Forthcoming Marriages

AUBERTIN-FORSEY Believe it or not, they are set for the date! And given us all another shock. After an engagement that was shorter but every bit as stormy as the courtship itself, Penelope Karen Shaunna Shelley has announced to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger and Evelynne Aubertin, formerly of Maple, that she would like to become the bride of Richard David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray and Mary Forsy of Richvale. This totally unexpected (as yet anyway, considering the length of the courtship) but extremely happy event is scheduled to take place at 4 pm on Saturday, July 14, 1973 in St. Stephen's Anglican Church in Maple and arrangements have been made for Dr. Ramsey Armitage to perform the official ceremony of tying the nuptial knot. c1w29

Jailed 30 Days After Noisy Thornhill Party

A young Thornhill man who kicked a York Regional Police sergeant in the groin May 17 when the sergeant came with a search warrant to investigate a noisy apartment party, was jailed 30 days by Provincial Judge Russell Pearce in Richmond Hill Court Friday of last week.

Robert Cadwell, 21, pleaded guilty to willfully obstructing police. He was also placed on probation for two years.

Assistant Crown Attorney James Crossland told the court police were called to Cadwell's apartment because of the noise. YRP Constable Richard Pike entered the apartment and was about to start a search when Cadwell told him to get out until he had a warrant.

When Sergeant Evan Kelly arrived with a warrant, Cadwell rushed out of the apartment and kicked Kelly. Crossland said.

A Richmond Hill youth who drove and was impaired from drinking while his license was suspended after when his sister's baby died in a house fire Sunday July 30, was fined a total of $350 and was put off the road for a year. He'd been convicted and fined for failing a breathalyzer test five days earlier.

Stanley Petronski, now of Hamilton, in court here Thursday of last week admitted his license was suspended while he was driving a 1966 automobile at 10 pm on that Sunday in July. At the time of the offense he was fined $200 for impaired driving and had his license suspended six months.

Judge Pearce gave Petronski a further $150 fine on the suspended driving charge, with until February 28 to pay or face 30 days in jail. Petronski's license to drive was suspended a further six months.

Fined $200 or 30 days for having a breathalyzer reading of 2.50 while driving a truck at 9:30 am December 18 in Richmond Hill was Terence Andrigon, 31, formerly of 73 Wright Street in Richmond Hill and now of 451 Elmwood Drive.

HIGH TEST READING Judge Pearce noted the test reading was very high and that the conviction meant an automatic three month suspension of driver's license. He gave Andrigon until January 31 to pay the fine.

Andrigon's weaving truck was stopped by police, the court was told. He pleaded guilty to an impaired driving charge.

Also fined $200 or 30 days for failing a breathalyzer test with a reading of 2.00 was Neal Provan, 21, of 79 Meadowview Avenue, Thornhill.

CHRISTMAS DAY His vehicle was weaving all over the road when he was stopped while driving south on Yonge Street near his home on Christmas Day, the court was told.

Fined $175 or 30 days for impaired control of a car parked with the motor running at the Richmond Hill Curling Club, Elgin Mills Road at 5:05 am January 7 was Frank Wood, 43, of 335 South Taylor Mills Drive, Richmond Hill.

FELT AT HOME When he was awakened in the car he thought he was at home and failed a breathalyzer test with a reading of 1.70, the court was told.

Crown Attorney Crossland said Wood had a previous conviction but it was five years old so he was treating the matter as a first offense.

A Toronto driver who failed a breathalyzer test after being in control of a parked car was granted a restricted driver's license to visit his mother at hospital every Tuesday evening and Saturday afternoon.

Gordon Tutty, 62, of 65-B Emmett Avenue was fined $200 or 30 days and was given until January 31 to pay. He had 43 years driving experience with nothing but a few minor traffic violations, his lawyer told the court.

HARDSHIP CASE Judge Pearce prohibited Tutty from driving anywhere in Canada for three months. This judge's order recently has been found to take precedence over the usual provincial Transport Department automatic three-month suspension allowing the judge to grant a restricted driving privilege in special cases of hardship, often during working hours.

Crown Attorney Crossland told the court Tutty was found November 17 in a car parked opposite the Richmond Inn Motor Hotel, Yonge Street South, Richmond Hill, trying to put his house key in the ignition. He'd a breath test reading of 1.80.

A restricted license granting a travelling salesman the right to drive from 7 am to 9 pm also went to Paul Cleary, 32, of 2 Navan Crescent, Aurora. Otherwise he is prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada for three months.

NEARLY HIT CRUISER His swerving car caused a police cruiser to take evasive

Thornhill Man In Fatal Crash

Three died in the 17 provincial highway crashes in York Region last week.

Thornhill and Toronto drivers were injured and two Toronto passengers were killed in a two-car crash Sunday on Highway 48 south of Sutton Road in Georgina Township, according to Oak Ridges OPP Detachment.

A young Ontario County driver was killed Thursday of last week on Highway 7 in Markham Town west of the county line when his car left a curve, bounced 165 feet and while flying four feet above ground, struck a tree. His 1973 model Chevrolet was demolished.

ALL DEAD IN 20s Dead are Larry Somers, 24, of RR 1, Goodwood; Kevin Flanagan, 20, of Rose Avenue, Toronto; and Peter Seress, 20, of Crestview Road, Toronto.

In York County Hospital in fair condition at press time was Peter Wilson, 19, of Oriole Parkway, driver of the southbound double fatality car that skidded on the snowy highway near Sutton and collided sideways with a northbound Thornhill car. Myron Holubeck, 43, of 10 Albion Close, Thornhill, was also injured.

OPP INVESTIGATORS The Sutton crash was investigated by Provincial Constable Jim Orris and the Markham crash by Provincial Constable Bert Carr.

During the past week OPP officers arrested four persons for impaired driving on York Region highways, plus one for driving while disqualified. There were 17 collisions and $22,431 in property damage.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE Judge Pearce gave the young father a suspended sentence and put him on a year's probation so he would

REFUSES PLEA Judge Pearce refused to accept the guilty plea on this indictable charge, but convicted the young man on the lesser and included offense of having a prohibited weapon in a vehicle in a situation described to the court as "impulsive under stress."

The young man had the gun under the front seat of his car, the chamber of ammunition in his pocket. He picked up his wife at work and drove her home while threatening to shoot himself if she didn't return.

Judge Pearce gave the young father a suspended sentence and put him on a year's probation so he would
