

Kleinburg Man Speaks During International Inventory Conference

Martin Visagie of 180 Camlaren Crescent, Kleinburg, production manager of Rowntree MacIntosh Limited, 72 Sterling Road, Metro, will be one of six speakers in the "Understanding Human Behavior" section of the technical program of the American Production and Inventory Control Society's 15th annual international conference, October 11-13 at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto.

This is the first time the society's annual conference has been held outside the United States and this year there is an unprecedented amount of Canadian participation and many more Canadians are being featured among the speakers, says Visagie, a 4 1/2-year resident of Kleinburg.

The conference will involve 1,500 businessmen interested in improving the standards of inventory and production management. The production control field is felt to be becoming one of the most important functions in Canadian business today, while still taking a back seat to many other management areas.

"The proper co-ordination of purchasing, production scheduling and inventory storage has a tremendous bearing on the selling price of a company's products, in some industries counting for anywhere from 60% to 80% of selling price," according to conference host John Newell, president of the Canadian Association of Production and Inventory Control, an affiliate of APICS.

Vandalism Hits Bizarre Heights

Several bizarre acts of vandalism were reported in the area during the past week by York Regional Police.

Probably the weirdest occurred at Nissan Automotive Company, 177 Snider Croft Road, Concord area of Vaughan.

According to the police report, someone climbed the six-foot chain fence surrounding the premises and started up some of the cars. These in turn banged into other vehicles.

All told 28 cars were involved. No estimate of the total damage was available.

Another wild spree resulted in $1,000 damage being done to an apartment in Markham being vacated by Elizabeth Elliot, 111 Wellington Street.

According to police, three people broke into the half empty apartment at 128A Main Street north and went on a prolonged drinking bout. At the same time they smashed furniture and ripped out wiring.

Police later found a fourth person asleep in the apartment. Lawrence Traverse, no fixed address, and David Pierce, 17, and Bonnie Peters, 18, both of The House of Concord.

At the Bayview Country Club in the Thornhill area, vandals caused more than $500 damage to several greens and trees.

They also scraped the side of a car belonging to the club's chief, causing $150 damage.

NEWMARKET: Mrs. Lisa Lo, at present the assistant librarian at Algoma College, Sault Ste. Marie, has been hired as chief librarian for the town public library. She will assume her duties November 1.

Thieves Cart Away $5,000 In Furnishings Richmond Hill Home

Thieves with expensive tastes and possibly a fast moving van, continue to plague area homes and businesses.

Biggest haul during the past week recorded in the York Regional Police report, came from the home of Lucio Maranzan, 1 Aida Street in the Oak Ridges section of Richmond Hill, where thieves carted away $5,725 in furnishings.

Included were dishwasher, stove and exhaust motor, color television set, stereo, tape recorder and 180 square yards of broom.

Entry was gained through an unlocked door.

Donald Tyler of 55 Wooten Way had a tap deck and 16 tapes taken from his car while it was parked in front of his home September 29.

Even the newspaper business wasn't immune.

Edith Weber, publisher of the Markham Economist and Sun, told police the building had been broken into sometime between September 26 and 27.

The office was ransacked and the would-be thieves wrestled a large safe from the front office into the furnace room, where they tried to open it, but failed.

Lewis Reid, 399 Crosby Avenue, Richmond Hill, reported the theft of a chain saw from the display area of the Markham Fair.

The saw was valued at $139. Richmond Hill also came in for its share of thefts and the odd bit of vandalism.

At Erba Steel, 57 Newkirk Road, vandals painted obscenities on the outer walls, causing $150 damage.

A large stone was thrown through a window in the home of Gilbert Getson, 442 Mary Bay Crescent, resulting in $80 damage.

Ralph Collins, 171 16th Avenue, reported a similar incident at his home.

Ray MacDonald, 170 Duncan Road, told police that seven car tires valued at $140, had been slashed in his backyard.

At St. Mary Immaculate Roman Catholic School, Trayborn Drive, $70 was taken from a desk in the principal's office by someone who entered through a rear window.

About $90 was taken from a cash box at Master Brick Company, 175 Cedar Avenue, Richmond Hill. Thieves pried open a window to get in.

At Surf Marine Limited, 9002 Yonge Street, Richvale, a large quantity of hockey sticks was taken from a rear storage shed.

Soft Spray Car Wash, 76 Bayview Avenue South, reported the theft of a dispenser and towels valued at $125.

A quantity of tools was taken from a tractor belonging to Street Construction Company, 178 Centre Street East, while it was parked on Kersey Crescent, Richvale.

The tools had the initials S.C. on them.

New evidence in the form of a letter from a convicted double murderer in the U.S.A., Richard Anderson, 30, resulted in an order from Justice Minister John Turner last December freeing Shatford and ordering a retrial. Anderson wrote letters to Shatford's wife Rita, clearing Shatford and naming his real partners in the robbery. Anderson was convicted in 1968 for his part in the hold-up.

Two store employees identified Shatford as the gunman in the robbery, but County Court Judge Lloyd Graburn told the jury to bear in mind the fact that there have been a number of instances where honest people have made police line-up identifications and have been proved wrong.

Defense Attorney Roy McMurtly criticized the former Markham Township Police for seeing both Anderson and Shatford convicted for playing the same role in the crime.

Jail Suspended Driver After Wreck

Driving while suspended land a young man in jail Thursday last week at Richmond Hill Court while another very nearly was jailed.

