Fred 'Gabby' Carson Starts Detroit Rally

Detroit Burch-Gage's Rightfielder Fred "Gabby" Carson lashes a sharp single to right-field in the sixth inning to start his teammates on the road to a five-run inning and a 5-0 win over Toronto Globals in the semi-finals Monday afternoon. Carson, sporting a drooping walrus-like mustache, was the clown prince of the Detroit team and kept the spectators literally in stitches all during the Detroit games. The Burch-Gage crew went on to meet Oshawa Tony's in the finals of the Richmond Hill Centennial Invitational Fastball Tournament and lost by 9-3.

Hill Athletes Off To Ottawa For Ontario Sr. Championships

When a hammer-throw athlete winds up spectators and athletes alike run for cover. Such has been the case this week at Richmond Hill High School field as Steve Hoxey practiced his hammer throw style in preparation for the Ontario Senior Championships in Ottawa. Other local athletes heading to the capitol on August 11 are Greg Binkley in the hurdles, Bill Milley, shotput, John Cook steeplechase, Bill Schell 800 metres, and Bruce Cook and Mike Bells for the relay events.

The Wednesday night meets re-commence this week with a competition at Varsity Stadium. A large contingent from the 'Hill' will be heading south for this twilight affair. All of the junior-junior team which is to compete in Ottawa will be involved, along with Leslie and Cheryl Rogers in the high jump, Liz (the Whiz) Srebrnjak in the 200 meters, and Dianne Diggins.

Dianne Diggins returns to track and field training after a spring and summer enforced layoff because of a recurring Achilles tendon injury. Dianne will give her ankle a good test by entering the 200 meters and the long jump.

Good news was received from the Ontario Track Office that two atom-tyke meets have requested sanction for the month of August. Mississauga Track Club and Burlington Track Club have both asked permission to organize a meet for the under 12 years of age athletes on August 18. One of these meets will be switched to another date.

All Atom-Mite-Tyke members of Richmond Hill AC are requested to contact Bill Alexander, or Robert Thompson, for the schedule of training nights when the little folk are expected to train. Selection of the Atom-Tyke-Mite team will be made August 15, for competition in these two meets.

Discussions are underway with the Ontario Track and Field office for sanction to hold a day of road races in Richmond Hill September 15. Richmond Hill Athletic Club would host this day of running with open, junior, and girls' road races being considered.

An invitation to all high schools in York County and area is also being considered, to compete in a special 'Centennial' road race event.

It seems fitting that two of the final meets during this outdoor season will feature local athletes.

Saturday, Aug. 25 Gurd Binkley, Ontario's Jr. Hurdle Champion, will travel to Montreal to represent Richmond Hill, and the province, in the National Junior Track and Field Championships.

On the same day, Midget Liz Srebrnjak will be carrying the green and white banner of Richmond Hill, and the Blue and Gold of Legion 375, at the Legion Track and Field Championships in Camp Bordeau. Liz will be the entire track team from this area, qualifying as zone E champion in the 100, 200, and 400 meters.

The balance of the midget to senior members will close out the summer season with a trip to Hamilton, and the annual pentathlon meet on the mountain.

Holidays and summer job commitments have left the Richmond Hill Athletic Club short of trainers and organizers in the under 12 years of age division.

With a possible two meets coming up in August, the club needs volunteers, for a three week period, to assist in training and organizing this young team for competition.

Interested persons are requested to contact Club Secretary Bill Alexander at 226-2732, or visit Richmond Hill High School field.

mond Hill soccer stalwart Ed Kenny (now living in England) on the weekend.
Ed is hoping that a Richmond Hill Mosquito Team can go to Britain at Easter time in 1974.

Are there any Richmond Hill parents, boys and girls, interested in supporting a local team this way? There are no definite plans as yet but we are all working on a response that it would be them. There appears to be a good idea to take a team to Britain.

John Lamb Winner Sr. Beginners Round-Robin

The senior beginners round-robin was won by John Lamb, who is, naturally enough, a beginner this season. Runner up in a very interesting event was another promising new player, Keith Brown. Monica Vermeulen convened this event, even providing refreshments and goodies. The club is very fortunate in having the services of such a person as Monica who is so obviously devoted to player development both for young and old members. There to lend a hand were Mr. and Mrs. Vermeulen Sr., imported at great expense from South Africa, doing a great job of scoring and balling... they'd obviously done this sort of thing before.

The junior programme is going well... Mondays, Wednesday and Friday afternoon. All junior members welcome.

Competitors in the club junior tournament are asked to arrange to play their opponent and then inform Andy Girdler, 884-1605, who will provide an umpire for the match plus a can of new.

Club mixed doubles to be held August 26. Entry sheet in clubhouse. ICTA Mixed Doubles - Credit Valley August 12.
Opening Day - August 18. Information please call Joan Armstrong at 884-6232.

Summit Course In Idyllic Setting But Its Beauty No Help To Duffers

When Summit Golf and Country Club, site of this year's Canadian Amateur Golf Championship, was opened for play just after World War 1, members travelled to the club by way of electric radial cars, which ran from below St. Clair on Yonge Street, through Richmond Hill to Lake Simcoe.
Travel is a little more sophisticated nowadays - although maybe not always so fast - but one thing that hasn't changed is the idyllic setting that has been a hallmark of the club, which was founded way back in 1912.
Heavily wooded hills still surround the course, and in some cases are part of the course, while all sorts of wild life, such as fox, mink, deer and raccoon, plus a variety of other unidentified forest habitues, still look on in the golfers as they improve their lies, or thrash about in the rough for shots gone astray.
No housing developments have encroached on any of the land, as the club is owner of most of the perimeter land, officials say there should be little change in the club's next 60 years.
Aside from its beauty, however, what does the course present to the golfer who is hoping to take it apart - sometimes quite literally when he gets to hacking away in the woods?
Michael Bartlett, writing in the June issue of Golf Canada, has this to say about it: "And Summit demands shotmaking more than anything. Designed in 1912 by Architect George Cummings, it plays at 6,600 yards which roll over hills and through heavy strands of almost every tree one can look for."
"The woods are not tailored and recoveries are tough. Each errant shot will cost the golfer at least one stroke, maybe more. The biggest challenge is the many bumps and undulations which are everywhere, especially around the greens. What looks like the right shot can easily kick in any direction."
"The greens are small to very small and also rolling. They hold well, but demand delicate control on approaches. This is often complicated by a continuing wind which swirls in and out of the valleys, so that much of the round can be played into the wind, no matter which way a hole runs."
"As an example of the declivities found throughout the course, amateur competitors going from the 4th green to the 5th tee will have to make use of a rope tow to navigate the steep incline separating the two holes. Summit is a series of miniature mountains set on a high hill."
"Summit will not yield scoring riches easily," Bartlett concludes.
No wonder Summit member, Brian Turner, who is also entered in the tourney, says that scores will run anywhere from 12 under par 272, to even par 284.
