There will be an exhibition of Batiks shown by Els Sevenhuyzen at the Markham Centennial Library, 199 Main Street North, Markham on Wednesday from 2-4 pm. Mrs. Sevenhuyzen is a talented artist, as well as treasurer of the branch. Her many friends will want to attend this exhibition.
Russell Boyington returned last week to York Central Hospital for a second eye operation. He is progressing nicely, thank you, and expects to be home shortly.
Another neighbor at York Central is Walter Schicke-danz who is recovering from severe injuries received in a motor accident at Woodbine Avenue (Don Mills Road) and 17th Avenue some time ago. We wish him a rapid recovery.
Mrs. Russell Burr returned home last week from Scarborough Centenary Hospital where she received treatment for an arthritic condition.

The Union Villa Bazaar was well patronized Saturday afternoon. Even those who arrived before the opening hour, 1:30 pm, found parking at a premium and sale tables hard to reach. A very popular event.
Saturday residents at Markham on Parkway Avenue at Markham hold their bazaar.
Municipal election day is Monday and everyone eligible to vote should flock to the polls. This is the day we pick the persons who will determine the quality of life at the local level for the next two years and many more. It is most important that you exercise your voting privilege.
Church News
Rev. Allen Hallett conducted a Service of Baptism and reception of new members Sunday for Mr. and Mrs. Ron Egan, 210 Bayview Fairways Drive. Mr. and Mrs. Egan and their daughters Shirley and Caroline came to this area from Vancouver. Norman Reid, clerk of session, welcomed them to the congregation.
