The 5th Richmond Hill Scout Auxiliary is having a rummage sale on October 2, to raise funds for further scouting activities. They need donations of good used clothing, small appliances, and other saleable items. While you go about the fall cleaning, keep the auxiliary in mind. Call Mrs. Arlene Chatfield for pick-up, 884-8739.

Co-conveners Shirley Cornish and Betty Tyndall report another successful rummage sale Saturday at St. Mary's Anglican, and the ACW extend sincere thanks to all who contributed. An interesting note was the addition this year of Mrs. Agnes Nickle's garden table with its many plant cuttings, mums and other perennials, which were quickly bought up by fall gardeners.

It was a grand day for a walkathon last Saturday and the turnout for the Canadian Bible Society was good. The Richmond Hill committee offers heartfelt thanks to the ladies who manned the checkpoints and supplied the refreshments, the men who helped police the route, the police department for its co-operation, the churches who made their premises available and the Richmond Hill Parks Department for use of its building at the Hill Pond. And a very hearty thanks to all the walkers. Watch for a full report on the walk in next week's issue.

His many friends and neighbors in Richmond Hill are sorry to learn of the sudden death September 30 of Eric Butterworth, who lived for some time on Markham Road before moving to Uxbridge. He is survived by his wife, Dorothy, and children, Wynn, Brenda, Diane, Noel, Gerald and Carol.

"Butterflies Are Free"

"Butterflies Are Free" opens this season's presentations of Richmond Hill Curtain Club Friday evening at the new theatre on Elgin Mills Road at Newkirk Road Friday evening. It will also be presented October 6, October 10-13 and 17-20.

Directed by Gerry Crack, "Butterflies Are Free" is a comedy by Leonard Gerde and features a cast of four — Bonnie Sheppard, Terry Harford, Pat Kantaroff and David Smith.

A charming modern comedy, it deals with the relationships of four people — Don, his dominating mother, Mrs. Baker; Jill Tanner (who lives in the apartment next to Don); and a young director, Ralph Austin. They are all lifelike characters and depict the frailties of human nature with heart warming overtones.

There is ample free parking and the opening night patrons will enjoy free sandwiches and coffee included in the regular ticket price of $2.50. They will also have the opportunity to meet the cast and tour the theatre. Tickets are available by calling 884-4274.

The next meeting of the East Central Branch of the YCHA will be held on Tuesday next at 8 pm at the home of Mrs. Jean Sims, 88 Baker Avenue.

A single parents' Bible study group will meet at 8 pm at Richmond Hill Baptist Church on Wright Street at 8 pm October 30 with Rev. Ellard Corbett leading the study. The program is sponsored by members of the Richmond Hill Chapter, Parents Without Partners, and all single parents are welcome. The organizers hope to make this a continuing program.

A fireman from Richmond Hill will talk about "Home Safety" to the members of AMO (a morning out) on October 10. The group meets on alternate Wednesdays at Richmond Hill United and the nursery for pre-schoolers is open from 9:30 to 11:15 every Wednesday.

The program for the ladies when there is no scheduled program gives them an opportunity to sit and talk, or go out and do a bit of shopping. New members are always welcome. For more information call Jacky Dedlow, 884-1309.

Richmond Hill and Thornhill Family Services volunteers held their September meeting at the family service office, 25A Yonge Street North. Mrs. Jane Scrimger, president, welcomed new members — Jackie Bakmond, Lois Miller, Vi Schope and Carol Waller. Counsellor Mary Sue McCarthy explained the programme of "Marriage and Parenting in the 70's" series planned for the fall and winter to be held at the Richmond Hill United.

It was suggested that Centennial Pins would make an ideal Christmas Gift. There is still a good supply on hand.

Next meeting will be held November 20 at 1:30 pm.

The Candystrippers of York Central Hospital held their first meeting of the season September 19. It was a mother and daughter meeting, giving mothers of the Candystrippers an opportunity to learn what the volunteers do in the hospital.

Present at the meeting were Mrs. Joyce Studdy, director of volunteers; Mrs. Joan Paton, vice-chairman of the hospital auxiliary; Mrs. Georgina Stever, advisory chairman, and Mrs. Pat Robinson, co-advisory chairman. The guests for the evening, the mothers, were given an inside look at the organization and executive aspect of the junior auxiliary. After the business was over, trays favors were made for patients in the hospital. In all, the meeting was a success and everyone enjoyed themselves.

It was a really gala day Saturday when St. Gabriel's Anglican, Crosby Avenue, had its Centennial Garden Party and Street Dance. Many guests and helpers from the parish came in period costume, and the Legion Pipe Band was on hand when the party was officially opened by Mayor William Lazby and Ward 1 Councillor Andy Chateaufort.

Crosby Avenue was closed off for dancing in the street — very popular with the young people in particular. There was also dancing in the church basement which attracted the older crowd. A clown circulated with gifts of candy and gum, there were games — fish pond and darts, handicrafts of every kind, and food for all tastes, including hot dogs and hamburgers barbecued on the lawn.

DUPLICATE BRIDGE
Last Sunday's charity bridge at Aurora Highlands Golf and Country Club attracted 41 tables. Five such games were held across the Trent Valley Bridge Association, and the local club's donation of over $300 to the Cerebral Palsy Fund was the largest contribution. Overall winners for the day were Gwen Cole and Ella O'Mara from Mississauga.

Winners at the duplicate bridge clubs regular session September 24 were north-south Omar Khamissa and George Newton, and east-west Peter Molevelt and Edith Hobson. Winners on Wednesday afternoon were Florence Laundry and Jean Spring, first, and Barbara Hanks and Sharon Menezel second. On Friday north-south winners were John Leonard and Freda Abercrombie, and east-west Stewart and Marie Cole. For information concerning the club, call Marie Cole, 773-4280.

The sympathy of friends and congregation is extended to Rev. William Wallace and family of Richmond Hill Presbyterian on the sudden passing September 25 of Mr. Wallace's brother Walter, 44. Also surviving are Mr. Wallace's mother, Mrs. Mary Wallace, and another brother, Richard, of California. Mr. Wallace lived in Downsview, and funeral services were held Friday in Willowdale with interment in Westminster Memorial Gardens, Willowdale.

The Bayview Secondary School Garbage Club will be collecting newspapers again in the areas from Bayview Avenue to Yonge Street, from Elgin Mills Road to South Paliser Crescent (St. Joseph's Roman Catholic School) on the first Thursday of every month, beginning today (Thursday).

The newspapers will be collected between 1 and 3:30 pm. It is asked that the papers be tied in bundles and placed at the end of the driveways by 12 noon on collection days.

Three students from Richmond Hill are attending the Carcross Community School, about 50 miles from Whitehorse in the Yukon. David Rye was attending Richmond Hill High School and Sharon Gilpin and Pam Bryden were at Bayview Secondary. All three attend St. Gabriel's Anglican and were intrigued with the idea of a year in the Yukon after Barbara Hill, a teacher at Carcross and daughter of Canon Roland Hill of Toronto, paid a visit to the church last spring to talk about the school. Although it is sponsored by the Anglican Diocese of the Yukon, Carcross is non-denominational. This is its first year of operation, but the teachers spent some time there during the last school year to prepare for the influx of students from all parts of the Yukon. Since the majority of students live some distance from Carcross, it is a resident school.

Sunday was a busy day at St. Mary's Anglican. The church had been decorated with flowers, fruits and vegetables on a theme of thanksgiving by ladies of the church.

The introduction to the Thanksgiving Service in the morning was a trumpet solo played by Sister Josephine of the Sisters of Saint John the Divine, and later in the service the book "Canadian Heritage", written by Mrs. Dorothy McGuire of Scarborough in memory of her son the late Rev. David McGuire, former rector of St. Mary's, was dedicated.

The book, published last summer, is on the theme of religious education and was written with the idea that it might be used as a guideline for teachers of religion in the schools.

Mrs. McGuire is author of another book, "The Crown of Education", and numerous articles published in various newspapers and periodicals.

Sunday evening St. Mary's Anglican was host to the Deanery Festival of Growth with 14 churches of the Deanery participating, and informal singing led by the "Mixed Blessings" of St. John's Anglican, Jefferson. Guest speaker was Bishop Lewis Garnsworthy. About 400 people took part in the service and social hour.

Guy Snaith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Snaith, Rockport Crescent, returned last month from France where he has been studying at the University of Tours, south of Paris on a graduate scholarship.

When the school year ended he spent some time touring Europe, visiting the French Riviera, then on to Italy for tours of Florence and Venice. In Austria he visited Vienna, then spent some time with friends in Germany and two months in England. One month was spent his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Koachford of Darlington, County Durham. Then he visited Bath, toured through Devon and Cornwall and back to London, then across the channel for a week in Paris.

Guy intends to work for a year before continuing with his studies in French Literature. A graduate of Bayview Secondary in Richmond Hill he took his bachelor's degree at the University of Toronto, working part time in the University library. He hopes to be able to go back to the library job before leaving next year for doctoral studies in England.

