The editor of this paper might be willing to lend you his copy of The Christian Science Monitor.
 But don't count on it. He's an expert newsman with access to many news sources and a good paper of his own. But he still wants to get the Monitor's worldwide coverage and commentary on events.
 Apart from 2,711 editors, there are 20,000 educators and students, 82,000 businessmen, 495 U.S. Senators and Congressmen, 3 Supreme Court Justices who read the Monitor. Why should they know more of what's going on, and why, than you do?
 For less than 11¢ a day, you can get your own special insight into the news. Everyday, like they do.

Send me 4 months of the Monitor — over 100 issues — for only $11.

Workshop For Volunteers
 The importance of the volunteer to the community will be the topic of a day-long workshop at the Anglican Conference Centre, Aurora on November 16.
 The workshop, from 9 am to 5 pm, will focus equally upon the needs of the volunteers and the needs of agencies and services for volunteers.
 The York Region 3-C Council, sponsors of the program, say one of the more exciting aspects of this workshop will be the examination of several volunteer training programs now operating in York Region, with an opportunity provided to study in some depth their shortcomings and where improvements are needed to involve the volunteer on a more equal footing with other agency personnel.
 A special incentive is being extended to volunteers involved with social agencies, information services, health programs and educational institutions throughout York Region.
 It is also hoped that other institutions in York will encourage staff representation at the workshop. The registration fee includes lunch.
 Registration forms and additional information can be obtained through Blue Hills Academy, Fred Boden, director, 773-4323, or the Family Life Centre in Markham, Mario Bartoletti director, 294-2371.

Clairville Dam Tour Sunday Afternoon
 Clairville Dam, one of Metro's major flood control projects, holds open house Sunday, from 1:00-4:30 pm.
 If you've wondered how flood gates operate and what role a dam plays in a large scale flood control and water conservation program, it's an ideal time to find out.
 As well as educational, this family outing gives visitors a first-hand look at a modern dam in operation.
 Staff from Metro Conservation Authority will conduct half-hour tours of the dam facilities. Highlights of the tour will be a visit to the control room and a walk through the inspection tunnel that runs beneath the 1,500 foot long dam.
 A model of the Clairville project will be on display with an overview of the dam and reservoir and its related facilities.
 There is free parking for visitors' cars at the dam site. Clairville Dam is located on Indian Line, 1 1/2 miles south of the Village of Clairville at Highway 50 and Steeles Avenue.

In The Spotlight

There are six members on the gift shop committee, four buyers, a treasurer, and a captain, plus, of course, the numerous volunteers who work behind the counter. A "gift cart" is also taken around to the patients in their rooms which gives them a chance to buy whatever they please.
 In the areas surrounding Richmond Hill there are 10 auxiliary branches, each with its own executive and independent meetings. The main executive positions are voted on by all members, and office terms are two years in length.
 Another very important aspect of the auxiliary is the junior branch. These girls also have their own very capable and self-sufficient executive which acts under the supervision of a convener, assistant-convener and a number of captains. The girls themselves have come to be known as "Candy-stripers" due to their red and white striped uniforms, but "we're moving away from that name to just junior auxiliary." This is partly due to the fact that the name might deter any young man from joining. At present there is one male member.
 The junior auxiliary members generally aid the hospital staff in whatever ways they can. Last year, in order to raise money they held a fashion show, and this year organized a reception following the Curtain Club production of "Butterflies Are Free."

The Ina Pocknell Scholarship is presented each year to an outstanding junior member who plans to continue hospital studies at the end of each year. A second scholarship has been established this year which will only be awarded when the individual requirements are met.
 The York Central Hospital Auxiliary is composed of women who not only do a lot for their hospital by raising funds and lessening the workload of the trained staff, they create a warm, friendly atmosphere by acting, as they put it, as official "ambassadors of good will."

Charge Metro Motorists $5 Leaving City On Weekend?

