

Two Lots
Bring $62,000

Mario Catenaro of Richmond Hill was the successful tenderer for the two lots on Bedford Park Avenue offered for sale last month by the York County Roman Catholic School Board. Tenders ranged from $10,000 to $31,000 per lot, according to the board's Administrator Percy Laframboise.

Catenaro will be paying $62,000 for the two lots. The board ratified this decision at its December 4 meeting.

The residential lots each have a frontage of 60 feet and both are 149 feet in depth. They were purchased (as well as the Dunlop property fronting on Dufferin Street) as a school site by the Richmond Hill Roman Catholic School Board some years ago. With a county system being introduced five years ago, the property was found to be no longer needed for this purpose and the present board decided to offer it for sale.

Sir Robert Watson-Watts Dies

Inventor Of Radar Resided Over 10 Years In Thornhill

A world famous former resident of John Street and Church Lane in Thornhill died Wednesday of last week. He was Sir Robert Watson-Watt, 81, inventor of radar, the device credited more than any other for Allied success in World War II.

His second wife was the former Mrs. Jean Drew of Thornhill who died about nine years ago. They resided more than 10 years in Thornhill before moving to Sterling Forest New York, where Watson-Watt was associated with several companies as a scientific advisor to an encyclopedia publisher at Santa Barbara, California, where they also maintained a home. He had many friends and acquaintances in this area and was much involved in community affairs while a local resident. Their later home on Church Lane, Cranberry House, was constructed of 150-year-old Quebec Pine and was a Canadian show-place opened once a year for charity.

KNIGHTED IN 1942
Watson-Watt was knighted

in 1942 by King George VI for the invention of radar. In 1946 he received the Medal For Honor from the United States government, the highest U.S. award for a non-citizen civilian. Sir Robert once received a speeding ticket when caught in a radar trap on Highway 401 near Port Hope while on the way with his wife to be guest speaker at Queen's University. He casually mentioned the incident during his speech, a new story picked up by every news service in the world.

The son of an impoverished Scottish carpenter, he discovered radar while working on the idea of a death ray in 1934. He died after a lengthy illness in a nursing home at Inverness, Scotland.

Born in Brechin, Scotland, he was considered one of the greatest scientific brains of World War II. Many colleagues gave him credit for inventing the foremost weapon in the Battle of Britain.

IN BUSINESS HERE
After the war he settled here, establishing scientific companies in Montreal and business interests in Toronto. He was married three times. After the death of Jean Drew in 1964 he returned to Britain where he married Air Chief Commandant Dame Katherine Forbes in 1966.
