given the church a hard time". It influences attitudes.

He continued to say the church is changing with society. "It is more people conscious" with more youth groups participating than ever before. "It tries to change — it tries to meet the needs of the people."

KNOCKING ON DOORS

With the opening of BAIF there were a lot of people knocking on doors, offering their services to the people. In the United States some years ago, a trend began where a number of churches went from door to door, literally preaching on the doorstep. The church now has more interest in people as people. A number of young men entering the ministry often take clinical training to better understand emotional, social, mental and moral problems.

The church's traditional role is to "maintain a standard of excellence and worth." Its task is to ameliorate the physical, social, mental, and moral problems to meet the needs of men to its best ability. The church has to continue to probe new ways of translating its message in society. "The church is challenged by a changing society."

FATHER SCHWALM

Father Schwalm viewed the problem of youth in relation to the church in this way. He noted that the impact of youth in society is far greater than previous times.

Youth is far too interested in the good opinion of its peers. Children are more aware of their appearance to others whereas in the past their awareness wouldn't have developed until the late teens. Television has created most of this new, abnormal attitude. "There is an absolute mania for women's fashions with everyone very much aware of their status in the community."

As a result of this mania, the church is indirectly affected by this situation — this alteration of values and priorities. The youth are merely reflecting their consciousness of the good opinion of others as they take for granted what their forebears worked for and valued. Home life is basically lacking with teenagers reflecting society's misshapen values. The value system which developed is now recognized as hollow via disenchantment with what has been achieved in the past.

Glamorous careers are held out to people which sidetrack them from what they should really be concerning themselves with.

The church is merely one of the many institutions and aspects of society that has been affected by this change in attitudes.

All four men were most co-operative and expressive in explaining their opinion of "what the problem is, if indeed there is one and where it exists."

The 20th Century has witnessed many drastic changes in lifestyle, social and moral attitudes and forms of expression. It appears that in this century, influential forces in society haven't been so much from individuals or groups, as has been the case in the past, but rather absurdly from machines such as the automobile, the airplane and the television. One main difference is — machines similar to the ones mentioned above are somewhat more difficult to control.

Car No Doghouse

Local Canine Control Officer James Ryan of Gormley says:

Good intentions can lead to killing with kindness. My master thinks taking me along in the car is being good to me. Perhaps he doesn't know that the temperature in a car parked in the sun can reach 200 degrees. We dogs can't take it. Please tell him there is no place like home. We prefer our familiar surroundings and there is less chance of being stolen, by dog dealers. We love and want to please our master, but we feel suffocating in an overheated car is just too much. We are the voice of the voiceless one's. Won't you speak out for us? Please:
