Junior drama classes are beginning again at the Curtain Club, and there is room still for a few more children. The course runs ten weeks under the capital direction of Miss Joni Clavir. For information call 884-4117.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Perkins, 110 Church Street South, are home from a trip to the West Coast. After touring through the Canadian West, they travelled down the Pacific Coast to California and returned by way of Yellowstone Park.

The champion team of the Mosquito soccer league and their coach, Paddy MacNamara, were guests of their sponsor, Perri's Fruit Market, at a celebration dinner at Summit View Restaurant Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clifton, 105 Wood Lane, were present October 21 at the fall convocation at Atkinson College, York University, to witness the graduation of their daughter, Mrs. Jane de Arnot, as a bachelor of arts. With them were Mrs. Harold Agg, Mrs. Stuart Harwood, and Mrs. de Arnot's husband, Arthur.

Richmond Hill's State Farm Insurance Agent Jim Granger, Yonge Street South, was one of the guests of honor at a dinner given by the company at Ports of Call in Toronto on October 19. For his 20 years of service with the company he received a gold tie clip with diamond inset.

Anglicans of Richmond Hill will join others in the Deaconsry in a Festival of Faith in All Saints Church, King City, at 7:30 pm Sunday. Bishop Allen Read will talk about the faith and the task of the church. The people of All Saints are celebrating the 115th anniversary of the founding of their parish.

It was fun and frolic at the Presbyterian Church Saturday evening as the Mary and Martha Guild sponsored a Halloween Laugh-out. Members of the congregation presented a program of skits and the evening featured a parade of Halloween costumes and youngsters and refreshments.

Three children were baptized at the Sunday morning service in St. Mary's Anglican Church. They were Maria Beth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bunker; Jon Erik, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erik Campbell-Smith and Jason James, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mills.

Hymn books for use in the John Spanner Chapel of Richmond Hill United Church were dedicated during the Sunday morning service. These hymn books were presented in loving memory of William Dods, Mr. and Mrs. Nixon Fisher, Harold Astin, James Etphen, Lena Clubine, Emily Anderson, Edna Izzard, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Wilson, William Sayers, Mrs. Nathan Hicks and Richard Codresco.

Two elders from Richmond Hill Presbyterian Church, William Mirrieles and Gus Van Weert, returned Sunday from a three-day conference of elders at the Presbyterian Theological College at McGill University in Montreal.

The local men found the conference, led by Professor Joseph McLelland and Dr. Joseph Bell, acting principal of the college, very interesting and stimulating.

Produce Manager Passes Suddenly

Arnold Kingo Hansen, who was the produce manager of the local Loblaw's for the past 12 years, passed away suddenly October 29 following surgery at Toronto General Hospital. He will be missed by a large circle of friends and customers.

Mr. Hansen was born in Denmark 48 years ago and came to Canada in May 1951. After employment in nursery work he joined the Loblaw's organization in 1952. He also operated his own nursery business under the name of Concord Nurseries.

He was a resident of Dufferin Street, Concord. He is survived by his wife, Gerda; four daughters, Ann, Jane, Debbie and Vivian and one son, Garry.

The funeral service was held Tuesday at the Marshall Funeral Chapel, Richmond Hill, with Rev. John Arbuckle of Zion Lutheran Church officiating. The service was followed by cremation.

York Highlands Sweet Adelines had a guest night at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic School in Aurora on Monday. The chapter usually meets at the school on Tuesdays at 8 pm. Women who like to sing and want more information may call Helen Denton, 884-7803 or Betty Farquharson, 773-5372.

The UCW of St. Matthew's United Church is inviting the public to join them for dessert and coffee Friday at the church, 333 Crosby Avenue. This is the evening of the church's annual fall bazaar. Booths will be open from 7 to 9 pm selling toys, novelties, baked goods, white elephant surprises, a tea court and a fishpond for the children. Conveners are Bev MacDonald and Elline Munroe.

On October 12 the junior auxiliary (candystrippers) of York Central Hospital held a very successful fashion show at Don Head Secondary School.

The garments shown were made from Simplicity style patterns for the teenage wardrobe. Commentator Linda Pugsley, a representative of Simplicity, is a native of Richmond Hill.

Children in grade 6 and lower preparing for confirmation at St. Mary's Anglican Church meet each Thursday from 4:30 to 5:30. Grades 7 and up meet either Wednesday or Thursday at 7 pm. Any young person who did not attend this past week may still enter one of these classes.

Adults and enquirers meet on Thursdays at 7:30 pm beginning November 9.

