Questioning Meaford Suspect
About Missing Cheryl Hanson

York Regional Police detectives last week were in Meaford to question a suspect in an abduction, rape and attempted murder case, with regard to the disappearance of seven-year-old Cheryl Hanson of Oak Ridges.

Cheryl has been missing since May 31 when she left her Bloomington Sideroad home just after supper, to walk the mile down the road to her cousin's, where she was to spend the night.

Last month, an eight-year-old Meaford girl, was abducted from her home about 7:30 pm, and found later that night by police on the gravel shoulder of a side road.

She had been raped and one of her knee stockings had been tied around her neck. Police believe a heavy rainstorm may have loosened the stocking around her throat and saved her life.

Donald Everingham, 28, of Penhurst Avenue, Etobicoke, has been charged in the matter and was to appear in Meaford court this week.

York Deputy Police Chief Robert Hood said his department wanted to question Everingham, because of the similarities in the two cases. He said, however, the date for questioning was still to be arranged with the Meaford police.

Police Blotter Has Hitch-Hike
Assault, Carrier Boy "Con" Men

Police are also looking for a youth, who has been wrangling his way into private apartments in Richmond Hill and then robbing the owners.

Latest victim was Marion Andrews, 34 Centre Street West, who told police a youth came to her door August 26, about 2:30 pm and told her he was a Star carrier boy. He asked her for a drink of water and while she was in the kitchen getting it, he stole $32 from her purse.

She described the boy as between 14 and 16 years old, four feet, nine, sturdy build, black wavy hair, wearing blue T-shirt, dark jacket and blue jeans.

An 80-year-old Dunlop Street resident lost $10 to two youths earlier in the month, who gained entry to her apartment by also posing as carrier boys.

A 21-year-old Toronto woman told York Regional Police she was indecently assaulted by a man who gave her a lift.

She said the man had driven her from Bloor and Sherbourne Streets in Toronto, where she had been hitchhiking, to the Whitchurch - Durham townline, where he assaulted her.

She managed to escape from the car and contacted police, she said.

The woman described her assailant as white in his 30s, about five feet, six, thin, 145 pounds, with black, collar length hair, moustache and goatee, wearing light grey suit, blue-checked shirt.

She thought the car was a 1974 model, light blue body with dark blue vinyl top, with a circular ornament on front.

William Hughes, 22, of Prospect Street, Newmarket, drowned August 26 when he and two companions were thrown into the water after their boat capsized on Lake Simcoe.

Police said all attempts to save Hughes, who was unable to swim, failed. Rescued were Steven Sweldo and Dale Hills, also of Newmarket.

Gary McGuire, of Strathdee Drive, Weston, escaped injury when he had to crash land his plane near King Airport, August 29.

McGuire told police his left engine failed and he had to put down in a field, about half a mile from the airport.

Damage to the plane was estimated at $10,000.

An Oak Ridges woman faces a possible charge of common assault after she allegedly helped her 11-year-old son to a decision in a fight with another 11-year-old.

According to police the woman came upon the two boys fighting and allegedly held on to one of them while her son hit him.

Richmond Hill Police said they would not be laying a charge, but there was the possibility of a private one being laid.

Dominic Ciuffitta, 43, of 146 Weldrick Road, who was injured in an industrial accident while working at a construction site at 899 Major Mackenzie Drive, August 23, died in York Central Hospital, September 1 at 7:22 a.m.

Police said Ciuffitta, who suffered injuries to his right ankle and pelvis when a section of wall collapsed on him, died as a result of heart failure.

Three young men, who allegedly trespassed at the Glen Echo Nudist Camp in Kettleby, face charges to that effect after being apprehended by the owner and several others.

Edward Todorowsky, owner of the camp, told police the men made their appearance about 3 pm, August 26. When asked to leave, one of them threatened him with a crowbar, Todorowsky said.

Arrested were Allan Wilson, 21, Stephen Sherrard, 18, and Carmel Offord, 17, all of Newmarket.

The president of a Concord sporting goods company faces a charge of attempted fraud, following a robbery at his store last May.

Police said the man claimed a loss of $25,000 with his insurance company, following the theft. However, subsequent police work led to the arrest of two 16-year-old youths and the recovery of all the stolen property. The latter amounted to $600.

A subsequent proof of loss statement from an adjusting firm, showed $6,767.10 (wholesale) and $10,754.48 (retail), police said.

Arrested was Isaac Geist of Elise Terrace, Willowdale, president of Sportko Mart Sporting Goods Company, 329 Rayette Road.

Milton Savage, who lost four barns, 22 calves and one bull in a $100,000 fire at his Savagedale Dairy Farms on Bathurst Street in Vaughan two weeks ago, was a victim again last week.

However, the loss was not so great this time.

Taken from one of his milk houses were 20 gallons of milk valued at $20.

If you were expecting mail from Thornhill last week and didn't get it, the police may have the reason.