Senior Citizens
This coming week will be a busy week for those taking part in all the activities of Richmond Hill Senior Citizens' Club.

On Tuesday there is another evening of entertainment for senior citizens as guests of Travelways at the Minkler Auditorium, Seneca College, in Willowdale. Those who attended the first one thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Those wishing to attend next week should leave their names with either Mrs. Mary Reid or Mrs. M. Fitzpatrick as soon as possible, as accommodation is limited and it is a case of first come, first served.

On the Wednesday the club will have its regular monthly meeting in the auditorium of Richmond Hill United at 2 pm. It is election day and the executive for the coming year will be chosen. On Thursday (October 11) is the club's annual color tour. Buses leave the club room, 71 Centre Street East, at 10 am sharp. Be sure to have your tickets with you as they will be collected on boarding the buses.

The Catholic Women's League of Our Lady Queen of the World held their first meeting of the season September 26 in the Parish Hall. President Mrs. Mae Doedens welcomed over 20 ladies to their pot luck supper.

Mrs. Stella Dickenson, bazaar convener, reported that everything is almost ready for the fall bazaar to take place in the Parish Hall October 20 at 1:30 pm.

Mrs. Mary Thompson reported that the goal for the CWL of Canada for development and peace is $4,300. This money will be used to equip a sewing centre in Kenya. The ladies were urged to save one percent on the luxuries they buy. Mrs. Patricia Cochrane will be responsible for the parish's savings.

The regional meeting of the CWL was combined with the CWL of North York and took place in St. Paschal's Roman Catholic Church on Steeles Avenue near Yonge Street.

Meals on Wheels is asking for women drivers and runners, especially for Mondays and Wednesdays, between the hours of 11 am and 12. The meeting agreed to send a donation to this worthy cause.

Mrs. Claudette Wintjes, membership convener, reported that there are 69 paid up members.

Mrs. Doedens announced there will be no October meeting as the CWL has been invited to a Centennial Celebration at St. Paul's Lutheran Church October 24 at 8 pm. The next meeting will be November 14 at Mrs. Doedens's home.

Night Schools Still Have Some Openings

Although registration nights for adult education evening classes in secondary schools operated by York County Board of Education officially closed last week, Lloyd Morrison, administrator of adult education, reports that there is still room for more people.

Schools in Southern York Region offering evening classes are Bayview Secondary and Don Head Secondary in Richmond Hill and Thornhill Secondary on Dudley Avenue in Thornhill. Academic subjects in grades 9 through 13 are available at Bayview on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, beginning next week. Grade 9 and 10 English and history are offered on Mondays, mathematics and science on Wednesdays.

Sessions for grades 11, 12 and 13 are three hours a night, one night a week for 30 weeks in academic classes. More than 100 students are registered in subjects ranging from calculus to biology at grade 13 level.

Arts, crafts, commercial and technical subjects are also being offered, and in many subjects two or more classes have already been formed. Bayview is also forming classes in English for New Canadians at the beginners, intermediate and advanced levels on Mondays and Wednesdays. There will be a wide variety of arts and crafts, commercial subjects such as bookkeeping, shorthand, typing for beginners and intermediates, and technical classes. As of last week 18 people had enrolled in a class of auto mechanics for owners.

At Don Head two classes have been formed for auto body repair and refinishing, three classes in upholstery, three in pottery, two in gourmet cooking. Other subjects that seem to be much in demand are woodworking, baking and cake decorating, typing and driver education. At Thornhill Secondary, there is almost equal demand for conversational French, Spanish and Italian, which all attracted about 30 people. Thornhill also has art classes, ceramics, typing, sewing for beginners and advanced. A number of people, particularly watchmakers, have enrolled in the clockmaking class. Interior decorating and flower arranging are popular, as well as woodworking and crafts for leisure. The physical fitness class for women had 27 enrolled in the first two nights. The total fees of $15 for most courses include a registration fee of $3, with an extra charge for such things as golf, driver education, etc.

Senior citizens, however, may take any class for only the $3 registration fee. A number of seniors are enrolled, says Mr. Morrison.

A more detailed and complete report will be brought into the next meeting of the board of education Tuesday of next week, meanwhile Mr. Morrison advises interested parties to go to the schools offering the courses that interest them, or telephone and enquire if classes and openings are available at their neighborhood school.

Open House Fire Hall

Richmond Hill Fire Department will hold an open house for members of the public October 13 at the fire hall from 9 am to 5 pm. Chief Robert Kennedy announced this week. The open house will tie in with the final day of Fire Prevention Week.
