Mrs. Brian Cornwall and son Christopher of Laverock Avenue returned last weekend from a three-week motor trip to Western Canada. They took the Trans-Canada Highway to Hope, BC, then the Fraser Valley Highway to Vancouver where they spent a few days with Mrs. Cornwall's older son, Bruce, before going across to Vancouver Island and Victoria. They had "tea at the Empress", a delightful tradition unchanged in over 50 years, before heading along the "incredible" highway cut through the mountains to Long Beach on the Pacific Coast.

Heading east again, the Cornwall's took the Yellowhead Highway, stopping at Kamloops and travelling down through the Okanagan Valley to Penticton, admiring the beauties of the mountains and lakes all the way. There was a stop-over at Jasper National Park and Jasper Lodge, then on to Edmonton, Saskatoon and Winnipeg as Mrs. Cornwall combined business with pleasure, visiting business associates along the way.

Despite the beauties of the West, one should not short-change Northern Ontario, says Mrs. Cornwall, the rugged magnificence of the landscape north of Lake Superior.
The only way to see Canada is to drive, she declares. With two drivers and overnight stops you see every mile along the way, and they found that native wildlife is very much alive and well and thriving in our National Parks. They saw bears and deer, elk, mounatsh sheep and goats, and moose as well as dozens of other species on their travels.

Other marvels were the tremendous Douglas firs of British Columbia. One, they were told, was a sapling in the year 800 AD. And while the mountain highways are an engineering marvel, the "shaving" of the mountains on Vancouver Island by loggers Mrs. Cornwall described as an "ecological disaster".

Some minds might boggle at the prospect of driving close to 7,000 miles in three weeks, but the Cornwalls highly recommend the Trans-Canada trip. It is the sort of trip every Canadian should aim for — at least once.

Although the weather was cool the young people performed with enthusiasm, then enjoyed a hearty meal at the local "Ponderosa". Breakfast was served at the school by the home economics teacher and four helpers.
The visitors were then treated to a tour of the "Big Nickel" before boarding the bus for home. All in all, it was a very successful trip.

Married In Gravenhurst Hill Man Living In Barrie

Beverly Diane Brockbank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brockbank of Gravenhurst, became the bride of Richard James Mortimer, son of Mrs. Ruth Mortimore and the late Richard Mortimore of Richmond Hill in a lovely afternoon ceremony May 4 in Knox Presbyterian Church, Gravenhurst.

The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums, red roses and gladioli. Rev. James Thomas officiated, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Mary McNiece at the organ. Selections were Wagner's "Wedding March" and Beethoven's "Hymn of Joy".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of peau-de-soie with a delicate lace overlay which cascaded into a long train caught in a bustle effect with a single rose and with cathedral style lace sleeves.

Her veil and headdress were fashioned of billowing tulle with tulle buds and trim of tiny seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Colleen Moore was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Carol Schulz, a sister of the bride, and Mrs. Judy Leonard, a sister of the groom. The attendants were dressed in long crepe gowns of spring shades of yellow, green and peach. They wore white picture hats with floral bands to match their dresses and carried baskets of white chrysanthemums and peach carnations.

The best man was Jack McLean of Ottawa and the ushers were Bruce Schulz and Dennis Leonard.

The reception was held at the Royal Canadian Legion in Gravenhurst. The bride's mother received wearing a floor length ensemble of soft spring green and white with
