

How's Your Hearing?

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisement.

Try it to see how it is worn in the privacy of your own home without cost or obligation of any kind. It's yours to keep, free. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Write to Dept. 9509, Beltone Electronics, 3637 Metropolitan Blvd., E., Montreal 38, P.Q.

Memorial Books Town Library

Richmond Hill Library has been the beneficiary of several important titles donated by three groups in memory of late residents of the community. An "In Memoriam" bookplate placed in each book marks the donor and the person in whose honor the gift was made.

"The Dictionary of Scientific Biography" has been given to the library by the town library board in memory of Mrs. Helen Fountain whose death occurred during her term of office on the board as an appointee of the York County Board of Education.

Friends in Wisconsin contacted Richmond Hill Library regarding a book donation to be added to the collection in memory of Albert Hillaby. Their wish was that a book on hockey be chosen and "The Stanley Cup" by Brian MacFarlane is now on the shelves upstairs for patrons to enjoy.

As their memorial gift to the library, friends of Stephen James Dunkley chose several volumes including Larousse Encyclopedia of Archaeology; "The Tree Where Man Was Born" by Peter Matthiessen; three volumes, "The Lord of the Rings" by J. R. Tolkien and "The Long African Day" by Norman Myers.

The thought behind these gifts is appreciated by the library board and memorial gifts may be discussed with Mrs. Patricia Hart, chief librarian, as to selection of material.

Richmond Hill Also Hit

Concord Target For Area Thieves

Area thieves, who seem to like to vary their locations, gave the Concord region of Vaughan much of the displeasure of their company during the past week, according to York Regional Police reports.

Heaviest hit was Humber Collision Service, 185 Doughton Road, which lost $1,400 in equipment to the break-and-enter boys sometime between November 30 and December 1.

Entry was made by cutting the lock on a fence surrounding the premises and then forcing a door of the building.

Other break-ins in the Concord area: Woodbridge United Church, 8096 Kipling Avenue West, two large windows broken; value $150. Not known if anything taken.

Post Office, Keele and Highway 7, electrical drill and miscellaneous supplies, $150.

Peter Cormier, Bramalea, reported his car broken into and the theft of a tape deck, three tapes and a speaker valued at $138. His car was parked in the underground lot at Doublerrink Arenas.

Robert Slater, 7689 Keele Street, one eight-track stereo unit valued at $104, taken from his car while it was parked at Star Transfer parking lot.

W. J. Gallagher Company Limited, 55 Maplecrete Road, $15 taken from a cash box by thieves, who forced open a door in the office.

To a dedicated few, a concerned citizenry and to those who never forgot me - my sincerest thanks.

William C. Lazenby, Mayor

Thornhill Woman Attempted Rape

A Thornhill area woman was hospitalized after she was badly beaten in an attempted rape last week in front of 7411 Yonge Street.

York Regional Police said they are seeking a man about 30, believed to be Italian, who attacked the 59-year-old woman with a knife as she walked toward her home about 11:10 pm November 28.

Police said the woman had been walking east on Yonge Street when a man approached her and asked her the time. When she told him she didn't have the time, he stepped behind her and said: "Are you sure you don't?"

Police said he then grabbed her by the mouth and pulled her towards a vacant lot. She started to scream and the man threatened to kill her.

He produced a knife and forced her to the ground, police said, and then started hitting her about the head and face.

After knocking her unconscious, the man fled. The woman suffered a broken nose, fractured jaw and various cuts and bruises, and was taken to York Central Hospital for treatment.

Police said the man is about five feet, eight inches, with dark curly hair, cut short with normal sideburns. He was clean shaven and was wearing green work pants and boots and a scuffed windbreaker.

Chance For Critics Of Education Costs

The Ministry of Education is seeking submissions from interested groups and individuals on the costs of education, it was revealed at a meeting of York County Board of Education November 27.

In a letter to the board, the chairman of the committee requested the board to invite home and school associations, local municipal councils, teachers' groups, professional organizations and other groups and individuals, who have not already made a submission.