Duplicate Bridge
Winners at the duplicate bridge club October 23 were Bob and Edna Dunn with a tie for second place between John Hall and Paul Richardson and Edythe Turp and Aleda McBride.

On Friday Stewart and Marie Cole were in first place and Bob and Freda Homes second. A Swiss team tournament will be held November 17. New members and guests are welcome to participate. All teams must register in advance. Phone Marie Cole, 773-4280.

The girls of Lawlor, LeClaire, Stong and Nevins held a miscellaneous bridal shower in the office lounge and a dinner party at the Black Hawk Inn October 23 for Carol Thackeray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thackeray, whose marriage to Tom Swabey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Swabey, takes place in Holy Trinity Church, Thornhill, December 8.

Those present were Olivia Tomasson, Gail Lloyd, Kathi Anderson, Mrs. Thackeray—mother of the bride—Beverley McCloskey, Kathy Ross, Jean Thompson, Doris Robinson, Margaret Lewis, Jackie Danter, Shirley Thackeray—the bride's sister—Dorothy McKay, Louise Almond, Gladys Fear and Mona Robertson.

The Kinsmen Club of Richmond Hill were hosts to the Kinsmen Club of Burlington at a meeting in Richvale Lions' Hall on October 19. Conveners and deputy governors from both districts were also present.

Ken Foss of Richmond Hill radio station CFGM was guest speaker. He gave a talk on his favorite subject—sports. The business of the evening was brief and fellowship at a high peak. Past President Peter Van Hoof took home two live chickens. What is Kinsmen all about? If you are interested call Expansion Chairman Jim Wessels, 889-1082.

The Curtain Club cordially invites those who have given loyal support to the club since it was founded 17 years ago, to be present at the first performance in the new Curtain Club Theatre at the corner of Elgin Mills and Newkirk Drive in Richmond Hill.

"East Lynne" by Ned Albert is the play. It is not an old and creaky version of the daddy of all the old-fashioned melodramas founded on Mrs. Henry Wood's immortal novel. It is a sparkly and streamlined farce under the able direction of Tony Miller. Members of the cast are Yvette Steels, Dennis and Anita Stainer, Ron Scott, Helene Knight, Trevor Stanley, Heather Smithurst, Paul Sutton, Louise Monks, Iris Stringer and Kay Turner.

Dates are December 2, 6, 7, 8, 9, and 13, 14, 15, and 16. Tickets are $2.50 and may be obtained by calling Audrey Randall-Smith at 884-6052.

Miss Louise Brewer of Alper Street, who entered Toronto East General Hospital October 17 for spinal surgery, is progressing favorably. She expects to get home within a week or two for the remainder of her convalescence while she is in her cast.

Louise wishes to thank her friends and neighbors for their "get well" wishes and for their thoughtfulness during her hospital confinement. She looks forward to seeing them all when she gets home.

TOPS Chapter ON80 of Richmond Hill reports another success. Another of its members, Josephine Crowston, had finally reached her goal with a new slim figure. TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) members must maintain their new level of weight for three months to graduate to KOPS (Keep Off Pounds Sensibly).

Anyone interested in joining the club, to present a new slim figure for the festive season contact Cathie Nichols, 889-5588 for information.

Councillor Lois Hancey faced a very receptive audience when she visited Beverly Acres Public School in response to an invitation from staff. According to school Librarian Iris Pratt, the 230 grade 5 and 6 students who made up the audience spent a most informative afternoon. Mrs. Hancey, said Mrs. Pratt, has a friendly and forthright way with children and answered all the many varied questions in as concise and simple a manner as possible necessary for children this age.

Mrs. Hancey left copies of her talk on citizenship and civic responsibility as well as her own "Basic Guidelines for Federal Elections" for teachers to use for reference in future studies of citizenship.

Nursery School can be fun and educational for parents as well as pre-schoolers. And Top O' The Hill parents who attended the annual meeting October 19 of Richmond Hill's first co-operative nursery school would be the first to agree.

The school is located in Wrixon Hall, St. Mary's Anglican Church. School is just a month underway for this season, and the youngsters are well into a program of music, crafts, free art and learning to get along in the world with other people big and little.

President Jim Maltby chaired the meeting in the chapel of the church. Minutes of the last general meeting presented by Secretary Betty Gillespie included an impressive list of accomplishments and special events at the school under direction of Mrs. C. Fritzsche.

Slides of the children at work and play and a film following development through the fours to fives rounded out the program. It was reported that there are still a few openings at the school, phone 884-7012.

The youth group at St. Mary's Anglican Church spent Saturday making aromatic mincecmeat for sale at the Centennial Year Christmas Shoppe to be held at Wrixon Hall November 11.