If Metro Toronto is going to be tough on Region of York motorists who shouldn't be in the Region of York, it's time the motorist got some sympathy for a change instead of it always going to the pedestrian.
 "I don't think it's right that a pedestrian suddenly turns into a villain as soon as he steps into a car. He is fined, taxed and harassed simply because he happens to drive a car. Why should he have to pay exorbitant parking ticket fines in Toronto?"
 Councillor Kay thought it was time the province generated some sympathy for those residents living north of Metro.
 Councillor Art Bonner thought that the region should be compensated in some way due to the heavy traffic using "our roads from Metro Toronto."

AURORA—Town council has authorized preparation of a bylaw to regulate the use of trailers. The proposal is to prohibit "the use of any trailer for the living, sleeping or eating accommodation of persons within the municipality", but Councillor Pete Miller felt there should be exceptions to permit residents to sleep in a trailer in the backyard during hot summer weather.
 "The money raised could be used to help finance the road construction and recreation facilities needed to accommodate Metro weekenders."
 Mr. Reesor's sense of outraged justice was raised with proposals being considered by Metro Toronto Council "for severe curtailment of automobile access to the downtown Toronto area."
 "I sympathize with the traffic congestion problems and realize that the proposed parking policy is really a very small part of the social issues which need to be resolved."
 "However, traffic congestion works both ways. Those of us who live outside Metro Toronto are faced with very heavy traffic problems caused by those who wish to flee from the city on weekends."

COOKBOOK '73

Since "The Liberal" published its "Cookbook '73" September 27 there have been many calls from people who are not regular subscribers but would like to have a copy of the book.
 Also, many of our regular readers have called to see if they can get additional copies for friends or relatives outside of our distribution area.
 For these people, we have good news. We arranged to have additional copies run off the press to meet the demand. The cookbook contains over 200 recipes sent in by readers from as far distant as Vancouver and Quebec, as well as helpful hints for the home cook.
 Copies for sale at the office, 63 Yonge Street South, Richmond Hill, at 35¢ per copy, are the same as those distributed in the September 27 edition of "The Liberal". It is tabloid size printed on newsprint stock, the same as the rest of the paper, but half as big.
 It is not a hard-cover book with glossy pages lavishly illustrated with color shots of mouthwatering delicacies, but it does have a wide range of interesting recipes, economical and gourmet, some simple, some very involved, but for the price, where could you find a better buy? Get your copy now, while they last.

York County School Enrolments Up Despite Overall Ontario Reduction

In his annual report to the Legislature last month, Education Minister Thomas Wells said registration in Ontario schools in the school year 1971-72 was "well below the expected increase".
 The decline, he said, was most pronounced at the secondary level, particularly in grades 12 and 13.
 This has not been the case in York Region, however. A report on enrolment presented to York County Board of Education at a meeting October 22 showed increases at all levels in 1971, 1972 and 1973.
 Mr. Wells reported that in 1972 grade 12 enrolment dropped by 1,100 students to about 100,600 and grade 13 enrolment was down by about 1,000 leaving a total of 50,700 across the province.
 The York County board reports an overall increase of 5.3 percent annually from 1971 to 1972. And with new subdivisions and developments underway or approved for construction, a 5.3 percent annual increase is anticipated for the years 1973 to 1976.
 Board planners, however, expect that there will be a decline in enrolments at the elementary level (kindergarten to grade 8) and an increase in grades 9 to 13.
 Total enrolment for secondary schools in York was 14,143 in 1971; 14,375 in 1972 and 14,839 this year. This includes Don Head Secondary School in Richmond Hill which offers three year courses for students who are not academically inclined and are receiving job-oriented training.
 Don Head had an enrolment of 401 in 1971; 538 in 1972 and 553 in 1973.
 In all other secondary schools enrolment in 1971 was 3,866 in grade 8; 3,410 in grade 10; 2,825 in grade 11; 2,275 in grade 12 and 1,093 in grade 13.
 In 1972 it was 4,154 in grade 9; 3,424 in grade 10; 2,861 in grade 11; 2,281 in grade 12 and 1,090 in grade 13.
 And this year all grades have shown an increase. In grade 9 there are 4,169 students; in grade 10, 3,559; in grade 11, 2,968; in grade 12, 2,388 and in grade 13, 1,144.
