Innocent Suffering Because Of Delays Richmond Hill Court

The problem of almost endless Richmond Hill court delay in dealing with criminal cases because lawyers are repeatedly absent in higher priority courts was discussed Thursday of last week by Provincial Judge Russell Pearce and Assistant Crown Attorney John Kerr.

It was suggested that in such instances lawyers should be required to hand their case over to another lawyer, as is the practice in some other jurisdictions.

Crown Attorney Kerr described the present situation as very tragic. People are innocent until proven guilty, he said. Because they are being brought back to court time and time again, the innocent are therefore suffering unduly. "I don't know how they keep up with jobs and responsibilities," he said.

Dealing with the case in hand, Judge Pearce noted it was the second court date upon which the lawyer for the accused was called to another court.

"In these matters he should hand his brief to another lawyer. Theoretically these delays could go on forever, although of course they're not likely to do so," said the judge, setting a new day for the lawyer and accused to appear.

Improve Guidance - Cousens

Preparing today's students for tomorrow's opportunities is one of the major planks in Don Cousens' platform as a candidate for one of the five seats of the Town of Markham will have on York County Board of Education for the next two years.

As a businessman and a taxpayer, says Cousens, he is concerned with the high cost of education. Since the regional board was formed in 1969, he asks, "How much has the cost of education per capita gone up? What does a cost analysis show comparing the costs five years ago and now? Are we getting the best value for our dollar?"

STUDENT GUIDANCE

Student guidance is also a major concern, says Cousens. "Students today require direction. They leave our school system and do not know what to do or where to go. Surely we can do more in our schools to guide and direct them. Student guidance must be given more attention."

A man who has himself had two careers, Cousens is also concerned that York

Consultant Jack Christie Seeks Ward 1 Markham Seat

Jack Christie, 32, a resident of the Baywoods area of Thornhill, has been nominated as a candidate for Ward 1 in the Town of Markham.

Christie is self-employed and the president of a diversified investment company and a management services firm. He is also a director of three other firms.

Raised in North York, he was educated in Toronto and was employed by General Motors of Canada for four years before leaving to start his own management company in 1964.

Currently, he is the Baywoods Residents Association's liaison with the town council, and is a member of the Thornhill Montessori School Parents Guild. He has served on the United Appeal, the Junior Board of Trade, and is a former vice-president of the Board of Directors of Big Brothers of Metro, serving as chairman of several committees. Christie and his wife Karen, a former teacher, have two sons, Adam 18 months and Todd 4, the latter currently attending the Montessori School on Bayview at Highway 7.

He feels that the issues of parks and recreation facilities, piecemeal land development, library services, water quality, and many others, are indeed very important and are issues that all candidates agree on. But these may very well remain only terms of council rather than realizations. Only if the voters choose a representative who has the training and experience of a successful corporation executive, who can effectively deal with the making of correct decisions.

Greg Binkley tied the game at 14:28 when he backhanded a shot home from in front of the net. Assist went to Bob Bangay and Bill Stephenson.

Tony Bellevance made it 2-1 at 17:22 with a typical effort for him as he carried down ice, faked around and through a Weston defence man, and put a quick rising shot behind goalie Steve Hain.

It was also a typical goal by John "Digger" Dunkley at the 19:48 mark of the first when he sped in to drive home Dave Lumley's hard rebound shot while sliding on his stomach.

The same Dunkley made it 4-1 at 9:31 of second period when he was in perfect position to sweep the puck home from in front of the net. He was set up beautifully by Lumley who carried into the corner before passing out. Alex Pirus received an assist on the play.

The entire Richmond Hill team came up with a solid effort and appeared to be in command most of the way. It was a reasonably penalty-free game with little body-checking or misdemeanors or any kind.

It was Weston's Tim Ampleford opening the scoring at the 11:01 mark. Norm Metcalfe got the puck back to him off a face-off in the Richmond Hill end and Ampleford drove it home before Carr could move.

Rams Move Back Into First Place Downing Weston Dodgers 5-1

The Richmond Hill Rams moved back into first place in the Provincial Junior "A" 1972-73 hockey race Tuesday night with a convincing 5-1 win over third place Weston Dodgers at the local arena.

Richmond Hill now has 30 points to Vaughan Nationals' 29 with both teams having played 21 games. Weston still has two games in hand.

Tuesday night's encounter saw Rams' goalie Gary Carr maintaining his torrid goals against average aided by another fine checking performance from his defence and forwards. He has allowed only one goal in the last three games.

Weston outshot the Rams 31-30 but were often hurried in their shooting and found Carr equal to the occasion whenever they saw daylight. One near goal saw the puck rattle off the post in the second period.

It was Weston's Tim Ampleford opening the scoring at the 11:01 mark. Norm Metcalfe got the puck back to him off a face-off in the Richmond Hill end and Ampleford drove it home before Carr could move.
