three hours a day between games.

"Some people tell me I throw too much and might hurt my arm. I don't think so. There are some good ball people who tell me that it won't hurt me at all. I had trouble at the beginning of the season with a sore back. Not from pitching. I twisted it bowling. It's coming around now.

LIKE MOTHER

How did Al become a pitcher? "When I was about seven I was playing minor ball in Aurora. I had a good arm and played in the infield. Whenever we'd get in trouble they'd bring me in to hurl. I had a good fastball that surprised the batters. Then they'd take me out.

"One day one of the fellows jokingly said I'd never make a pitcher. That's when I decided to be one.'

Another reason might be something like hereditary. Al's mother, Miriam, always wanted to be a pitcher and maybe, just maybe, this rubbed off on Al's psyche.

Al is also a fine hockey star and has a roomful of trophies for both that sport and softball. His favorite sport? "I guess it's hockey in the winter, softball in the summer." Good answer. Who would Al like to play for in senior ball?

Simple: "I'll go with the team that has the worst pitching. I like to play ball. There's no point in sitting on the bench. Right. After all there's nothing to do sitting on the bench and Al likes to play ball because he wants "something to do." One final note on Al who is a grade 12 student at King City Secondary School. For the past two seasons with the Oak Ridges hockey Midgets he's won a trophy which, along with ability, is given to a player displaying the most "gentlemanly" conduct while on ice. Which could sum up Al's attitude to sports.

Bantam W&P Beetles Win First Round PWSU Playdowns

The Bantam W&P Beetles opened the first points. Richmond Hill should round of their PWSU Playdowns against Applewood of Mississauga July 24 and came away winners by the scores of 10-3 and 15-8.
