Vaughan Seeks Injunction Re Garbage

Vaughan Town's most favored or, rather, disfavored subject of waste disposal dumping had a brief airing in council Monday of last week.

Firstly, council authorized its solicitor to obtain an injunction against the Norman Goodhead operated Disposal Services to stop it from using a 40-acre site north of Maple as a waste disposal area.

The matter arose when council was informed that dumping was still being carried out on the property by Disposal Services although an agreement had been made earlier that all operations could stop by August 31 of this year.

It was pointed out that the land area which was deeded to the municipality some two years ago by the owners—had been the subject of an agreement between Disposal Services Limited and the Town of Vaughan.

This agreement provided for the final elevations of the disposal site, the termination date, the covering of the waste materials.

Disposal Services had also received a provisional certificate for a disposal site from the province's Ministry of the Environment.

The certificate specified that no waste would be accepted at the site after August 31 and "the site shall no longer be used for the disposal of waste."

Disposal Services Limited has appealed the deadline and it will be heard by the province's appeal board.

Council's contention is that waste disposal is still being dumped on land owned by the municipality.

The injunction is intended to stop the dumping.

They point to the increasing participation of Woodbridge citizens in the recycling activity which "confirms their endorsement of the concept of recycling and thus the protection of our environment. Many of the participants have commented on the reduction of garbage produced by their households when recyclables are separated."

The letter goes on to say that the technology of recycling and processing garbage is showing substantial advances and notes that the plans for disposal of Metro Toronto's garbage takes no account of these advances.

"There seems little justification for the Town of Vaughan to support this outmoded approach by Metro Toronto and thus to be victimized."

"The Woodbridge Area Recycling group therefore strongly endorses the resolution passed by the Maple Ratepayers Association and forwarded to the Vaughan Council and the Vaughan Planning Committee opposing the dumping of Metro garbage in the Town of Vaughan."

125 Residents Sign Petition

Woodbridge Citizens Unhappy With Police

Vaughan Town Councillor Ab Hollingshead charged Monday of last week that the present regional police set-up has proven to be unworkable as far as the smaller communities are concerned.

"I think we have to get back to reality," he said "and realize that we need 'resident' police and not regional ones who spend most of their time in patrol cars."

His remarks came as town council reviewed a petition signed by 125 residents of Woodbridge Avenue district.

The petition calls attention to "the deplorable conditions allowed to remain in this district, mainly a certain element disturbing our peace and sleep with loud cars, motorcycles and foul language. This occurs every night of the week and on Friday, Saturday and Sunday night it often carries on until three o'clock in the morning."

Regional Councillor John Gilbert thought council should do more than just pass a resolution and send it on to York Regional Police Chief Bruce Crawford.

"We should ask for a particular reply as to what if anything he intends to do to overcome this continuing problem. We just send resolution and they lay there and we never hear anything more about it."

Mayor Garnet Williams agreed that there "seems to be a certain element loose in small communities and the police don't seem to be able to control them. Woodbridge is no exception. It goes on in every small town in Ontario."

Councillor David Fraser also came out in favor of "community policemen who have always proven to be more effective."

Mayor Williams struck a realistic note when he observed that "it's unlikely you'll get a community policeman just for Woodbridge. It would have to include all the other communities in the area."

Council decided to send the petition and resolution to the police commission and request some kind of reply.

Famous Women Edgeley WI

Mrs. James Darlington, Netherford Road, Maple, was hostess for the September meeting of the Edgeley Women's Institute, and Mrs. Charles Agnew and her committee for citizenship and world affairs, were in charge of the program. The members answered the roll call by naming a woman prominent in world affairs and the country she represents. Among the responses was a Canadian woman doctor, who has become president of the medical association to the Prime Minister of Ceylon.

A short talk on the month's motto, "World Affairs Are Our Affairs", was given by Mrs. Earl Jackson and Mrs. Agnew led the group in a study of Mrs. Jelva Sipilä of Finland, who was recently elected to the United Nations as first assistant secretary general for social development and humanitarian affairs, and Mrs. Golda Meir, Prime Minister of Israel. It was of great interest to learn that Mrs. Meir was born in Russia.

moving to the United States with her parents as a child. In 1921 she moved to Israel with her husband and children and later rose to the position she now holds as political leader of that troubled country.

Current events were given by Mrs. Frank Locke, who told of local as well as world events. Plans were made for a bus trip to the Erland Lee Homestead at Stoney Creek, the birthplace of the Women's Institute. The Edgeley Institute will be joined by the Vellore Institute on this trip scheduled for October 2.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Peggy Riordon. Lunch was served by Mrs. Darlington and her assistants, Mrs. Locke and Mrs. Agnew.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Snider, 24 Irwin Road, Rexdale, when the program will be presented by Mrs. Pat Lewis, convener of education and cultural activities.

BEETON: Because of opposition from the neighborhood residents, a plan to build a ski hill of garbage on a 200-acre farm on the south side of Concession 14, Tecumseth Township, has been dropped. The proposal was made by Louis Biffis of the Nottawasaga Inn, who also proposed to build a 500-unit condominium complex south of the inn as part of the project. The hill would have been built of Metro garbage, baled and brought in by rail.
