Region Council Endorses Family Life Centre Cost Sharing Plan

York Regional Council last week endorsed in principle a recommendation of its health and social services committee, which would see it enter into an agreement with the provincial government to finance family life centres. Also the centre staffs would become employees of the region.

The recommendation followed a letter from Rene Brunelle, minister of community and social services, in which he outlined two ways in which costs could be shared between the municipality and the province.

He said the first approach would be as a service to people in need, or likely to become in need, where the service is provided by the municipality itself.

MUNICIPAL EMPLOYEES
Under this option the staff of the centres would become employees of the municipality, the letter said. The province would then have to approve their salaries.

Mr. Brunelle said the definition of people in need would be negotiated with the region. The criterion involved incomes falling within the lowest one-third of the income scale in the community.

He said the alternative was for the region to buy services from the centres for needy people. These purchases would require prior approval of the ministry.

"It is my understanding that you will pursue the first alternative. We will be pleased to assist you in arriving at suitable cost-sharing agreements," the minister said.

From The Police Blotter
Thornhill Housewife Awakens And Youthful Burglar Flees

A Thornhill woman surprised a would-be burglar when he thought he had the house to himself last week.

The lumber was valued at $430.

York Police made a quick arrest after an alarm was triggered at the Farmer's Market in Woodbridge, about 4 am January 3.

Police spotted three men in the area almost immediately afterwards and arrested them for breaking and entering.

Police said the men had been involved earlier in a Metro break-in. They recovered $79 in cash, plus a quantity of silverware.

Arrested were Joseph Missen, 19, of Mississauga; and Robert Harniman, 19, and Vernon Parker, 24, both of Rexdale.

Arthur Williams, 15 Wildrose Crescent, Thornhill, reported the theft of two rifles, a TV set and various household articles valued at $525 from his home in a break-in January 2.

Wayne Cole, 213 Avenue Road, Richmond Hill, reported the loss of $930 worth of jewelry and other articles in a break-in at his home January 29.

R. Hill Needs More Churches Planning Chairman Believes

"I'm in favor of encouraging any church building in Richmond Hill regardless of denomination," stated Richmond Hill Council's Planning Committee Chairman David Stephenson at the committee's January 23 meeting. He was commenting on an application for a site plan agreement by the Church of the Latter Day Saints for construction of a church building on the north side of Briggs Avenue. This street runs eastward from Bayview Avenue about three-quarters of a mile, about the same distance north of Highway 7.

"You will have my support. I really can't see why anyone would have any objection to having a church in Richmond Hill. What we need are more churches!"

PERMITTED USE
Planning Director Hesse Rimon told the committee that the present zoning (Markham Township) is residential and permits this use in this location. The site plan agreement will provide for design, elevation and placing of the building on the lot as well as parking and landscaping requirements, he explained.

He also noted that a petition signed by 24 people, all property owners and residents on Briggs Avenue, had been submitted a year ago in opposition to the proposed building, when the first inquiries were made of the planning department. Copies of the petition were provided for members of the community and it was read aloud.

The objection was based on the fact that Briggs is a dead end street and not assumed, there are no sidewalks and increased traffic would be dangerous to pedestrians forced to use the road surface. The residential quality of the street would be destroyed, it was claimed, the value of property decreased by the increased traffic, and the road surface will not take the increased traffic. It also demanded a public hearing on the merits of erecting a church on this property.

"If the committee approves I will prepare a site plan agreement and arrange a meeting with the ratepayers of the area. Hopefully we can arrive at an understanding with them," said the planning director.

PRESENTS PLANS
David Johnston presented the plans for the church building, with a chapel designed to accommodate 250 people ultimately (150 at first) and a Christian Education wing with eight or nine classrooms, a total immersion baptistry and offices for the clerk and bishop.

It will be of brick construction in the medium brown range, he said, contain 7,000 square feet and be 35 feet high at the highest point with a 40-foot spire. All roofs will be pitched. The lot is 200 by 400 feet. The estimated price last year was in the $300,000 range.

Questioned by committee members, Mr. Johnston estimated that Briggs Avenue is about three-quarters of a mile in length and that the church property purchased in 1965 is located on the north side about 1,300 feet from Bayview. He also reported a large amount of undeveloped land and that about half the homes would lie to the east. The church would be used primarily for Sunday programs with Wednesday evening meetings also.

INDUSTRIAL AREA EAST
The planning director pointed out that the area to the east of Briggs Avenue is being considered for industrial development. "It is quite unlikely that Briggs Avenue will be continued to Leslie. We will be attempting to create open space to separate the present residential development from the future industrial development," he said. Regional Councillor Lois Hancey pointed out that Briggs Avenue was assumed by Richmond Hill about a year ago.