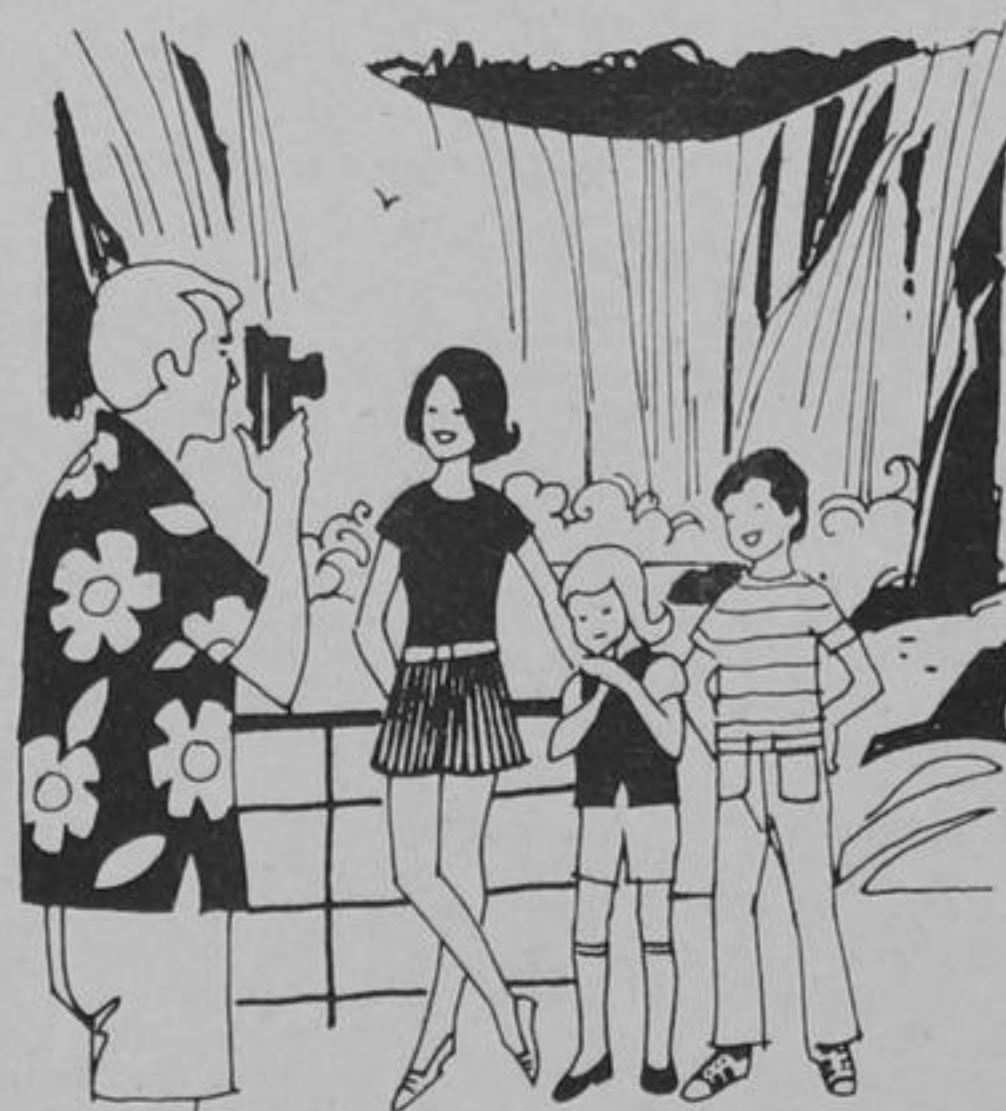

According to police, a mailbox was taken from its post at Grandview and Almond Avenue, August 28, to a ravine at Henderson and Proctor Avenues.

There it was opened and its contents were strewn about the ravine.

Tourism means jobs.

This is what Ontario is doing to keep the tourists coming.

Tourism is good for Ontario. Tourists take nothing away except happy memories, but they leave plenty of money behind them.

That's why your Ontario government seeks to attract visitors to our province, and asks for your help in making them feel welcome.

Already, tourism is Ontario's 3rd largest industry. It provides jobs for over 154,000 people, quite possibly including you and your neighbours. What's more, by 1978 Ontario expects to play host to enough visitors to create 85,000 additional jobs.

A worthwhile goal, certainly. But how can all this be accomplished? Here are some of the things that your Ontario government is doing:

We're making loans for the development of tourist facilities—through the Ontario Business Incentives Program, Ontario Development Corporation, Eastern Ontario Development Corporation, and Northern Ontario Development Corporation.

Ontario now has Tourism specialists in London (Eng.), Los Angeles, Frankfurt, and Tokyo.

We are working with airlines, railroads and bus companies to promote the pleasures of Ontario.

We are striving to bring conventions to smaller as well as larger communities, and to resort areas, especially during off seasons.

We are supporting your local Travel Associations, with ample money to promote local tourism.

We are promoting the attractions of our Province by advertising throughout Ontario and nearby U.S. states.

You can help us welcome visitors by greeting them in a friendly manner, and showing them genuine hospitality.

Encourage visitors to come back, and to bring their friends.

If we all do our share, we can increase the number of tourists who come here, and that's not only good for the tourists—it's good for Canada, good for Ontario, and good for you.