One took a car and wrecked it while the other was checked by police at 125 mph down Yonge Street through Richmond Hill.

George Sobala, 20, of 288 Kenilworth Avenue, Toronto, admitted taking and wrecking a car left running in front of 30 Yonge Street South, Richmond Hill on the evening of September 11.

Crown Attorney William Rankin said the sentence should be nearer to the maximum for joy riding because of Sobala's record and because he was being allowed to plead guilty to a lesser offense. Charges of car theft and possession were withdrawn by the Crown.

Rankin said Mrs. Turner left the car and went inside, coming out just in time to see it going up Arnold Street. While she called police her husband followed her car in another car.

WRECKED CAR
Sobala smashed up the car at Vaughan Road and Bathurst Street, after which Turner arrived and took Sobala to York Central Hospital. There Sobala was later arrested by York Region Police, the court was told.

Sobala had been drinking from noon to 8 pm and when he saw the car empty and running decided to take a joy ride. His bad and varied criminal record included breaking and entering, obstructing police, vagrancy and previous driving offenses.

"If you kill somebody else's children, nothing can bring them back. You're a menace. If you hadn't pleaded guilty, you would have gone to jail for three months," Judge Charles told Hans Vanheeswyk, 26, of Brampton, the father of two children.

"You have a very bad driving record, including speeding and impaired driving," said the judge.

The defense attorney said most of the offenses were during the time the accused was driving a truck for a living.

BOUNCING CAR
Crown Attorney Rankin said Vanheeswyk was caught driving July 8 while his license to drive was suspended for a previous offense of failing a breathalyzer test. York Region Constable Ronald McCulloch was northbound in a marked cruiser near the Summit when he met a car bouncing south on Yonge at high speed.

A chase at 125 mph ensued through extensive heavy traffic with the accused's car "fishtailing". The accused stopped in the intersection at a red light with the motor steaming and the cruiser caught up. He had no shirt, was unco-operative and resentful. His breathalyzer test reading was 1.40, the court was told.

CANADA-WIDE PROHIBITION
Crown Attorney Rankin said driver impaired driving and breathalyzer test charges when Vanheeswyk admitted the charge of suspended driving. He said

Truck Upsets Over Oncoming Car

Three local motorists suffered minor injuries and one was charged with careless driving when a stake truck rolled over upon an oncoming car at 11:55 pm Monday of last week on Bayview Avenue north of Highway 7 East, according to York Region Police. Several other local crashes resulted in careless driving and other Highway Traffic Act charges.

Charged with failing to yield while leaving a private driveway in a collision opposite 119 Carrville Road at 6:30 pm Friday was Carlo Porretta, 40, of 73 Hullmar Drive, Downsview. His vehicle had about $100 damage.

$450 DAMAGE
There was about $450 damage to the other vehicle driven by Barbara Davis, 37, of 131 Oak Avenue, Richvale.

Also charged with careless driving and with about $700 damage after a 5:30 pm Thursday last week crash opposite 95 Weidrich Road, Richvale, was Eric Staples, 17, of 265 De-maine Crescent, Richmond Hill, police said.

HIT PARKED TRUCK
The other vehicle in the crash was parked and belonged to Weldrich Construction Company, Richvale. It had about $100 damage to the rear, police said.

Facing a Highway Traffic Act driveway leaving charge also was Bonnie Celsie, 18, of 95 Sussex Avenue, Richmond Hill after a 1:10 pm Tuesday of last week bump opposite 160 Essex Avenue near Markham Road. Her car had only about $15 damage.

There was about $250 damage to the other vehicle driven by Dick Verbeek, 47, of 244 Essex Avenue, police said.

Charged with careless driving and failing to yield after a 5 pm Saturday collision on North Wilcox Road at Wildwood Avenue was Thomas Moore, 23, of 7 Lakeside Crescent, Lake Wilcox. He had about $100 damage.

There was about $200 damage to the other vehicle driven by Richard Evans, 51, of 9 Wildwood Avenue, Lake Wilcox, YRP said.

Without injury but with $1,000 damage to his car and $250 damage to a smashed fence and hydro pole at 7:45 pm Friday on King Sideroad east of Bath-

Acquitted In Retrial Of Thornhill Robbery After 16 Months Jail

A 1967 Thornhill GEM Store robbery case apparently was finally wound up in County Court last week with the acquittal of a man who had already spent 16 months in jail before getting a seven-day retrial.

Ronald Shatford, 40, of Toronto, a man with a long criminal record including armed robbery, was acquitted by a jury of 10 men and two women after less than an hour of deliberation. He was convicted in May 1970 of the $7,800 GEM Store robbery on Yonge Street north of Steeles Avenue and sentenced to 20 years in prison.

New evidence in the form of a letter from a convicted double murderer in the U.S.A., Richard Anderson, 30, resulted in an order from Justice Minister John Turner last December freeing Shatford and ordering a retrial. Anderson wrote letters to Shatford's wife Rita, clearing Shatford and naming his real partners in the robbery. Anderson was convicted in 1968 for his part in the hold-up.

Two store employees identified Shatford as the gunman in the robbery, but County Court Judge Lloyd Graburn told the jury to bear in mind the fact that there have been a number of instances where honest people have made police line-up identifications and have been proved wrong.

Defense Attorney Roy McMurtly criticized the former Markham Township Police for seeing both Anderson and Shatford convicted for playing the same role in the crime.
