

Ran Amok On Smoke Or Drink 2 Jailed 6 Months For Damage

Two youthful janitors who went on a spree of destruction while wild with alcohol or marijuana September 26 at a Markham golf club were jailed six months November 2 when they pleaded guilty to wilful damage charges in Richmond Hill Provincial Court before Judge Claire Morrison.

The two were Jeffery Siggins, 18, of 850 Huntingwood Drive, Agincourt and Anthony Brennan, 18, of 2743 Victoria Park, Scarborough. Both had criminal records and both had been in prison before, Crown Attorney Kingsley Wijesinha told the court.

YRP Robert McCausland testified the two were either drinking or smoking when they caused $1,469 damage at York Downs Country Club. Club official Norm Smith said golf carts were rolled and crashed, 12 carts and a $175 battery charger being damaged.

WAITED IN JAIL
Defense Attorney Dave Hodgson asked the court for consideration of the fact Brennan spent a month in Don Jail awaiting trial and also faces a breach of probation charge since he got into trouble again while on probation.

Defense Attorney Dave Fraser, QC, asked the court to consider ordering a presentence report before sentencing Siggins.

But Judge Morrison decided the pair didn't deserve any further consideration and sent them off to reformatory. He said it would be futile to make any order for restitution and noted the civil courts are open to the victim for an action.

PUBLIC PROTECTION
The provincial judge said the primary concern of the court is to deter and prevent the kind of conduct the two youths had exhibited, as well as to protect the public.

Sentenced to three months definite and six months indeterminate in reformatory was Martin Needham, 19, of 2 Bayview Avenue, Oak Ridges.

attorney agreed to accept a guilty plea on the lesser charge of theft.

NO SPECIAL SENTENCE
Defense Attorney Al Binington asked the court for an intermittent jail sentence, pointing out Needham's previous convictions were in 1968 and 1970 and the youth appeared to have made some attempt to rehabilitate himself.

However, Provincial Judge Morrison said he'd never granted an intermittent sentence and never will. He said they're too cumbersome for the Justice Department.

A Markham youth had threatened to beat up his mother and burn down any house over his family if forced to leave, faced the court on a charge of threatening.

YEAR'S PEACE BOND
Brian Cupperthwaite, 18, of Sherwood Forest Drive was placed on a one year peace bond with a $1,000 surety to keep the peace furnished by a friend Thomas Young of Markham.

The judge warned Cupperthwaite to only make arrangements to get his personal possessions and have nothing to do with his mother and home unless at the wish of his mother, or he would face a possible 12 month reformatory sentence.

Leaving the scene of a personal injury and damage accident cost one driver less than another who stayed around and failed a breathalyzer test. Other drivers who agreed to breathalyzer tests were fined more heavily than a driver who refused, such are the whims of justice.

William Madill, 38, of 448 Balkan Road, Richmond Hill, a married North York school caretaker with three children, was fined $100 or 10 days. He admitted leaving the scene of a personal injury and over $200 damage accident August 9 in Vaughan Town without reporting to police.

Crown Attorney Wijesinha

am in Newmarket, the court was told.

Failing a breathalyzer test October 20 at Richmond Hill cost Brian Jones, 17, of 79 Bond Avenue, Oak Ridges a fine of $120 or 12 days in jail, with 15 days to pay. He was also ordered not to drive in Canada for six months.

DAMAGE CRASH
Jones' 7:30 pm breath test reading was 1.20 and there was a minor property damage accident involved in the charge, the court was told.

Phillip Milanowski, 18, of Elgin Mills Road, Richmond Hill was fined $200 or 20 days in jail with two weeks to pay for driving July 30 while disqualified. He was ordered not to drive in Canada for nine months and warned a further offense would probably mean a jail sentence.

ROUTINE CHECK
Milanowski was stopped at 9:25 pm July 30 in Richmond Hill in a routine check and it was found he'd lost his license on a dangerous driving conviction April 30, the court was told.

Stephen Ascott, 18, of 178 Sussex Avenue, Richmond Hill was fined $200 or 20 days for driving while disqualified. He was ordered not to drive in Canada for six months.

DEMERIT POINTS
Ascott admitted he'd lost his license on demerit points. He was caught in a routine police check October 20 in Richmond Hill.

Cameron Irving, 35, of Aurora admitted failing a breathalyzer test October 28 at Richmond Hill and was fined $180 or 18 days jail with two weeks to pay. His test reading was 1.80, the court was told.

Robert Adams, 17, of Rouge Street, Markham admitted knowingly having a stolen rear wheel on his 10-speed bicycle, having bought it for $5. He was fined 50 or five days jail, given two weeks to pay, and put on probation for a year.

FINDS STOLEN WHEEL
The court was told the rightful owner of the bicycle wheel, Sandy Harcourt found it on Adams' bicycle in front of the Markham Pharmacy and called police.
