose latest book, "And So They Bought A Farm" is now released, is also remembered for his "Stephen Leacock" sketches on TV. And another local author(ess) Heather Smithurst, "Dark Is My Destiny" actively participated in the party . . . out of the spotlight.

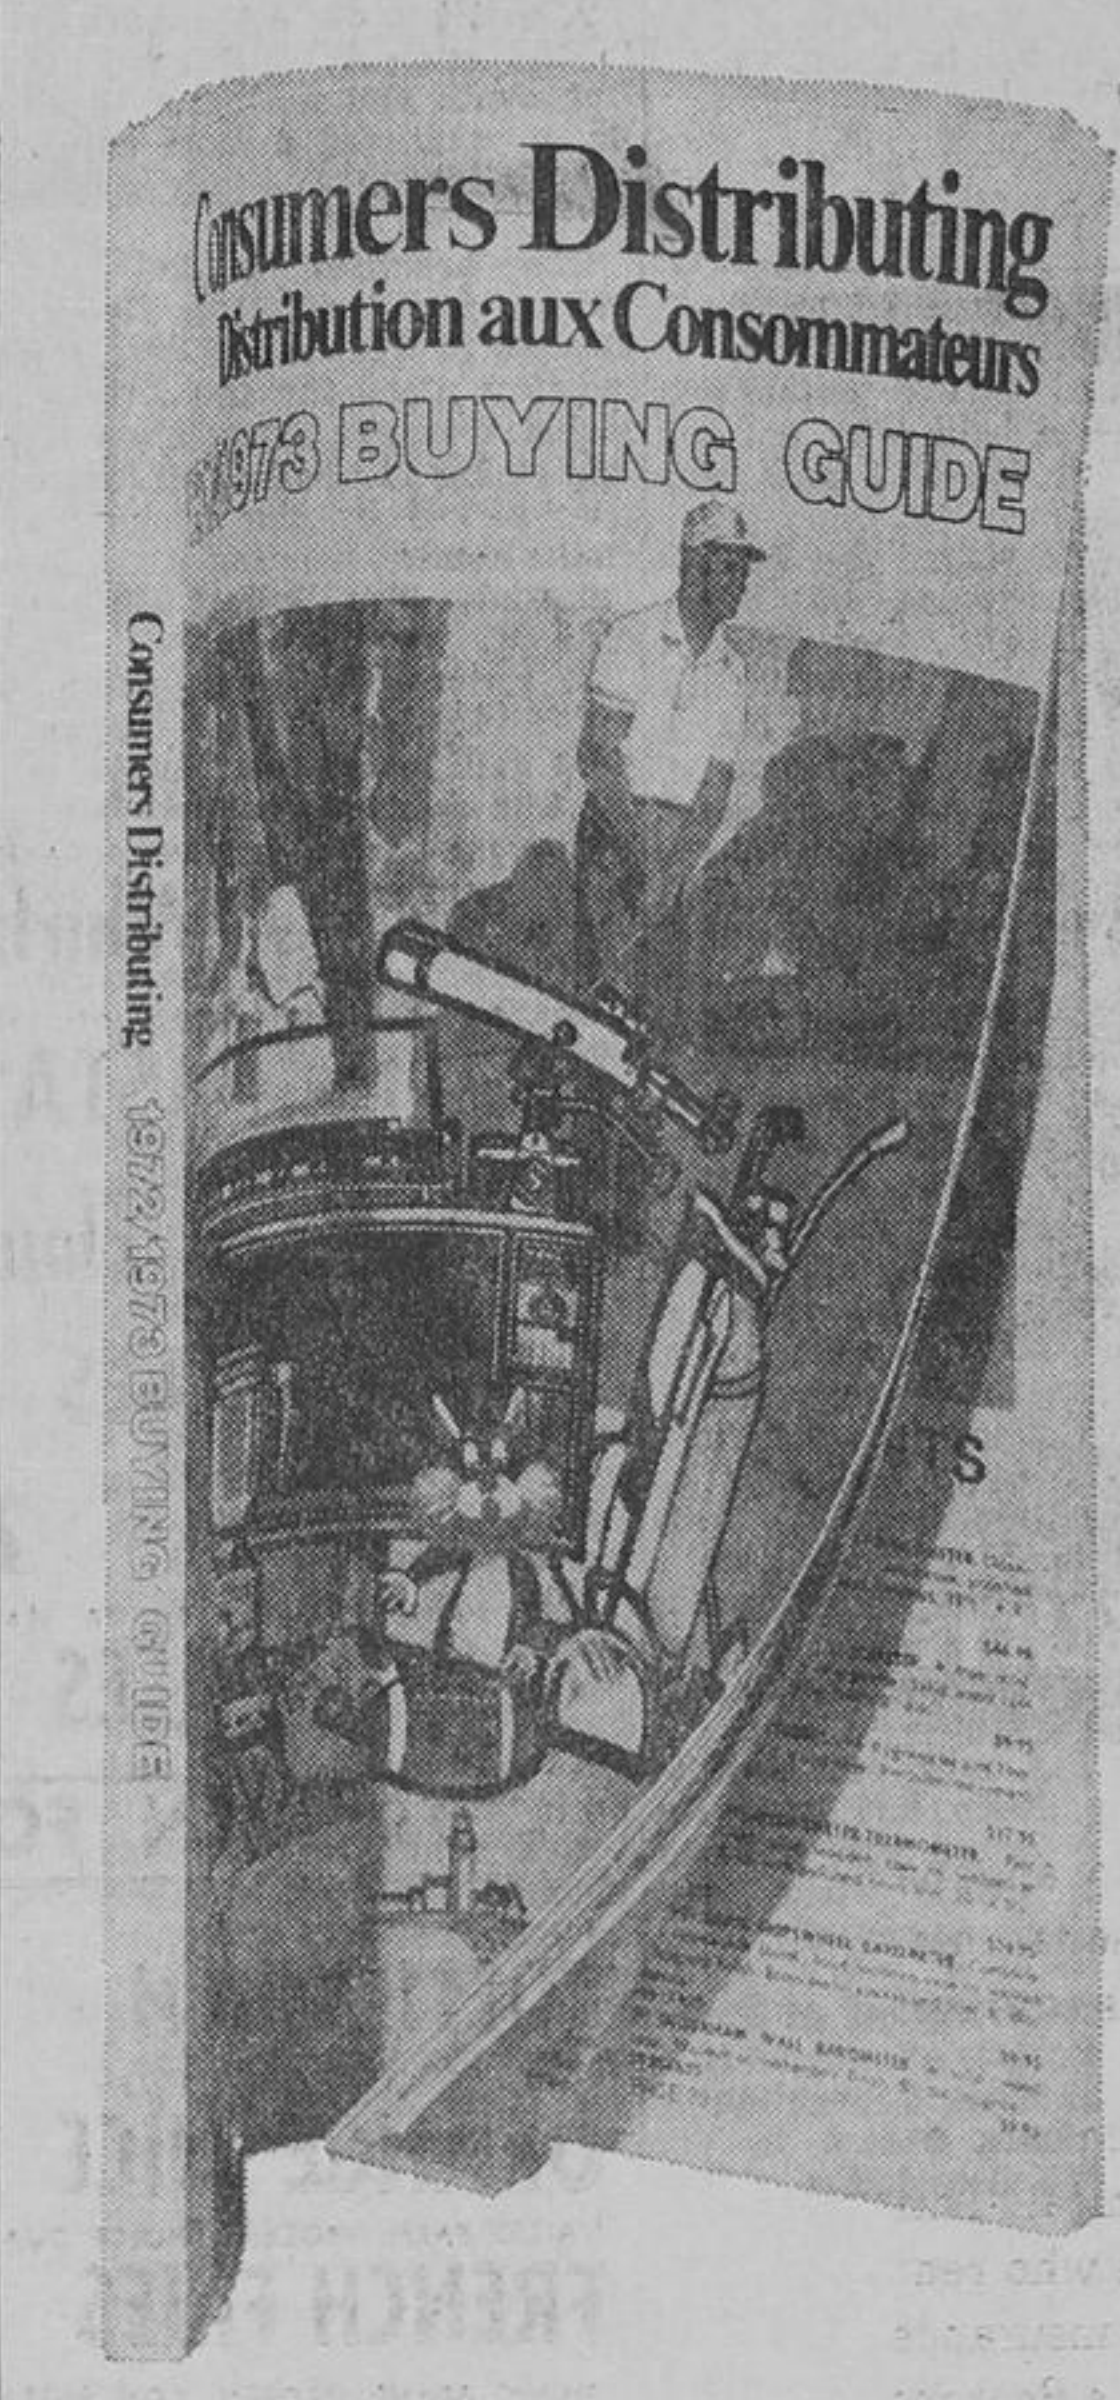

Mayor William Lazenby, his charming wife, Evelyn, and daughters Carolynne and Christine joined the crowd, as did Councillor and Mrs. Shaun Beggs, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Campbell, John Graham, Channel 10 TV and hundreds more from the local and out of town scene.

But as we said, the party was staged by the Richmond Hill Curtain Club . . . and may all their productions in their new theatre on Elgin Mills Road West, be just as successful!

The first production will be, "East Lynne" . . . in December . . . See you there.
