Off To Cambridge

GUY SNAITH

Guy Snaith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Snaith, Rockport Crescent, left on September 7 for the United Kingdom where he expects to spend two years doing common doctoral work in French literature at Cambridge University...

Rev. and Mrs. John McTavish and family of St. Matthew's United had a pleasant and relaxing vacation in August at their cottage at Three Mile Lake near Burk's Falls.

The marriage of Raymond Maxwell Dunne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dunne, Neal Drive, to Mary Teresa Romagnoli, daughter of Mrs. Percy Romagnoli of Bradford and the late Percy Romagnoli, took place August 30 in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Newmarket.

Following their marriage, the young couple holidayed briefly in Midland, then took the Dunnes' boat on a trip through the Trent system. They are now living in Holland Marsh.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mrs. Dunne's brother, Edward Fenton, and Mrs. Fenton of Liverpool, England, and their son Neil Fenton, and Mrs. Fenton of Barrie. The Edward Fentons spent three weeks in Canada, visiting in the Hill and in Barrie.

Meals-On-Wheels, which has been in operation for three years in this community, is appealing for volunteers. The number of helpers has been drastically reduced of late, partly due to the number of women returning to full-time jobs.

Nourishing, tasty meals, prepared at York Central Hospital, are delivered by car Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week over the noon hour. One driver and one runner is required for each of two routes. Volunteers usually commit themselves for one delivery a week for three months at a time.

Volunteers and prospective volunteers will be meeting at 8 pm Monday in Richmond Hill United Church for a "get acquainted" dessert and coffee hour. An enthusiastic welcome will be extended to anyone who feels they could help in a volunteer capacity.

Co-convenors Betty Tyndal and Dorothy Turner head up a committee composed of Pat Hall, Lorna Giles, Aletha Smith, Jessie Hutchison and Joan Boyer for the event which will take place on September 28, from 1 to 3 p.m. in Wrixon Hall, rear of St. Mary's Anglican Church.

Donations of good used clothing, books, records, toys and white elephants will be received at the hall on Thursday and Friday prior to the sale. For more details call the church office, or 884-3869.

The importance of our hands was the subject of a paper read by Miss Mabel Mackie at the September 4 meeting of the Presbyterian WMS at the home of President Mrs. Margaret Styan. Mrs. Mary Armstrong also read a paper and Mrs. John Beresford conducted the worship service.

Treasurer Mrs. Mavis Gates and Supply Secretary Mrs. Russell Royington presented their reports. The next meeting will be held October 2 at the home of Mrs. Grace Stephenson.

Mrs. Grace Adams of Palm Springs, California, has been visiting this month with her sister, Mrs. Georgina Heard, Iredale Road. She arrived September 3 and then went on to New Brunswick to attend a family wedding, returning to Richmond Hill where she will be staying until September 20.

Mrs. Adams is looking forward to returning to the Hill in 1976 with her husband, Lieutenant Governor of Kansas, California when they will be attending the Kiwanis International in Toronto.

Royden Rabinowitch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rabinowitch, Kerrybrook Drive, was on the "hot seat" in a two part television program, "Crossfire" with Moderator Fred Davis recently. A well-known and controversial sculptor, Royden explained to his inquisitors that in order to appreciate modern art, one must understand the evolution of art and history in order to connect the art of the past to that of the present.

BRENDA WELLMAN WEDS FRANCIS EVANS

Local Bride's Home In Kingston

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on June 8 in The Peoples Church, Willowdale, when Brenda Mary Wellman, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wellman, Richmond Hill, became the wife of Francis Robert Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Evans of Kingston.

The matron of honour, Sandy Smithson, and bridesmaids Lynda Marshall, cousin of the bride, and Evelyn Evans, sister of the groom, were dressed alike in blue floral chiffon floor-length gowns, accented by long pink velvet ribbons and matching pink necklaces.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of "Praise My Soul the King of Heaven," the bride looked radiant, in a gown of white polyester chiffon over net. The bodice had long sheer sleeves and a round lace yolk embroidered with seed pearls and edged with a chiffon frill. Seed pearls and chantilly lace adorned the waist topped by a bouffant skirt, bordered with chantilly lace and a flounce at the bottom. The long flowing white veil and shoulder-length veil were joined by a headband of nylon daisies, stephanotis and rose buds centered with seed pearls and sparkling beads. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations and pink and white sweetheart roses.

The best man was Paul Smithson, Paul Wellman, brother of the bride and Philip Wellman, cousin of the bride, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the Victoria Square Community Centre. The bride's mother received the guests wearing a full-length rose peau de soie gown, fashioned on princess lines and trimmed with iridescent beads and seed pearls. Her corsage was of white roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother in a long blue polyester gown trimmed with pearls, with a matching jacket and corsage of pink roses.

As master of ceremonies, Harvey Marshall, uncle of the bride called on Elgin Mullin, also her uncle, to propose the bridal toast.

Guests attended from Toronto, Ottawa, Kingston, London, Thornbury, Markdale, Midland and surrounding area.

For going away, the bride chose a pink ensemble with white accessories. The happy couple spent their honeymoon in Niagara Falls and the Adirondacks and are making their home in Kingston.

Both Brenda and Bob are university graduates with their bachelor of arts degree in French - Brenda from York University and Bob from Carleton. Brenda is pursuing a career in teaching and is attending Queen's University in the faculty of education. Bob is a counsellor for the Department of Manpower and Immigration.
