

170th Anniversary At Thornhill United

Week's Events Mark Religious Occasion

By MARGARET GOVAN North Thornhill Correspondent

In a Church Anniversary, what do we aim to do? To remind people of the glorious heritage into which we enter as members of the Christian Church...

ton Peacock, who has been responsible for the collecting of historical facts, as well as the publicity of the anniversary to a great extent, discovered the second section of an article by David James written in 1921. To quote: "While the women who were called to preside over the parsonage appear to be few, yet we have a host in that maiden lady known as Holy Ann or an Irish Saint. If you have not read of her life, do so, though not one quarter of the incidents in her life, are recorded. Her faith provided for others' welfare. Human agencies counted her dull, yet she was quick to learn from her Heavenly Father. The story of her life has been translated into several languages. Her words, works, and companionship were unexcelled under God's blessing through the years of her association among us. Often when people recounted their trials and losses to her, she became an intercessor on their behalf and the difficulties were removed. Read the story as told by one of her friends." (An Irish Saint by Helen Bingham; there is a copy in the Thornhill Library.)

There was also the eloquent and passionate address of the Past Moderator of the United Church, Dr. A. B. B. Moore, and in the final hour, there was the soul stirring appeal to youth in the contribution of the "Chancellors" some 70 young persons from Weston United Church, at a special evening service on the second Sunday.

MEMORIAL CROSS To some the central point of the anniversary was the dedication of the Memorial Cross to Ann Preston—"Holy Ann" as she was nicknamed first in derision and then with deep affection. Very recently the Reverend Ecker-

In time this became the Ladies' Aid Society and now is the United Church Women. The UCW made important contributions to the success of the anniversary. Beginning with the first service at the Old Cemetery, women laid floral tributes on the graves, and the all-women choir led the singing in the open air.

The Fashion Show and the Box Social were both the efforts of the women. Then the Church Choir would be poverty stricken without its women members. With them there is a richness in song and music which means so much to special events in the life of the church in worship and praise.

HISTORICAL DISPLAY To some the eye appeal of the historic display was the emphasis of the anniversary. It ranged all the way from 115-year-old Loving Cups of the old Methodist Church to the very fine pictures of the 150th anniversary when some 1,500 people met in a farm field on Highway 7, or to this presentation in pictures of the Missionary Work today in India, by Thornhill's own missionary, Reverend Muriel Stephenson. When a church conducts an anniversary it may be inclined to forget the Christian fellowship within the community of many kindred churches. Thornhill can and does have a real fellowship within all the churches. Their support of prayer and attendance at special occasions, is rich and warm and welcome.

LONG ANGLICAN HISTORY Holy Trinity, the Anglican Church, dates back to 1830, and so the building was there before the Methodist Church by several years. Other churches too go back to the early eighteenth century. Together they present Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord and the Old, Old Story to an ever increasing new, new community. For this opportunity the churches are grateful to the Heavenly Father and seek His blessings on their continued acts of worship and service in this community.

140-Year Old Home Move Cost $30,000 Off Thornhill Farm

A 140-year-old farm home was scheduled to be demolished but was moved to a new site. The 10-room, three-storey house, weighing 100 tons, had been the home of Jack Harman until he sold his 200-acre farm at Steeles and Woodbine Avenues to Wycliffe Developments. It was then purchased by John Bosworth of Newmarket for a family home on his 1,200-acre farm.

It was moved on a float the 23 miles by housemover Russel Harrison of Newmarket. Three trucks provided the motive power, along Woodbine Avenue (Don Mills Road).

HIT TRAFFIC LIGHT York Regional Council turned this regional road over to the house-moving operation from midnight until 6 am October 25 and it proceeded at about five miles an hour with only one mishap, when the house collided with a traffic light at the first corner.

The move cost $30,000 of which $22,000 went to Ontario Hydro and Bell Canada which had removed almost 250 overhead power and telephone lines.

of the E. J. Sand Home and School Association will be held Tuesday at 8 pm at the school. The agenda will include filling vacant executive posts.

The E. J. Sand Soccer League has gone into play-offs. Teams qualifying are the Tornados, who finished in first place and who will meet the third place Metros in series "A" and second place Cosmos who will oppose fourth place Apollos in series "B". These are best of three series.

Grades 4, 5 and 6 of this school enjoyed the first of two noon time concerts at Seneca College October 18. The second is to be held November 15.

The following are comments from a couple of the students who attended the first performance:

"The thing I liked best was the group Suncuna and the way they blended the sounds into each other on their steel drums. It sounded like native drums being beaten. They played music that was sort of rock and roll and native." - Ronald Burkhardt.

"I liked the Calypso group. Their songs were full of movement and I especially liked it at the end when every body was allowed to go down and dance when they played Everybody Dance. Their instruments, too. Of them all, I liked the steel drum best. There was also a string quartet who played beautiful music by Somers, Mozart and Beethoven. Some of it was soft, some in minor key. If we could go there again I would really like it." - Leigh Melinsyn.

Cubs & Scouts The 8th Thornhill Cubs "B" Pack recently visited the 41 Division Police Station in Scarborough. The 40 boys, parents and leaders, including Cubmaster Ralph Grieves enjoyed the outing immensely.

On another day they also enjoyed a tour of the Town of Markham Fire Hall on John Street.
