

Own School In 1981?

BAIF Students Attend Langstaff Secondary

A recommendation by Trustee Deena Simpson of Richmond Hill to accommodate secondary school pupils from the BAIF Subdivision at Langstaff Secondary School until a school is approved within the subdivision, was agreed to last week by members of York County Board of Education. School facilities are needed at present for an estimated 26 pupils, with the first families moving into the subdivision November 1.

Present data available to the board, indicates that a school will not be built in the BAIF area until 1981. The student population is expected to reach 321 by June, 1976.

In deciding on the Langstaff school, the board rejected a second proposal to transport the students to King City and Aurora secondary schools.

Although the schools had ample accommodation and the required courses, BAIF students would not be attending a school within their community and transportation costs would be incurred, a staff report to the board reported.

So far as Langstaff was concerned, it was felt that temporary accommodation added to Langstaff next year would supplement existing facilities sufficiently to handle the students up to and including the first six months of 1976.

"Is all this (additional accommodation) going to be done with portables?" asked Trustee Thomas Johnston of Keswick.

Sam Chapman, director of education, said that it was, and in reply to a question by Trustee Jack Hadfield of Newmarket, as to why Richmond Hill High School was left out when there were available spaces there, he said that the latter school and Bayview Secondary School were being considered as one unit. When they were looked at that way, there was no space.

CONTINUE DENTAL PROGRAM

The board also approved a request from Drs. William Fleming and Robert Burgess of the University of Toronto, faculty of dentistry, to continue a dental research project started in 1971 in area schools "for another and final year."

Dr. Fleming, who appeared before the board, said he and his colleague were requesting an extension, because the results of their project were not as "earth shattering as we hoped."

The project, in which the students were selected on a voluntary basis, was to establish the "clinical effectiveness" of a fluoride dental paste, to be applied by the volunteers once or twice a year. The students were examined at the end of the year to determine the effectiveness of the paste as an anticaries agent when compared to a control group.

Of the 712 grade 7 students selected, 563 completed the test, the others dropping out for a variety of reasons, but mainly due to moving from the area.

Dr. Fleming said the initial caries experience in terms of decayed, missing, filled teeth was 7.35, "well within the average range for similar populations in similar communities in North America." About 25 per cent of the children were receiving some preventive measures to partially-controlled dental caries, he said.

The majority of children had "less than a good oral hygiene score," Dr. Fleming said, and added that the World Health Organization had recommended two years for studies of this kind.

He asked to continue the study for another year in the following secondary schools, which the original volunteers, who had all agreed to another trial, were now attending: Markham District, Bayview, Richmond Hill, Don Head, Langstaff, Thornhill, Thornlea, Woodbridge, King City, Stouffville District, Dr. G. W. Williams and Aurora. A total of 623 students would be involved.

"What makes you think you'll have better luck the second time?" asked Trustee Johnston.

Dr. Fleming said that previously many children were getting new teeth at the time and until teeth were fully "erupted," they wouldn't get the full effects of the agent.

He said, also, that he thought more than two applications of the paste were indicated.

The motion to confirm the staff's recommendation to continue, was moved by Trustee Jack Hadfield of Newmarket and seconded by Trustee Merna Colbourne of Mount Albert.

BOARD BRIEFS

The board also: accepted the tender of Division Construction Limited, Toronto, in the amount of $349,000 for the addition of No. 10 Unionville Public School, Markham.

Accepted the $17,000 bid of Michael Mitchell, Georgina Township, for the Pefferlaw School.

Agreed to co-operate with the Town of Richmond Hill in its Centennial observance in 1973 by flying the Centennial Flag below the Canadian Flag on the flagstaffs of each of the public schools within the town.

Approved two staff recommendations turning down school sites in proposed subdivisions in the Towns of Markham and Aurora.

The Markham development is planned 9.9 acres on Church Street, north of Highway 7 and west of Wootton Way Road.

A total of 74 semi-detached houses, with a school enrolment of 92 elementary pupils and 26 secondary, is predicted.

The Aurora development calls for 65 single-family dwellings on 23.8 acres of land, about 150 feet north of Bloomington Side Road.

Projected pupil enrolment is 65 elementary and 16 secondary.

In both cases, the board felt that sufficient accommodation was available in the areas concerned.