The committee would like comment on such things as the use of financial resources being provided for elementary and secondary education in the province, the ability of the legislative grants to generate funds in proper balance for educational needs and various other aspects of school programs.

Submissions to the committee, which was set up last year by the Ontario Minister of Education, can be made orally or in writing.

Anyone wishing to communicate with the committee can do so by writing to: Dr. J. R. McCarthy, Executive Director, Committee on the Costs of Education, Suite S 994, 252 Bloor Street West, Toronto 181, Ontario.

Markham Man Killed When Car Hits Tree

Paul Lewis, 24, of RR 1, Unionville, was killed when his car went off the road and struck a tree in an accident in the Town of Markham the morning of December 3.

According to York Regional Police, the deceased had left his girl friend's home near Uxbridge around 4 am and was proceeding south on Concession 7, just north of 16th Avenue when his car veered off the road into the east ditch and landed against a tree.

Lewis, who was found by Gary Meade, RR 3, Whitchurch-Stouffville, about 5 am, was pronounced dead at the scene by Coroner Dr. Robert Seaver.

The deceased is survived by his parents and a brother.

It was not known if an inquest would be held.

Drop Assault Charge Accused Pays Costs

It was moving day Thursday of last week as Richmond Hill Provincial Court left its familiar old location in the municipal building at Yonge and Wright Streets and moved into a new white court-house on the southeast corner of Markham Road and Bayview Avenue South.

Almost all cases were put over to other days to allow for the moving of personnel, court records and furniture.

At one point Provincial Judge Russell Pearce remarked he was hesitant to hold down a case until 11 am because he was hardly sure he would have a bench to sit on by then.

No trials were held, except for an intoxication case in which there was a guilty plea.

David MacAloney, 26, of RR 2, Stouffville, in court arrested on a warrant for failing to appear, admitted being intoxicated at 1 am May 6 in front of his former residence at 43 Main Street North, Markham.

Crown Attorney Rankin said two York Region Police cruisers were called to the scene about a man gone berserk and apparently MacAloney was the man. But MacAloney said he didn't know anything about anyone being berserk.

SMASHED BOTTLE
Rankin said MacAloney with a bottle of beer in his hand waved down a police cruiser and then smashed the bottle in the gutter. But MacAloney said he dropped

Man Charged In Two Month Old Accident

Raymond Barton, 35, of Sutton, has been charged with criminal negligence causing death, failing to remain at the scene of an accident and driving while his licence was suspended in the two-month hit-and-run death of a Mount Albert man.

Barton, who will appear in Newmarket Provincial Court December 11, was arrested by Provincial Police, following an extensive investigation into the death of Horace Berwick, 60, September 28. Berwick was struck and thrown 92 feet off his bicycle, while riding north on Highway 48. His body was found nine hours later in a drainage ditch by a friend who had gone out to look for him.

Paint found on the deceased's body was similar to that found on a car parked at a Minden farm earlier this week, police reported.

Drop Assault Charge Accused Pays Costs

In an assault, bodily harm case, however, Judge Pearce took the unusual step of levying $25 in costs against an accused young man when the young man's girl friend withdrew the November charge.

Ian Jefferis, 21, of 396 Fernleigh Circle South, Richmond Hill was ordered to pay the provincial government $25.

Gail Haddock, the complainant, testified she was Jefferis' girl friend and she had gone somewhere he'd told her not to go when the incident took place and now she was repentant about the whole thing. Crown Attorney William Rankin told the court he'd reviewed the case fully and hadn't any alternative but to withdraw the charge in the circumstances.

$500 PEACE BOND
Judge Pearce put Jefferis on a $500 bond for a year to keep the peace. When Judge Pearce asked Jefferis if what the girl said was true, Jefferis said, "yes, in a round about way."

"What do you mean, did you hit her," asked the judge.

"Yes," said Jefferis.

Judge Pearce told Jefferis to keep the peace, "especially dealing with this young lady or else you will be brought back into court and I will certainly deal with you."

The judge said the police and the courts shouldn't be put to the cost of an investigation and court time in such matters. Crown Attorney Rankin agreed.
