Patrol: 5th Richmond Hill Scout John Wustefeld (helper); Fred Cann of 88 Elgin Street, Thornhill, long time district executive member and show judge; Outpost Patrol Scouter Bob Miller, 69 Birch Avenue, Richvale, of 5th Richmond Hill Group; plus two other members of 5th Richmond Hill, Venturer Ron Sanderson (helper); and Venturer Walter Wustefeld (helper). Missing is Patrol Assistant Scouter Mrs. Marg Barentin.

343 Browndale Crescent, camping chairman for 5th Richmond Hill. Terence had three entries and won three ribbons, a first, a second and a third.

900 Entries In York Summit Scout, Cub Hobby Show

Mrs. Betty Peterson. A highlight of this year's show was the great enthusiasm and keen participation shown by newly-organized 5th Richmond Hill Outpost, formed by patients of the Villa Private Hospital, Bathurst Street. Their Cub Pack, Scout Troop and Venturer Company won a total of 21 ribbons.

Trophies for the show are awarded on a point system. This is based on the average number of points per member of each troop, pack or company. This is so the small outfits have the same chance as the large ones in the competition, says Show Committee Chairman McGuffin.

SOAP CARVINGS

For him the only real material benefit out of all the work, he says, is that at the end of the show there are usually 25 or 30 entries left that the boys haven't bothered to gather up and take home. Usually some of these are soap carvings. If they aren't picked up after six months or so, the McGuffin family gets the soap to use. "I think we've just about run out of last year's soap supply," said McGuffin with a grin, as he talked of his years of work promoting the Scout and Cub Hobby Show.

THORNHILL JUDGES

Most of the judges this year were from Thornhill, including Mrs. Marni Twidale of 102 Westwood Lane, Mrs. Joan Suter of 88 Westwood Lane, Mrs. Betty Smith of 61 Weeping Willow Lane, Mrs. Robert Smillie of 73 Westwood Lane, Casey Rozyccki of 90 Morgan Avenue, Mrs. June Qua of 27 Claridge Drive, Mrs. Maryanne Pople of 251 Bayview Fairways Drive, Peter Peterson of 18 Westwood Lane, Mrs. Betty Nettleton of 16 Bryson Drive, Miss Sarah Newman and Mrs. Patricia Newman of 9174 Yonge Street, Mrs. Joan Morton of 11 Bryson Drive, Mrs. Patricia McLeod of 21 Claridge Drive, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Madill at 111 Inverloch

Boulevard, Mrs. Betty Lomax of 41 Wild Cherry Lane, Mrs. Irmhild Hoffmann of 14 Bryson Drive, Mrs. Joan Gregorash of 177 Duncan Road, Mrs. and Brian Eggleston of 20 Dryson Drive, Fred Cann of 88 Elgin Street, Mrs. Judy Cooke of 34 Laureleaf Road, Les Buckler of 6 Riverside Boulevard, Reginald Bowyer of 18 Denham Drive and Michael Black of 27 Helen Avenue.

Judges from Richmond Hill were Mrs. Joan Robertson of 185 Church Street and George Seretis of 45 Trayborn Drive. The one judge from Markham was Ken Collins of 8 Drakefield Road.

Nine hundred entries were recorded in the 14th annual Boy Scout Hobby Show for York Summit-Lakeland District at Bayview Secondary School February 23. These came from five Venturer companies, 18 Scout troops and 34 Cub packs from Oak Ridges, Richmond Hill, Thornhill, Unionville and Markham. A panel of judges awarded 143 first prize ribbons, 140 second prize, 132 third prizes and 163 merit awards.

The Tara Lynn Bullen Memorial Award to the Cub pack with the highest average points per boy was won by 1st Jefferson, which won the same award last year. 1st Oak Ridges Cub Pack came second and the 1st Thornhill ("C") Pack was third.

The Tara Lynn Bullen Memorial Award to the Scout troop with the highest average points per boy was won by 2nd Richmond Hill, with 1st Jefferson in second place carpentry, shell work, photography and metal work products.

SOME GOOD COOKS

Scouts and Cubs are top cooks too. They displayed mouth-watering cakes, cookies, muffins, pies, buns and bread. Papier mache, swizzle sticks, matches and toothpicks were used as materials for models, with pioneer forts popular. Others favored puppets, toy making and construction set projects. In painting and drawing there was a pains-taking and eye catching effort in pastels featuring a nude drinking tea, with urn. There also were plenty of U.S. cartoon characters and drawings of U.S. historical characters, but none of Canadian heroes from history.

5th Richmond Hill Outpost Patrol for handicapped Scouts entered stamp, coin and shell collections this year, plus cake and art items. Another new exhibitor was 6th Mark-
