

Pictures On This Page By
Stuart's Studio, Ron Fawn and
Susan Samila
Photographers to "The Liberal"

Life of Richmond Hill in 1873 was the theme of a four-room display in St. Mary's Anglican Church chapel during Home Coming Week. Mrs. Anne Thurtell (left) and Mrs. Dorothy Gummarsal are in the kitchen.

Treasures of the past were displayed by Richmond Hill Seniors at their club rooms during Home Coming Week. The admirer is Mrs. Greta Miller.

RICHMOND HILL
CENTENNIAL
1873 1973

There was Home Coming good cheer and lively music at the Firefighters' Beer Garden. Fire Chief Robert Kennedy, Musician George Cask and Firefighter Gerry MacMullin were there.

Students at Our Lady Help of Christians Roman Catholic Separate School built a float for the Home Coming Week Centennial parade.

Town Councillors Rowe, Stephenson and Wainwright were out for Home Coming Week in full regalia.

Richvale Lions — complete with float, ladies in costume and high stepping majorettes — were a major feature of the Centennial parade.

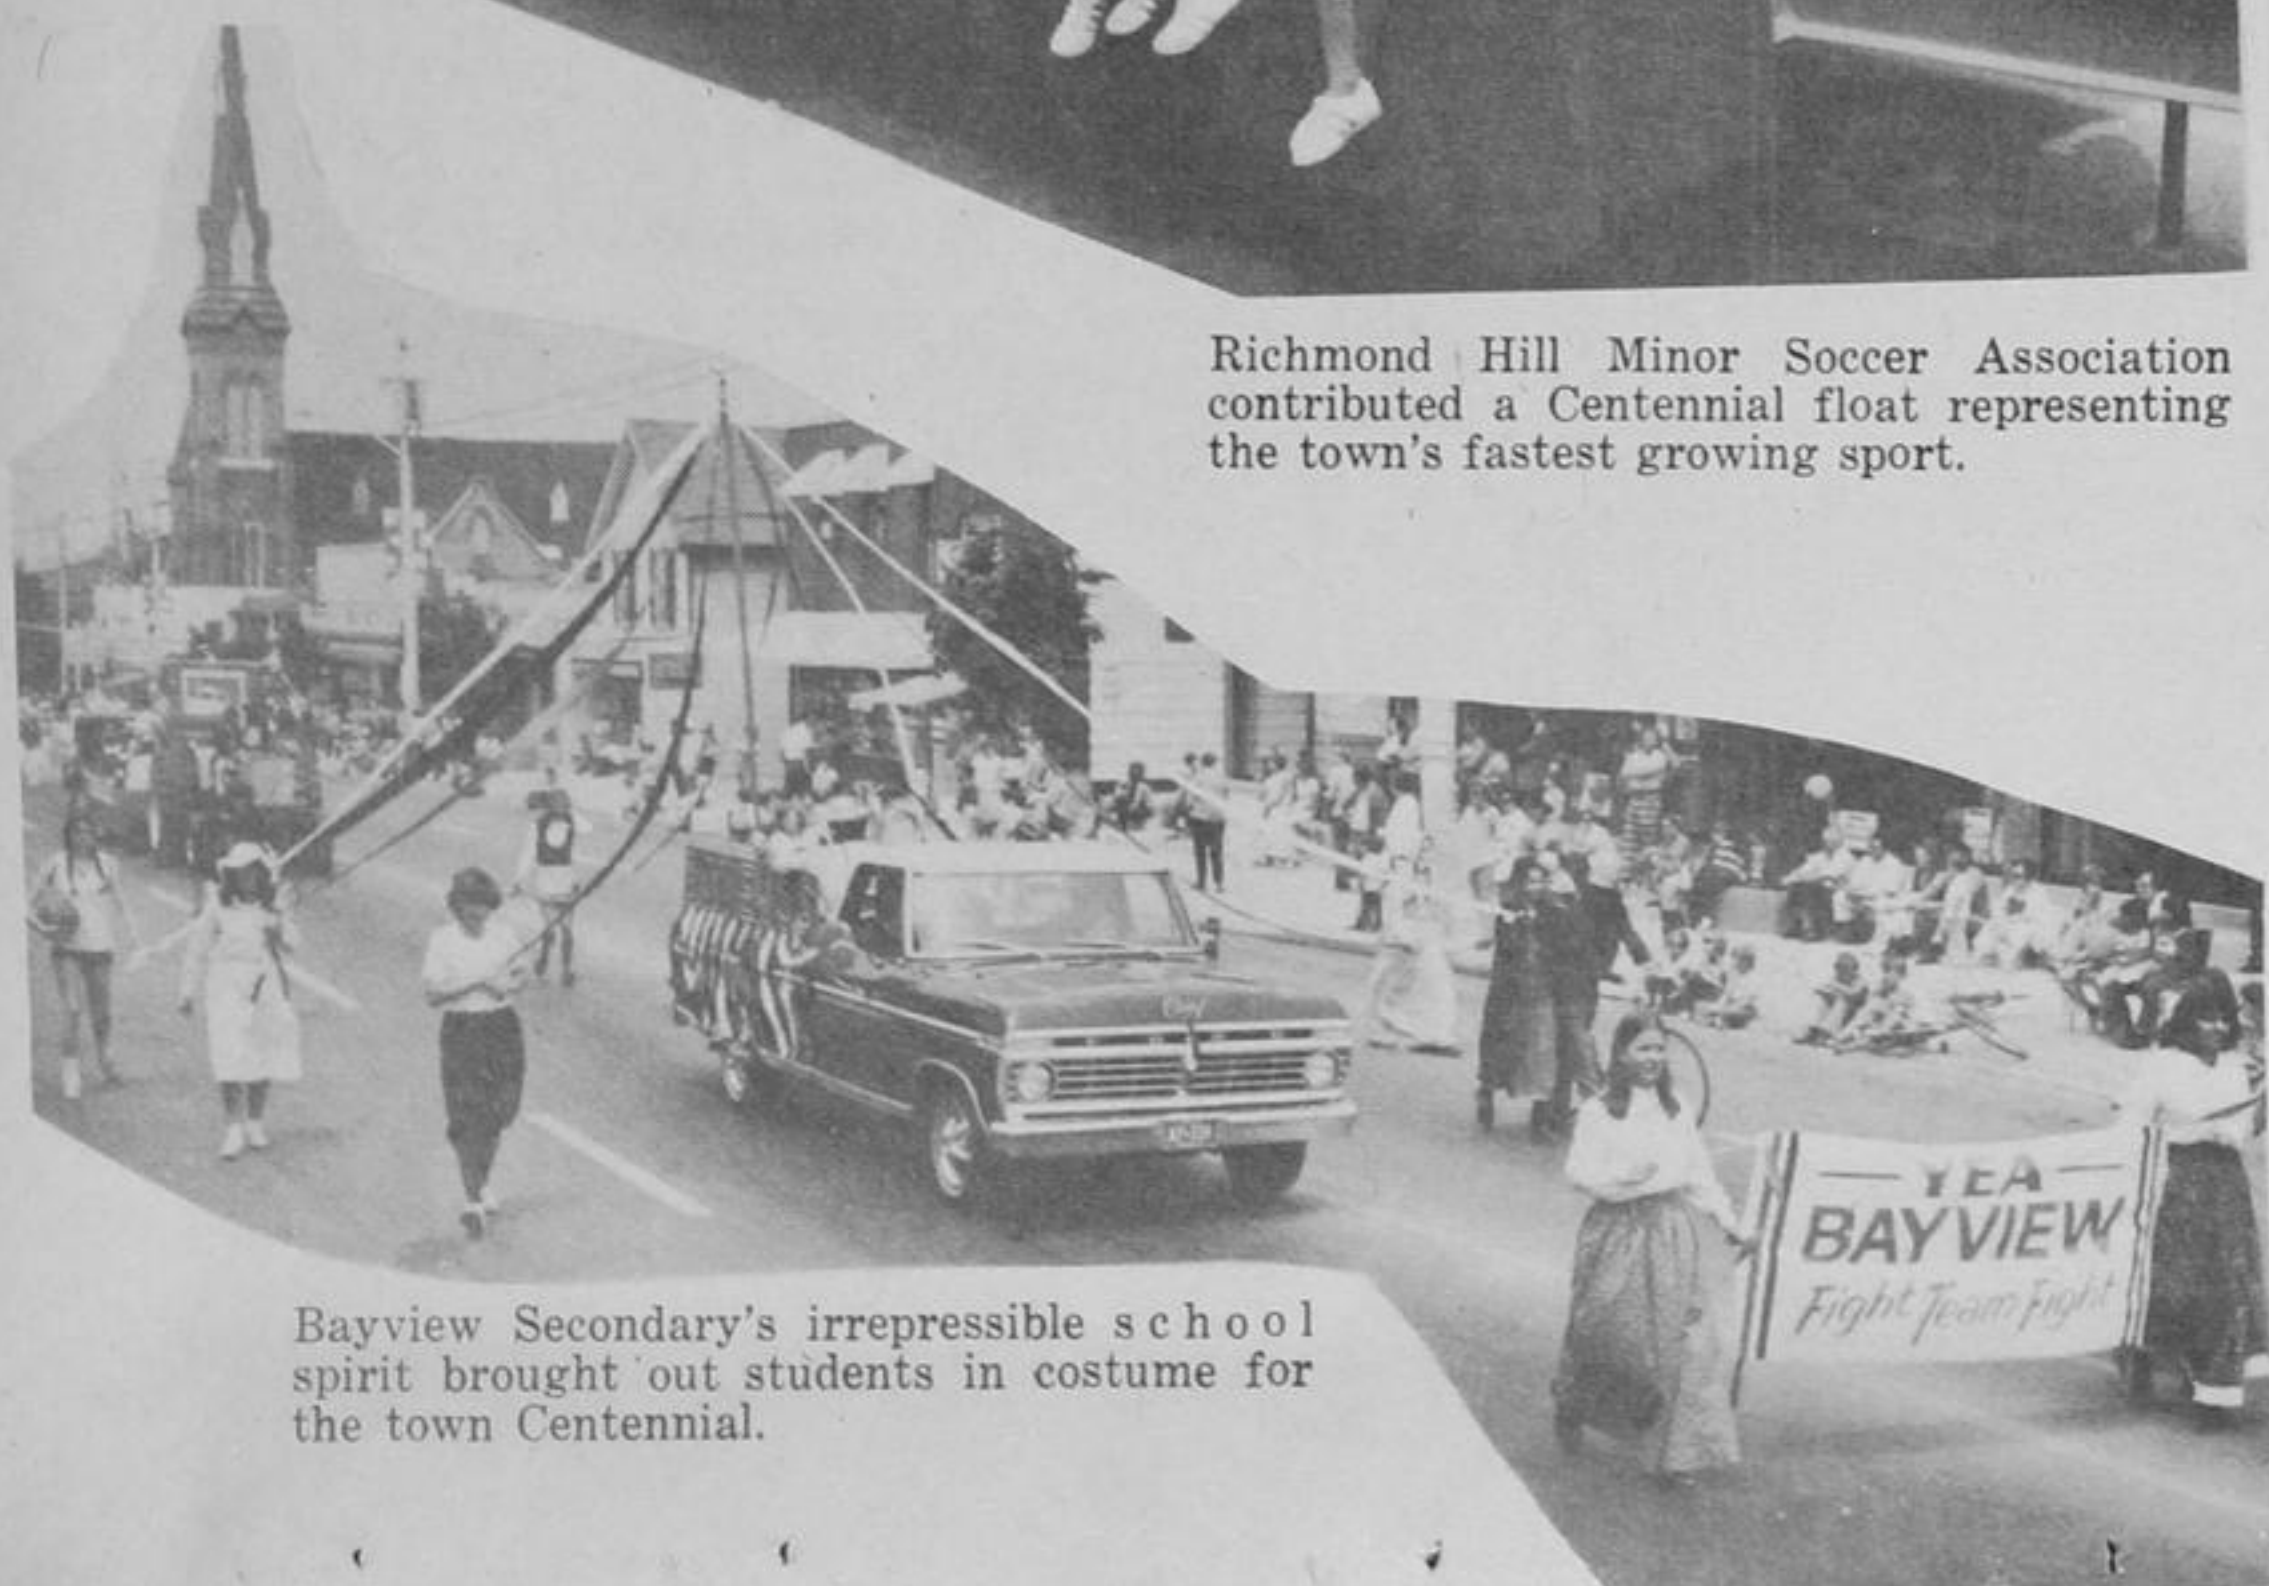

Richmond Hill Minor Soccer Association contributed a Centennial float representing the town's fastest growing sport.

Adding color to Home Coming Week were gay balloons sold by the IODE.

The Richmond Hill Ball Association's Home Coming Week project was a float drawing attention to two big Centennial Year sports events, the ladies' Canadian softball tournament August 21 to 26 and the men's international softball tournament August 2 to 6.

Bayview Secondary's irrepressible school spirit brought out students in costume for the town Centennial.

Former pupils of fondly remembered Richmond Hill Public (McConaghy) School were welcomed back warmly. There were song selections by the choir and other attractions at the school during Home Coming Week.