Men and women, boys and girls are all involved. R. D. Little's plant table will have African violets donated by Will Young and dried flower arrangements by Marg Rumney. Dawn Osmond's country kitchen, Ruth Lepper's bake table, Jean Barber's candy booth and Don Hick's casserole corner expect fast sell-outs.

Anja Beggs will include stuffed animals in her doll booth. Audrey Arsenault is in charge of knitted articles, and Gail Widomski's booth features hand sewing. Thelma Long expects a good display of aprons for men as well as women.

Sherie McGuire will offer candles; Audrey Armstrong convenes the home boutique; Beth Purvis and Ruth McLean Christmas trims, and Shirley Middleton's group will offer handicrafts.

Other conveners are Jessica Phillips, library section; Audrey Walker white elephants; and Anne Folk baby sitting. Shirley Middleton and Gayle Brillinger will be in charge of the tea room, and Marg Rumney in charge of decorating.

The old fashioned Christmas tree will be decorated with strings of popcorn and hand made decorations created by Alvie Hill's church school group, and many of the workers will be in centennial dress for the occasion.

Richmond Hill Senior Citizens' annual bazaar Friday was officially opened by Councillor Lois Hancey. She was introduced by First Vice-president Joe Horner and presented with a beautiful baby mum plant.

Mrs. Hancey responded with a warm welcome to everyone. The tea room was then opened and refreshments were served by Bea Cook and her committee.

The bazaar was a big success. There was a draw for two quilts made by the seniors, and winners were Mrs. George Green and Mrs. Sheldon. There was also a draw for two dolls donated by Vi Clark. Winners were Mrs. Tolchard and Wendy Wist. Bazaar Convener was Vi Clark.

The senior citizens were entertained by the ladies auxiliary of Branch 375, Royal Canadian Legion, on Friday evening. The show opened with a presentation of singing and dancing from "The Girl of the Golden West" produced by Gloria Sanford and her helpers.

The senior citizens' Past President Stew Macpherson and seniors Ann Dewsbury and Vi Clark were called to the platform to join the cast in leading a sing song.

Two large cakes inscribed with the words, "To the Senior Citizens of Richmond Hill From The IODE Chapter, Richmond Hill, Happy Times" were cut and served along with tea and ice cream.

The senior citizens say many thanks to Gloria Sanford and her Belles of the Golden West and to the ladies of the IODE.

Despite the rain and the mud, the 2nd Richmond Hill Guide Company went on a hike through Boyd Conservation Park last Sunday. Patrol Leaders Sharon Creasor, Krista Kunsmann, Kim Robberly, Jane Sikorski and Kimberley Thomas ventured on their own to qualify for their hiker's badges.

Nature, stalk, trail tests and others were passed by Janet Hodgson, Kathy Kuruliak, Cindy McCully, Karen McPhee, Sandra MacMillan, Susan Ogden, Sherry Quinell, Kelly Quinell, Janice Shelton, Christine Skinner, Mary Vent, Louise Whitten, Jennifer Wood and Louise Zuraw.

The Guides cooked lunches over an open fire and roasted marshmallows.

The company and its leaders, Company Leader Kim Williams, Lieutenant Carrol Thomas and Captain Ursula Kunsmann express their gratitude to the parents and to Miss Thorpe of the True Blue Orange Home for their help and co-operation. Special thanks to Mrs. R. H. MacMillan, Mrs. R. W. Pack, Mr. R. D. Skinner, Mr. R. Thomas, Mr. W. Vent, Mr. J. Wood and Mr. J. Kunsmann who provided transportation to the conservation area.

The boom in new "miracle fabrics" had resulted in confusion and bewilderment in the minds of those who sew and care for them. To help the consumer meet the challenge, the Consumers' Association of Canada is sponsoring a fabric fair at 8 pm November 8 at Richmond Hill United Church.

Mrs. Eva Gramsch from Sew Right Textile Warehouse will demonstrate sewing techniques and her daughter will model garments made from stretch and knit fabrics. There will also be a display of a wide selection of new fall and winter fabrics. Admission is free and refreshments will be served.

A reminder—the consumers' glass bins have been removed from Richmond Heights Centre and are now located in Newmarket. First Beverly Acres Club Pack has really been working this year. Badges earned were: pet keeper, Robin Smalley; team player, Kevin King and Gordon Brown; swimmers (beginners) Tom Broadman and Ted Broadman; artist, Doug Duce.

Two stars have also been earned. A great deal of work is necessary for a Cub to earn a star. Congratulations to Ted Broadman—black star—and Gordon Brown—green star.

