Did any of you notice the attractive display of handicrafts in the public library on Pearson Avenue? These are the results of the many interesting classes offered by the YWCA during the winter. Spring classes are now being planned, so be sure to drop into the "Y" office at 25 Yonge Street North to inquire about future programs.

In the meantime the Yoga and TAB groups continue to function in this area, with new members every week in the library Wednesdays 10:30 to 11:30 am and Mondays 9:30 to 11:30 at Charles Howitt School (adjoining the library). This coming Monday the group will be doing macramé after the usual exercises. Newcomers welcome.

Guide Lines
It was a busy meeting last week at Charles Howitt Library, where the Rangers gather every first and third Wednesday of the month. To this meeting they invited the 2nd Richvale Guide Company to share with them in the spirit of Thinking Day — the joint birthday of Lord and Lady Baden-Powell, founders of Scouting and Guiding.

To celebrate the occasion, the Rangers have shown the "Perpetual Spring", a color film made in England to mark the Diamond Jubilee, taking a brief glance at the past, then into the present and future of Guiding. Its emphasis was placed on the Promise and its implementation in many varied and exciting activities and forms of service to the community. After the film, the Guides invited the Rangers to share in their refreshments and campfire. The spirit of togetherness and sisterhood prevailed the whole evening.

A few weeks earlier the Rangers took part in an orienteering hike, which took them four miles to a campground. There they cooked lunch over an open fire, and spent the rest of the afternoon tobogganing and snow-shoeing across the frozen lake. It was one of their last winter activities.

The winter season closed for them with a trip to the Winter Carnival at Quebec City, last week, where with three other Ranger companies from the York South Division, they spent four days taking part in all the exciting happenings of the carnival. They were billeted at the YWCA (equipped with both a sauna and a swimming pool) and took their meals at different city restaurants sampling "la cuisine Quebecoise" — onion soup, crepes suzette, even frogs' legs — whenever they could. The ice palace and the wonderful ice sculptures were their favorite meeting place, but they also took a guided tour to Chateau Frontenac, Montmorency Falls, Ste. Anne de Beaupre and Laval University. They report a really enjoyable time in spite of the 18 degrees below weather.

A baby sitting service is provided to all residents requiring it in Richvale and the BAIF area by the Rangers and Guides. Please contact Gail Shearer at 889-3778.

First consideration is being given to grade 12 and 13 students who may contact their own teachers at 884-0161, asking for Gwyn Jones, who will refer them as quickly as possible to the teachers concerned. They have been preparing an alternative program to class teaching which has been interrupted by their walkout.