Award for the Best Apple Day Basket was won by Wayne Langdon. Wayne was invested recently and welcomed into the brotherhood of scouting by Rakshaw Moyra Broadman.

The Cubs have again visited the David Dunlap Observatory. Many thanks to the staff who assisted in this venture and to the interested parents who attended.

Richmond Hill Kinettes Win Second Award

More than 90 Kinettes attended a dinner meeting sponsored by Richmond Hill Kinettes at the Black Hawk Inn October 16 when Alan Spraggett of Thornhill was guest speaker.

The Kinettes are an auxiliary to the Kinsman Club, and may members from other clubs in the region were present for the dinner. Mr. Spraggett, a journalist and radio personality, is known primarily for his interest and research in "The Unknown". In his talk he cited documented incidents that have confirmed his belief in extra-sensory perception.

For two consecutive years 1971 and 1972, Richmond Hill Kinettes have won awards for being the junior club donating the most money to the Kinsmen Cystic Fibrosis

Foundation in District 8 (most of Ontario).

They have also donated to the internationally known Kinsmen Institute for research in mental retardation at York University; given nursing scholarships for deserving students from Richmond Hill; helped with the March of Dimes, the Cancer Society, and assisted other community individuals and organizations. Volunteers regularly visit the Villa Hospital, and the Club has adopted a Korean child.

Guests last week of Rev. and Mrs. William Wallace were Mr. and Mrs. F. James Caselle from Brockton, Massachusetts and Salmouth, Cape Cod. During their visit at the Presbyterian Manse, the Caselles accompanied Mrs. Wallace to a fellowship luncheon next door, at St. Mary's Anglican Church. The Caselles were members of Rev. Wallace's congregation when about 15 years ago he served a pastorate in Brockton.

David Rabinowitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rabinowitch, 310 Kerrybrook Drive, is showing his latest works at Carmen Lamanna Gallery in Toronto. An earlier show of sculptures in huge hot-welded steel masses created quite a stir in the art world. The new show, which continues to November 16, involves similar explorations between man and material.

The CGIT of St. Matthew's United Church are well into their new year with President Kim Robbins, Secretary Davina Daniel and Treasurer Laurie Powell. There was a CGIT graduation ceremony at the morning church service October 22. The service was conducted by Davina Daniel, and the CGIT formed the choir. Graduating were Nancy Stoness, Pauline Daniel, Karen Miller and Sandy Wilson. The graduation was followed by a dinner for the graduates and their parents. The CGIT had their Halloween party last Monday.

Newspapers for recycling will be picked up Friday between 3:30 and 4:30 pm by students of Richmond Hill High School. The area to be covered by the students takes in Richmond Hill west of Yonge Street from Elgin Mills Road to Major Mackenzie Drive. Please have papers securely tied in small bundles and placed at the end of the driveway. If it is a wet day, cover the papers with plastic.

As with all of us, recognition of good work is music to the musician's ears, and York Regional Symphony is very happy to be one of 20 community orchestras listed as recipients of a $1,000 grant from the Ontario Council for the Arts. It has also received a $250 grant from the Town of Aurora. The orchestra, which rehearses in Richmond Hill on Sunday evenings, is conducted by Philip Budd who is also music director for the YRS. Assistant music director is Andy Twa. Both are Metro residents.

ANOTHER $500. WINNER IN Y.C.A.M.R. "500" TOKEN No. 362 MR. BILL GARFAT TORONTO, ONT.

Members of Court Simcoe 1314 Independent Order of Foresters and their friends enjoyed an interesting tour of Christie Bakeries on October 14. They particularly enjoyed the transportation—a double decker London bus. Following the tour their hosts provided refreshments, including an assortment of their cookies.

The YRS new executive is headed by President Beth Harwood and Vice-President Les Stanley, both of Richmond Hill. Past President is Edith Dunn; Secretary Sheila Roberts and Director Mona Perry of Newmarket. Treasurer Louis Fishman is from Downsview and Student Representative Mike Reesor from Maple. Membership Secretary Phyllis Baque and Director George Mills come from Toronto. Victor Atherton of Newmarket is responsible for publicity.

Think S

The UCW of Richmond Hill United Church held a general meeting in the church parlour October 23, starting with dessert and coffee and a rousing sing-song led by Mrs. LeRoy Toll, president of the Toronto Conference of Women. The worship service in the chapel was conducted by Mrs. Helen Kingsley, who used a banner with the words "Love and Serve" as the theme of her message. Acting President Mrs. Marjorie Watters introduced Mrs. Toll who proved to be a most enthusiastic and fascinating speaker. She gave an account of some of her work and experiences in many parts of Ontario and around the world.
